CONFERENCE ENDS VISIT

United States Steel Corporation Officials Discuss Plans.

INSPECT PLANTS HERE

Busy Day Spent at Braddock, Homestead and McKeesport, Seeing Sites for New Work.

PERSONNEL OF THE PARTY

Officials of the United States Steel Corporation spent yesterday here on their semi-annual inspection trip. They visited the plants where proposed great expenditures are to be made during the coming year, and this morning they will see Ambridge, the new town down the Ohio river, where there is in course of erection the greatest plant of the American Bridge Company.

"The trip is to the locations where improvements are to be made," said President W. E. Corey at the Hotel Schenley last evening. "We have seen the Braddock, Homestead and McKeesport plants today. Tomorrow we shall spend a couple of hours at Ambridge and then go on to Cleveland. At Cleveland the American Steel & Wire Company is making extensive additions to the furnace capacity as well as to the finishing mills. From Cleveland we go to Chicago. We shall see there the plants of the Illinois Steel Company, and from Chicago go to the iron ore country. The details of our trip are being worked out gradually. We must be back in New York by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week."

One particular feature of the trip here was a conference lasting nearly three hours, last evening, at the Hotel Schenley. After the day's trip through the Homestead, Braddock and McKeesport mills the whole party of officials were called together at the hotel and for several hours talked over matters which for the present, at least, are kept secret. President Corey, First Vice President Gayley and others refused to tell the subjects under discussion. That they were important is certain.

The party reached Pittsburgh yesterday in their special train of four cars over the Pennsylvania railroad. Their first stop was on the siding of the Pennsylvania railroad at the Edgar Thomson steel works at Braddock at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The whole party went into the general offices near the siding and were there for about five minutes. The heads of departments had been called together to meet the visitors. The entire corps of officials then went over the site of the additions proposed to the big plant the changing of Braddock avenue was shown and blue prints exhibiting the proposed additions were given out. Each department of the steel mills, the foundries and the 11 blast furnaces were visited. The big furnaces "J" and "K" came in for particular attention, as they are the largest owned by the corporation.

From Braddock the party went to Homestead. Special preparations had been made for their reception there. Every part of the plant had been put in shipshape condition and every section of the yards not in use had been sodded so that the whole presented a most attractive appearance. There, as in Braddock, careful attention was paid to each of the departments.

Leaving Braddock the party went to McKeesport. About three hours were spent in the Tube City and in that time each member of the inspection party made himself familiar with the location of the plants which are to be erected there at a cost of almost $10,000,000.

It was about noon when the party reached McKeesport. Luncheon was served there. Manager George G. Crawford and Assistant Manager W. A. Cornelius joined the party and all walked over the "Bowery" district, which has been obtained for additions in the new extension plan. After a walk of about two hours, during which every part of the proposed plan was explained, the party again boarded their train and came to East Liberty station. Carriages were awaiting them there and they were driven to the Hotel Schenley.

The entire evening at the Schenley was

WAR TO BEGIN ON THE OCEAN

Fleets of Russia and Japan Will Likely Clash First.

JAPS PICKED TO WIN

From London the Situation in Far East Seems to Have Reached the Boiling Point.

EXCITEMENT AT YOKOHOMA

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Oct. 12. The opinion that war is at hand between Japan and Russia is well nigh universal. Even the Japanese minister, Baron Hayashi, who all along has rather ridiculed the idea of war, seems to have lost confidence in the peaceful settlement of the difficulties, and while he does not say he believes war is about to involve his country, he indicates that such a contingency is not impossible.

As usual there have been all sorts of reports current, some of them from sources usually reliable. It seems probable that Japan is either already mobilizing her army and placing it on a war footing or is taking the necessary preliminary steps to do it and that her war fleet is being put into fighting trim. Russia is said to be concentrating considerable bodies of troops within easy striking distance of Korea, so that on the first act of war on the part of Japan she will be in a position to act promptly and effectively.

Most interest centers in the movement of the fleets, for in all probability the first fighting of the two hostile nations come to blows will be on the sea. Expert naval men here are divided in opinion as to what the result would be in case the two fleets came to blows.

Japan's Sea Force.

Japan has a powerful sea fighting force consisting of modern vessels with modern armament. They are well officered and manned, the discipline is first-class and the marksmanship is fair. The consensus among naval men leans to the Japanese as victors in a sea fight. All agree that whichever wins the victory will not be a bloodless one.

On land, too, the Japanese, it is believed, would have a shade the best of it, at the beginning at least. Her troops are in a high state of efficiency and the general staff has a thorough knowledge of the topography of Manchuria and Korea, where the fighting will be done. The Peking expedition gave military men a high opinion of the Japanese as a soldier. The army is recruited largely from the Samurai class, who up to a generation ago regarded any occupation save that of fighting as ignoble. They have taken kindly to western methods of warfare and discipline. They can subsist on little, can move rapidly and are recklessly brave. Man for man they are regarded as equal if not superior to the Russian.

The story that the Japanese have already landed troops on Korean soil is not generally believed. As this would constitute an act of war, which would quickly lead to a counter move by Russia. Such a move would quickly be known. The report that the bubonic plague has broken out among the Russian troops at New Chwang gives cause for anxiety.

Activity at Yokohama.

YOKOHOMA, Oct. 12.—The announcement by M. Lessar, the Russian minister to China, that the Manchurian convention between Russia and China has lapsed, is received here with ridicule.

Dispatches from Chee-Foo report that a Russian warship and a transport with 500 troops left Port Arthur October 4 for Korea. Sixty Japanese civilians left Port Arthur October 10 for Nagaski. The Russian forces at New Chwang are reported to have been increased.

General Kodama, the Japanese home minister, has been appointed chief assistant to the military staff. The premier will assume General Kodama's portfolio. The premier and the ministers for war, navy and foreign affairs had a simultaneous audience of the emperor today. Baron Von Rosen, the Russian minister, and Baron Komura, the Japanese foreign minister, have not yet had a conference.

AUTOMOBILISTS ABANDON CONTESTS IN PITTSBURGH

Manufacturers' Association Decides That Machines Have Already Been Put Through Sufficiently Severe Tests on Long Endurance Run.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ERIE, PA., Oct. 12.—There will be no hill climbing nor brake contest as a climax to the automobile run from New York to Pittsburgh. This was decided upon tonight after a conference by the members of the National Association of Manufacturers. In view of the extraordinary conditions under which the competing cars have made the run, the association decided that in fairness to those who entered and succeeded thus far with cars the severe test should not take place after all the machines have already gone through.

The hill and brake contest and the competitive examinations as well have been abandoned. The point now is to reach the Steel City. There will probably be some sort of examination to determine which cars are sound and able to continue without replacements, but the result of this examination will have no effect on the average of the cars making the end of the long, tedious journey.

The association has been worried over the speeding that has characterized the contest at every point where good roads were met with. Yesterday explicit instructions were issued that those cars running more than 20 miles an hour would be disqualified. The Stern machine tore along at 40 miles. F. B. Stearns, the driver, has been driving at a reckless gait ever since the contest began and his actions have at least developed some adverse criticism. It is planned tomorrow to call a halt on all the machines a few miles out of Cleveland and land them in that city in a procession.

The abandonment of the hill climbing and speed contests means that there will simply be a chase out the boulevard, an examination of the cars by a crowd of Pittsburgh enthusiasts, a series of entertainments, and then a whole year's talk concerning which car did the best work.

The road from Buffalo to Erie this morning was a good one. Everywhere there was enthusiasm, as it was the first day that a steady downpour of rain has not been falling. Along the route, farmers threw baskets of grapes into the cars and several yelled that the cellars of their wine houses were at the disposal of the entire party. The Stearns made the garage first today. It was said that the machine drove at a 40-mile rate along the lake road. The Toledo followed shortly after the Stearns, but not at so fast a gait, and the fact that the tracks of the Stearns were covered before the Toledo came along indicates that the big machine got into Erie long before the time allowance.

The manufacturers are speculating on a way to stop the speeding. As a matter of course, there is more or less feeling on the subject, hence the plan of bunching the machines before entering the next garage.

Fifteen machines reached here early in the afternoon. Four more will be in some time early in the morning. The manufacturers will give out no reason for the abandonment of the hill climbing or brake contests other than that the test has been sufficiently severe. Operators are determined to show what their machines can do, and all the rules laid down by the association, it seems, will not prevent traveling on the high gear. There is considerable wagering among the operators, and the observers being seized with the spirit of the chase, close their eyes evidently. Tomorrow's run to Cleveland is a good one over good roads. Brushes are looked for. After tomorrow the course will be a most tedious one.

MITCHELL IS ASKED TO PREVENT STRIKE

President Roosevelt Using His Influence from Peace in Colorado.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, COL., Oct. 12.—President Roosevelt has taken a hand in the strike trouble in Crippie Creek and advised Gov. Peabody to reduce the force of soldiers in the field. The governor received a message from the president that at no time should more than 500 men have been sent to the camp. Chief Justice John Campbell was questioned closely by the president regarding the strike, and it was as much to get accurate information on that point as to discuss the political situation that Campbell was summoned to Washington by Roosevelt.

Advice from the nation's chief executive anent the threatened coal strike was also brought from Washington by that chief justice, and it is understood that the president is to use his influence with President John Mitchell to prevent a strike among the coal miners.

The governor is about to order 500 men home. None will be permitted to resign, but will be held in readiness for the coal strike, which seems inevitable. A detailed report of the situation has been forwarded to the president by the governor.

The governor said tonight: "I will make another attempt to bring the laboring men and the mine owners together and will do all in my power to prevent the strike."

Three Killed; Three Hurt by Collision.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Three men were killed and three others hurt in a collision between a Mexican Pacific and a 'Frisco freight train tonight in the yards at St. Louis avenue. The victims were standing at a crossing when the crash came and turned a car upon them.

NEW CITIZENS MADE BY ILLEGAL METHODS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

TACOMA, WASH., Oct. 12.—C. D. C. Van Dusen, an agent for the department of justice, last week left Tacoma for Washington after a long tour of inspection. He was sent to find out how the new law which went into effect June 3 affecting the naturalization of foreigners, is being complied with by the state and federal courts. Mr. Van Dusen finds that the new law, which prevents anyone of Anarchistic tendencies becoming a citizen, has in many cases been ignored.

He also finds that other phases of the law are being overlooked. In this state, irregularities were comparatively few, but in Pierce county it was found that four Japanese had been admitted to citizenship and against this there is special provision. In some states, irregularities have been on the whole small. One Chicago judge was found to have admitted 1,800 foreigners to citizenship in one evening, an act which would have been physically impossible unless the oath were administered to the applicants in platoons and the law presumed that it shall be administered to each individual separately.

In Ohio a much greater mistake was made. Over 250,000 men were admitted to citizenship by probate judges who have no right to administer the oath. Although these men made application in good faith they are still foreigners under the law.

Almost Lynched Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Arthur Warren of of Berlwin, 12 miles from here, was saved from being lynched tonight by the bravery of two policemen. The crowd was about to hang him to a telegraph pole when the peace officers rescued him. Warren was accused of assaulting an 8-year-old girl.

AMERICAN CHURCHES MUST SUSTAIN THE UNIVERSITY

Pope Pius Orders a Collection Be Taken Up for Ten Years for Maintenance of the Catholic School at Washington.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12.—Cardinal Gibbons tonight gave out the following translation of the brief of Pope Pius X., relative to the Catholic university in Washington, which was brought by his eminence when he returned from his attendance on the conclave:

"To our beloved son, James Cardinal Gibbons, cardinal priest of the holy Roman Catholic church, with the title of Saint Marie in Trastevere, archbishop of Baltimore, and chancellor of the Catholic university at Washington.

"Beloved son: health and apostolic benediction.

"The condition of the university at Washington has enlisted our deepest sympathy and concern. Inasmuch as the report recently submitted by your eminence, deposes that its affairs are not altogether so encouraging as we could wish. It is meet that we should follow the example of our predecessor in the furtherance of noble projects, more especially such as are of great moment and hold out the promise of large advantage. In this spirit we are pleased to continue, and, as far as may be to increase in the exercise of the apostolic office the interest which we have ever cherished toward this distinguished American foundation.

"Therefore, we learn with genuine satisfaction that the bishops charged with the approval of all others interested in its welfare, that a collection be taken up in all the churches throughout the United States annually for 10 years on the first Sunday in Advent or the first convenient Sunday thereafter, with a view of enhancing the dignity and enlarging the influence of this noble seat of learing.

"This plan, the result of their joint deliberations, we consider most beneficial. It is, therefore, our earnest wish and prayer that all the bishops of the country, as well as the faithful who have at heart the progress of learning and religion, should labor strenuously for the good of the university.

"That God may be pleased graciously to help this undertaking by His grace, we lovingly impart to you and to the faithful committed to your care the apostolic benediction.

"Given in Rome, at St. Peters, on the 9th day of September, 1903, the first year of our pontificate.

(Signed.) "PIUS P. P., X."

STEEL SHARES DROP FURTHER

New Low Records Made by Industrials in Wall Street Market.

INVESTORS SCARED

Unfounded Fear of Some Impending Calamity Causes Sacrifice of Dividend Earners.

RAILROADS HELD FIRMLY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.

The market for industrial shares was in a state of demoralization today. United States Steel common sold at 12½ and the preferred went a point or more under the recent low record. This was the spectacular feature. Holders of the shares appeared to have lost confidence in them, and as a result very heavy sacrifices occurred. In some instances there was no market for preferred industrial issues, which were represented in the decline of 10 and 12 points on a few transactions. Nearly a score of different stocks reached the bottom figures of the year.

It was difficult to explain the decline, except that it represented a pronounced fear on the part of owners of industrial stocks that "something" was to happen to their investments. Consequently the market was one governed by the state of mind of the general public. The threatening war in the east, the damage by floods, the closing of a number of manufacturing plants and the reduction in the forces of some railroads were circumstances that the bears made most of, but they did not stand for the heavy shrinkage that took place. As one banker said, "It is a time when investors have lost their heads completely. They are frightened and will believe anything they are told. So they sell out stocks at ridiculous prices which in a short time they will want to buy again. It is fright, and not any change in the underlying conditions, that is causing today's disturbance."

London Prices Lower.

No prospect was offered for improvement over Saturday in the London prices received here before the opening. Abroad the markets were heavy, and in London Steel common was down to 14. Just as soon as local business began the selling of Steel commenced on a large scale. Harris, Gates & Co. offered 15,000 shares of the preferred in the first hour, and all of the trading element followed them. The low quotation in this period was 13½ for the common and 58¾ for the preferred, representing declines from the previous closing of ¾ and ½ respectively.

Along with them were losses of 5¼ points in Colorado Fuel, 3 in General Electric, 3 in Tennessee Coal and Iron and new low records in Republic Steel common and preferred. The railroad list was fairly well sustained by the excellent showing of the government crop report.

The most effective drive against the steel shares occurred aroud noon, when the price of 12½ was made for the one and 57½ for the other. It was then that other industrials were practically without bid prices. American Car and Foundry, which was 74 Saturday, was offered down to 63; New York Airbrake went to 105 from 117, Sugar sold at 107½, the cheapest price for it since the Northern Pacific panic; Colorado Fuel, which was above 40 at the end of last week, touched 33. Locomotive preferred lost 5¼, the common 1¾; General Electric sold at 130, a loss of 5 points; Corn Products common declined 2¾ and

FIASCO IN SELECT COUNCIL; STEVENSON UNDER HOT FIRE; ANOTHER PLEDGE IS BROKEN

Citizens Failed to Pass Linear Tax Ordinance as Promised.

AMENDED THE BILL

Upper Branch Hastily Adjourned to Shut Off All Railroad Legislation.

ANOTHER MEETING IS WANTED

Resolution to Investigate Conduct of Chairman of Finance Committee.

AUCTION SCANDAL UP

Citizens Defeated Motion to Act Upon Wasson Delinquent Tax Ordinances.

PLATFORM WAS REPUDIATED

SUMMARY OF PROCEEDINGS OF TWO BODIES OF COUNCILS

Citizens party leaders made a complete fiasco in select council. Linear tax ordinance was not passed according to promises.

Measure was amended at the request of W. H. Stevenson. Bill had to go over for reprinting.

Director E. M. Bigelow and Murry A. Verner summoned Stevenson and persuaded him to sign a statement assuming the responsibility.

Citizens and "combine" hastily adjourned select council to prevent action on railroad ordinances.

Effort will be made by Stevenson to get special meeting of select council next Monday to pass tax ordinance finally.

Stevenson under hot fire in common council last night. Resolution introduced to investigate his conduct in sale of public property.

Citizens in common council repudiated chief plank of party platform and refused to take action upon delinquent tax ordinances.

Passage of Bigelow wire ordinance defeated in common council and referred to special committee.

Solicitor Rogers' opinion causes new filtration resolutions to be introduced, and all resolutions for the payment of money to be printed.

The Citizens party managers yesterday failed to make good their promises to pass the linear tax ordinance in select council. Seven Citizens members joined with the "combine" to amend the ordinance which, under the rules of councils, required the ordinance to be laid over for reprinting. Strangely enough, Common Councilman W. H. Stevenson, the leader of the "Orphans," who has received other gold bricks from the Citizens party leaders, unwittingly contributed to the failure to pass the ordinance.

Another meeting of select council will be necessary before the ordinance can become a law, and it is the general opinion that the Citizens party leaders do not want another meeting before the election.

The program outlined in The Gazette yesterday, to the effect that the meeting would be adjourned before any action could be taken on the railroad ordinances, was carried out to the letter, the combine and the Citizens forcing an adjournment immediately after they had amended the linear tax measure.

Wainwright Offered Amendment.

The linear tax ordinance was the last measure reported by the finance committee, of which Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., is chairman. He reported the linear tax measure with an affirmative recommendation and made the motion to suspend the rules to put the ordinance on second and third readings and final passage. The rules were suspended without a dissenting vote, and when the ordinance was on second reading Wainwright offered an amendment.

He proposed to alter the section relating to the tax on overhead wires, charging it from a tax of one-half cent per linear foot on each wire, to a tax of one-half cent per foot on each pole length of wires. The effect of this is, instead of taxing each wire in a cable, to tax merely the length of wires that a company has on a pole, there being about six wires to an overhead cable.

Wainwright explained that the tax of one-half cent per foot on each wire was excessive, amounting to over 15 per cent of the gross receipts. He said the change was proposed to make the tax conform to the tax levied on other corporations.

President John S. Lambie asked Wainwright if he knew what the difference in the amount of taxes would be. Wainwright said he did not know exactly, but said it would be considerable.

Stevenson Agreed to Amendment.

Louis P. Schneider volunteered information on the subject. He said the difference would amount to about $45,000. Mr. Schneider said W. H. Stevenson, the author of the ordinance, had agreed the amendment was necessary.

Robert H. Douglas opposed the amendment. He said the amendment would favor the Bell Telephone Company. "The Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company, with one wire on a pole, will have to pay as much as the Bell Company with 50 wires on a pole," he said.

Charles H. West of the Nineteenth ward favored the amendment. Mr. Douglas called for the ayes and noes on the amendment, which was adopted by a vote of 18 to 17, seven Citizen members voting in favor of it. The members voted as follows:

Ayes—Atkinson, Booth, Costello, Diehl, Fichtel, Fleming, Gallagher, Hermes, O'Brien, Perry, Platt, Ruhlandt, Schneider, Shenkel, Upperman, Wainwright, West and Wilson—18.

Noes—Barry, Benz, Donhoe, Douglas, Geary, Jones, Kearns, Morgan, Murphy, Polk, Schempp, Schlernitzauer, Stewart, Vcakum, Wightman, Zahniser and President Lambie—17.

Printing Done Without Authority.

President Lambie declared the amendment adopted and said the ordinance, under the rules of councils, would have to go over for reprinting. Wainwright called attention to the fact that copies of the amendment had been printed in advance and were on the desks of the members. John Benz and Douglas both objected to the passage of the ordinance until the amendment had been regularly printed, Benz citing the rule that an ordinance

William H. Stevenson, leader of the "Orphans," was under a hot fire in common council last night, escaping by a narrow margin of five votes an investigation of his conduct in connection with the attempted sale of the old Oakland police station property to Jones & Laughlin for $3,500, and then raising the bid for Jones & Laughlin to $5,000 when a higher bid was offered by others. A resolution providing for an investigation of the transaction was offered by William H. Brand, but was defeated by the Citizens party members, although Mr. Stevenson's own colleagues from the Fourteenth ward, Chris Beckert and John Lauler, supported the resolution. A motion to lay the resolution on the table was carried by a vote of 22 to 18.

The Citizens party members, after which dodging, were last night forced upon record in regard to the delinquent tax offer and publicly repudiated their pledge to abolish this office, voting down a resolution offered by Joseph C. Wasson to withdraw from the joint finance committee the ordinance which had been buried by that committee.

One of these ordinances was introduced last June and provided that the delinquent tax collector should be put upon a salary. The other ordinance, introduced about a month ago by Wasson, provided that the office should be abolished and the city treasurer appointed to collect delinquent taxes. Both ordinances were referred by the finance committee to a sub-committee which never took any action on the measures.

Citizens Who Broke Pledges.

The vote on the Wasson resolution last night was significant. Only two Citizens voted for the resolution—W. C. Reitz of the Thirty-fifth ward, and W. H. Beehner of the Twenty-second ward. President C. S. Crawford of the Twentieth ward, W. H. Stevenson of the Fourteenth ward and other well-known Citizens "reformers" openly went on record as violating the chief pledges of the Citizens party platform.

The following is a list of members who violated their pledge: John F. Baldauf, Twenty-seventh ward; W. H. Barker, Twenty-third ward; Chris Beckert, Fourteenth ward; Daniel J. Bole, Nineteenth ward; Thomas Delaney, First ward; E. J. Edwards, Second ward; Henry Fitzpatrick, Eleventh ward; John Hegne, Thirty-fourth ward; John J. Hughes, Fifth ward; Harry A. Lamb, Eleventh ward; John Lauler, Fourteenth ward; David Lewis, Twenty-fifth ward; John Martin, Fourth ward; Richard McNally, Thirteenth ward; George W. McNeil, Twenty-first ward; Thomas O'Brien, Sixteenth ward; Gebhardt Sahner, Twenty-seventh ward; Charles C. Schad, Thirteenth ward; Jacob Schenk, Thirty-first ward; James F. Shaw, Sixth ward; I. W. Shearer, Thirty-second ward; Joseph Walls, Thirtieth ward; C. McA. Willer, Sixteenth ward; W. B. Wolfe, Twenty-second ward; E. S. Wynard, Twenty-first ward; Joseph Zenzer, Ninth ward; President C. S. Crawford, Twentieth ward. Total—21.

The following members voted in favor of the resolution: Armstrong, Barr, Beehner, Brand, Cavett, Cross, Leslie, John Lewis, Moore, Reitz, Rodgers, Semmelroch, Wasson, West. Total 14.

Tried to Block Resolution.

William H. Stevenson and other Citizens party leaders attempted to prevent the introduction of the Wasson resolution by moving to adjourn, but were foiled because Stevenson wanted to make a motion to adjourn until next Monday night, to act upon the linear tax ordinance, and the Citizens were forced to let Wasson present his paper. Wasson made the only speech, the Citizens not undertaking to defend their action. Wasson briefly recounted the fruitless efforts made to get the finance committee to act upon the delinquent tax ordinances, and in support of his resolution said:

"The office of delinquent tax collector is a political sinecure and pays from $35,000 to $40,000 a year which should go into the city treasury. We have gone before the people with the pledge to make a radical change in this office and we have a right, and it is our duty, to keep this pledge."

The action on the Wasson resolution was preceded by the Brand resolution, authorizing the Stevenson investigation. The Brand resolution was as follows:

Resolution to Investigate Stevenson.

Whereas, The chairman of the committee on finance and a member of common council from the Fourteenth ward, W. H. Stevenson, at a meeting of this body held on June 8, 1903, in-

STAND PAT POLICY FOR REPUBLICANS

Representative Dalzell Says There Will Be No Tariff Revision.

INTERVIEW WITH PRESIDENT

Executive Informs Him That the Call for the Extra Session of Congress Will Be Sent Out October 20—No Currency Legislation Needed.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.

Stand pat on all issues, with no tariff revision, no currency legislation and no important measures to be originated, is the program of the Republican party in the forthcoming session of congress as outlined by Representative Dalzell, after a conference with President Roosevelt today. Representatives Dalzell and Grosvenor of Ohio, members of the ways and means committee and the committee on rules, had a long talk with the president during which important questions were discussed. They stated that it was the president's intention to issue a call October 20 for the special session of congress to convene on November 9.

"The only business to come before the special session, says Mr. Dalzell, "will be the Cuban reciprocity treaty. In what shape it will come before the committee on ways and means I cannot say. It may be in the form of a bill or in a joint or concurrent resolution. The question involved is the sole right of the house to originate revenue legislation. At any rate it will give the Democrats a chance to talk tariff."

As to regular session Mr. Dalzell said that the popular impression that important legislation was to be introduced was a mistake. He said that the special session having disposed of the Cuban treaty there would be little left for the regular session except to pass the usual appropriation bills. On the subject of currency legislation Mr. Dalzell spoke very emphatically:

"I do not think there will be any bill of this character passed," he said. "The opinion is quite general throughout the country that there is necessity for it.

Mr. Dalzell does not think well of the plan to have a commission appointed by the president to investigate the currency and recommend to congress what legislation they may think is needed. "I do not believe much in commissions," said he. "To appoint commissions to investigate subjects that are to be decided by congress ultimately is, I think, a mistake."

On the subject of tariff revision Mr. Dalzell says that there will be no tariff revision. Here he and Mr. Cannon are in accord. The stand pat policy will be rigidly adhered to. Mr. Dalzell was asked as to the probability of the Republicans asking for a congressional investigation of the postoffice department. He said that it depended upon the report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, which is awaited with interest.

The Pittsburgh postoffice building is a project that Mr. Dalzell is interested in, and today he called at the office of the supervising architect of the treasury to learn the status of it. He found that the question of whether a portion of the personal property is to be given as a site for the hospital is now with the general board of the army to decide. Mr. Dalzell thinks that the failure to sell the Columbus barracks increases the chances of getting the arsenal, but he says that it is not sure. He will endeavor in congress to bill increasing the appropriation for the hospital from $125,000 to $250,000. He does not believe that a hospital can be built and a site purchased for the original amount appropriated.

Mr. Dalzell will not be able to take part in the campaign in Pennsylvania or in Pittsburgh. He is very busy here with matters pertaining to the coming session of congress, and will not be able to leave Washington before congress meets.

FIRE CAUSED HEAVY LOSS TO HARRISBURG FIRMS

Big Manufacturing Plant Destroyed and State Printing Office and Bridge Damaged.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—Ross Bros. manufacturing establishment was completely destroyed by fire tonight, involving a loss of $100,000, which is partially covered by insurance. The building adjoins the state printing office, which took fire and was damaged to the extent of $4,000.

The flames also communicated to the Mulberry street bridge, a portion of which was burned. This bridge is owned by the city of Harrisburg and the loss will be about $25,000.

Ross Bros. manufactured iron and brass and mattresses and employed 200 hands. Their building is a complete wreck. The fire started in the engine room and burned for several hours before it could be extinguished. The state printing office is owned by Stanley W. Ray and the damage to the building is covered by insurance.

SUSPICIOUS DEATH OF A PITTSBURGH GIRL

MAYVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The Chautauqua county grand jury convened today to investigate the sudden death of a young woman at Findley lake. The girl registered as Nellie Gray of Pittsburgh, which is believed to have been an assumed name. Her home is believed to have been in Marionville, Ind. Two physicians performed an autopsy on the body and today Dr. Henry Chapin of Lindley Lake, was placed under arrest.

Minister Drops Dead.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The Rev. Dr. Elias Unangst, a prominent clergyman and member of the Allegheny synod of the Lutheran church, dropped dead at his residence here tonight. He was 79 years old. He had charge of an important Lutheran mission station in India for 35 years, and was one of the most prominent missionaries identified with that faith.

Funeral of Mrs. Ford.

The funeral of Mrs. William R. Ford, who died last Friday night, was held yesterday afternoon from her residence, Center avenue and Neville street, and was attended by many representatives of the United Presbyterian organizations of which she was a member. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. D. S. Littell, former pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church. Mrs. Ford was buried in the family plot in Allegheny cemetery, beside her husband.

the preferred 1, and Amalgamated Copper, which had been trying to break away from the rest of the list, followed suit and went down to 35½.

Railroad Shares Stronger.

Several inactive railroad shares, among them Great Northern and Minneapolis & St. Louis common, lost heavily. Each of the two mentioned declined 12 points. There was very little excitement attending the decline, for it was gradual and not associated with very heavy trading.

There was a slight rally before the closing hour, due to heavy purchases by one broker of Steel preferred. This broker, who is said to represent Standard Oil interests, took 20,000 shares in a short time. The heaviest selling for Pittsburgh account was in Steel shares. London sold 60,000 shares.

Although there was not much rallying power in the industrials, the active railroad stocks were well bought, and in a number of instances they closed with net gains for the day. The following table shows the high price of the year, the low price today, and the maximum decline today for the industrial shares that were weakest during the session.

FRANK A. PARKER.

LASKER ACCEPTS.

Old World Chessmasters Will Attend Tournament at Cambridge Springs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Emanuel Lasker, the champion of the world; Carl Schlecter, the champion of Austria, and Robert Teichmann, cabled from Berlin, Vienna and London, respectively, today to the managing directors in charge of the international chessmasters' tournament to be held in April and May of next year at Cambridge Springs, Pa., that they would participate in the contest.

So far the European experts, Lasker, Janowski, Teichmann and Schlechter, and the Americans, Pillsbury, Lipschcutz, Marshall, Napier, Hodges and Barry, have accepted the invitation to play. It is expected that word will soon come from the other Europeans, Tschigorin, Marozy, Tarrasch and Burn, while the Kentuckian, Showalter, may safely be relied upon to be in the ring.

DO NOT SEEK CLAIRTON.

Authorized Denial That Jones & Laughlin Interests Would Replace Corporation.

Reports became current in Fourth avenue yesterday afternoon that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company had advanced a proposition to the Clairton Steel Company to take the place of the United States Steel Corporation in the control of that company. Willis J. King, vice president of the Jones & Laughlin company, said:

"I think it is but right that a denial of this should be made. There has been no plan of this kind considered by the Jones & Laughlin interests, nor do I know that the Clairton interests have ever considered advancing such a plan. There is absolutely no basis for such an arrangement being made."

LUTHERAN SYNOD OPENED.

Sermon Preached Last Night by the Retiring President, Rev. C. B. King.

LEECHBURG, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The sixty-first annual convention of the Pittsburgh synod of the Lutheran church opened here tonight with a sermon by the Rev. C. B. King of Allegheny, the retiring president. His address was listened to by over 100 delegates. More delegates are expected tomorrow.

President King announced that his report would be ready for presentation in the morning. Rev. King's address was on the topic, "What Think Ye of Christ?" Tomorrow the new president of the synod, the Rev. J. E. Bettle of Turtle Creek, and the secretary, the Rev. C. C. Heisel of Wilmerding, will be inducted into office.

MURRY A. VERNER IS WANTED IN YOUNGSTOWN

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—For several weeks the commissioners of Mahoning county have been trying to arrange a meeting with Murry A. Verner, president of the Mahoning Valley Railway company, relative to repairs which are necessary on the East Federal street bridge. He has disappointed them from time to time, the latest being yesterday, when they waited several hours to see him. The bridge has been in bad condition and will be condemned unless it is fixed. The street railway company has an agreement to maintain it. The commissioners will now go to Pittsburgh to see Mr. Verner, since he has not come here.

THREE WOMEN INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Three women were seriously injured, one of them perhaps fatally, in a runaway accident that occurred on the steep Leisenring road, three miles from this place, this afternoon. The injured are Miss Pearl Hurley, Mrs. James M. Doyle and Miss Nellie Carey. The latter's injuries are believed to be fatal.

Political Club Elected Officers.

The members of the Hebrew Independent Political club of Braddock held a meeting yesterday and elected officers. About 150 members were present. The club has been in existence for the past four years. Officers were elected as follows: President, Benjamin Rosenbloom; vice president, Jacob Hechtman; secretary, M. Erman; treasurer, Benjamin Schwartz. The members of the club will support the Republican ticket.

Pittsburghers on the List.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The social honor of election to the Elihu club, Yale's democratic senior secret society, were made public tonight. Only six men have thus far been elected. They are: Coleman Curtiss, Buffalo; Everett Dominick, New York; Harry L. Foote, New Haven; Joseph Horne Holmes, Pittsburgh; Lawrence Mason, Chicago; Robert Lincoln Smitley, Allegheny.

Consolidated Got One Day's Grace.

TORONTO, ONT., Oct. 12.—Justice Britton today granted the Consolidated Lake Superior Company an injunction until tomorrow preventing any further proceedings in any of the four actions of Speyer & Co., at the Soo. The Consolidated company, Judge Johnston claims, has not the authority to appoint a receiver.

GAS CHEAPER THAN COAL.

Thursday is the last day to take advantage of the great offer of the Philadelphia Company to make service line connections and set meter free of charge. All non-consumers who intend using gas this winter should make application on or before October 15. Gas is the ideal fuel and costs less than coal. Coal will be dear this winter. FIASCO IN SELECT COUNCIL; STEVENSON UNDER HOT FIRE cannot be passed on the same day that it is amended.

PROCEEDINGS IN SELECT COUNCIL

Douglas waxed exceedingly angry in denouncing those who were responsible for the printing of the ordinance without the authority of councils.

"I would like to know right here who ordered the printing of this amendment. Who was it that put this expense upon the city? It is a slur upon this body and every member of it," Douglas declared.

"I heartily agree with the member from the Twenty-first ward," said Benz. "That is one of the things which councils have been accused of in the past, and the person who has done this should be censured."

President Lambie asked the clerk if he had ordered the printing of the amendment, and the clerk replied that he had not. He said he had been asked to have the amendment printed in advance, but had refused to do so, and that it had been done at the expense of persons outside of councils.

Wainwright stated that he knew nothing about the printing of the amendment except that he had found a copy on his desk.

Adjournment Was Forced.

President Lambie repeated his ruling that the ordinance would be laid over and immediately a number of councilmen got on their feet with motions to adjourn. J. W. Ruhlandt's motion to adjourn was seconded by half a dozen Citizens and members of the "combine." President Lambie, however, had recognized Peter Hermes, who was struggling to make a motion to reconsider the action on the amendment.

President Lambie received Hermes' motion, which was seconded by John A. Murphy; but Ruhlandt and Schneider insisted upon the motion to adjourn and President Lambie was forced to put it. It carried by the vote of 18 to 17, two Citizens members voting with the "combine." George S. Fleming and William Schemp were the two Citizens to vote with the "combine" on the motion to adjourn. The vote on the motion to adjourn was as follows:

Ayes—Atkinson, Benz, Diehl, Fleming, Jones, Perry, Platt, Ruhlandt, Schempp, Schneider, Shenkel, Stewart, Upperman, Voskamp, Wainwright, Wilson, Zahniser, President Lambie—18.

Noes—Barry, Booth, Costello, Donahoe, Douglas, Fitchtel, Gallagher, Geary, Hermes, Kearns, Morgan, Murphy, O'Brien, Poke, Schlernitzauer, West, Wainwright—17.

Stevenson Again Persuaded.

After the meeting Director E. M. Bigelow and Murry A. Verner went into the city clerk's office and called up Councilman W. H. Stevenson by telephone. They assured Stevenson that they were not responsible for the failure to pass the tax ordinance and blamed Stevenson for agreeing to the amendment proposed by Wainwright and Schneider. Stevenson went to the city hall and discussed the matter with the Citizens leaders and was persuaded that he was to blame himself; he believed the story that the Citizens members had been thrown into confusion and had voted for the amendment without any intention of retarding the ordinance. Stevenson believed this and dictated the following statement in the office of Mayor Hays, with Director Bigelow and Murry A. Verner present:

The amendment to the linear tax ordinance was presented with my consent and at my suggestion. I called up Mr. West and several other members of select branch who are friendly to the measure and asked them to have the amendment presented and see that it was not referred. That evening I again had talked to several members, among others Mr. Wainwright, who said the amendment was necessary and would be insisted upon.

Mr. Atkinson was originally called to the tax on overhead wires by John S. Weller, attorney for the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company, who told me that the proposed tax was so onerous that it would defeat the constitutionality of the ordinance. It amounted to $26 per mile, whereas the wire could be erected for $16 per mile. He also informed me that it would amount to 20 per cent of the gross receipts of the company and, therefore, was an impossible tax. I was anxious not to delay the ordinance, so arrangements were made to have the proposed amendment printed and ready for consideration. This is a common practice in councils, and need not have prevented the consideration of the ordinance finally, unless technical points were considered.

Schneider Paid for Printing.

Mr. Schneider of the Twenty-eighth ward agreed to guarantee the cost of printing the amendment. He is an employe of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company. I am informed, and made this agreement with Clerk Hassler, as I myself was compelled to attend another meeting and could not attend the council, so I called up Mr. West, Mr. Douglas and several others and asked to have the amendment presented and printed. The Republican members of select council have agreed to vote for this ordinance as it is now amended.

As I have already said, we were most anxious to pass the ordinance. I did not notify the Citizens leaders of the proposed change because I was unable to reach them. Instead I notified members of select, who are unquestionably in favor of the ordinance. If there is any blame for the delay it must fall on us, but I think the public is the gainer because the ordinance has been made absolutely legal.

During my conversation with Mr. Wainwright it was agreed that the ordinance should suffer no further delay. I shall therefore ask him and his colleagues to sign a call for a special meeting before the end of the week. In my judgment there will be no trouble about this, and the ordinance can be returned to common council, the amendments agreed to at a special meeting of that branch, next Monday, and have it become a law within 10 days. I do not think there is the least cause for alarm as to the eventual passage of the ordinance.

Mayor Sends a Message.

Mayor Hays sent to councils a message relating to the report of the viewers on the widening of Virgin alley and enclosing a communication on the same subject from Solicitor Rodgers. The mayor said the city was called upon to pay a large assessment for the improvement, which might be increased if the courts allowed appeals from assessments made on property holders. He stated that he had no desire to influence council in taking action to repeal the ordinance for widening the street.

Mr. Rodgers stated that the city had 30 days to appeal from the board's finding, but said he would not suggest that. He referred to the assessment of $79,800 against the city for benefits, and $23,678 in excess of the amount of benefits and damages assessed, which he said the city would also have to pay. Any increase of damages, or decrease of benefits allowed on appeal, he stated, would also be added to the city's share of the cost. The communications were referred to the committee on public works.

The bills taken up and passed finally were the following: Providing for a tax of $75 a year on switches and 50 cents a foot on turnouts and sidings, on which Benz and John Upperman voted no; granting the Woods-Lloyd Company the right to lay a switch in Jane street, from South Thirty-second to South Thirtieth street; for letting a contract for the collection and removal of garbage; increasing the pay of certain employes in the bureau of electricity, to allow them to become beneficiaries of the firemen's disability fund; resolution to terminate the lease of 30 acres on Rushs hill with Booth & Flinn, Limited, and directing the removal from there of the dog pound, and a resolution to erect arc lamps in South Eighteenth street extension.

PROCEEDINGS IN COMMON COUNCIL

troduced C. C. bill No. 1195, an ordinance authorizing and directing the sale to Jones & Laughlin Steel Company of a certain lot or piece of ground on the south side of Second avenue in the Fourteenth ward, etc., which ordinance provided for the sale of said property to the sum of $3,500, an amount far below the actual value of the said property; and,

Whereas, The chairman of the committee of finance had returned to council with the affirmative recommendation for the said ordinance to sell said property for the sum of $3,500 when he held a proposition from the said firm of Jones & Laughlin to pay $5,000 for said property, be it

Resolved, That the president of common council appoint committee of three members from this body to investigate the action of the chairman of the finance committee in this matter and to determine whether he was trying to dispose of the property of the city at $3,500 when he had an offer of $5,000, and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have the power to hold meetings and examine witnesses under oath.

Stevenson Sat Still.

The council chamber was very quiet while Brand was reading his resolution. Stevenson kept his chair and made no attempt to take part in the proceedings. When Brand had finished George W. McNeil promptly moved that the resolution be laid on the table, which was carried by the following vote:

Ayes—Baldauf, Barker, Beebner, Bole, Delaney, Fitzpatrick, Gallagher, Lamb, Martin, McNeil, Thomas, O'Brien, Peltz Sahner, Schad, Shuck, Shaw, Shearer, Walls, Willey, Wolfe, Wymard, Zenger and President Crawford—23.

Nays—Armstrong, Barr, Bogert, Brand, Cavett, Cross, Edwards, Hogue, Lauler, Leslie, David Lewis, John Lewis, Moore, McNally, Rodgers, Semmelrock, Wasson and West.—18.

Wasson, in explaining his vote, said that an insinuation had been made against Stevenson and it was only just and right to have an investigation in which he would be either cleared or found guilty.

Stevenson Makes Statement.

Stevenson, speaking to the question of personal privilege, said:

In explaining my action in this matter it is incumbent upon me to explain as I did the night the ordinance was up before this council, although strangely that explanation did not satisfy some of the members. This ordinance was sent to a sub-committee. It reported $3,500 as a fair price. In September the director of one department of the public safety sent word to me to do nothing with the ordinance, as he and the mayor meant to look over the property.

Later the director told me it was worth $5,000. I then said the ordinance could be changed. A representative of Jones & Laughlins came to me and I sent him to the director. He said anyone was trying to "bull" the deal; that it was known they wanted the property. I answered that I knew nothing about that and I was told they would give $5,000. The director will make affidavit of this statement at any time.

Brand Makes Reply.

Brand wanted the floor on a question of personal privilege and McNeil moved to adjourn, but finally yielded. Brand said he offered the resolution because he thought the matter should be sifted. There was an insinuation that Stevenson had acted in a business-like way. He had said he had an offer of $5,000 in his pocket, and the resolution was offered to see if he had such a written offer and if he had, he thought it but right to put the gentleman where he belonged.

Council refused to pass Director E. M. Bigelow's wire ordinance, prohibiting the erection of poles and wires in the future. Stevenson made a motion to suspend the rules to put the ordinance on second and third readings and final passage, but this was lost by a vote of 21 to 20, and W. C. Reitz, who said the ordinance ought to be amended to include present poles and overhead wires, moved to send the ordinances to a special committee of three.

Bigelow Ordinance Referred.

This was opposed by Leslie, who said he was not in favor of a special committee, and amended Reitz's motion by moving to return the ordinance to the public works committee from whence it came. Leslie caused a stir in the Citizens ranks by reading the list of the names of the members of the public works committee and declaring that if they voted for the motion to send the ordinance to a special committee they would stultify themselves and admit that they were not competent to handle the matter. The motion of Reitz, however, prevailed.

Council approved the transfer of $1,800 from the downtown water fund to build a pipe line in Dahlia street, Twentieth ward. Leslie objected, stating that he was opposed to taking any part of the downtown fund until the improvement had been completed. Reitz said that all the contracts for the work had been let and when Director Bigelow was called upon he confirmed what Reitz said, although he had stated before the committee that only contracts for the first year had been let.

A new filtration resolution, identical with the Brown resolution, was introduced by Daniel J. Bole, the city solicitor having given the opinion that the passage of the other resolution had been illegal because it had not been printed for the use of councils.

Solicitor Gives an Opinion.

Eight resolutions for the payment of money were referred to the city solicitor, Stevenson stating that the city solicitor had given the opinion that all such bills should be printed. Stevenson was not able to satisfy Leslie that such an opinion had been given, hence the motion to refer. Stevenson said he had been informed last night by Director Bigelow that the city solicitor had given such an opinion.

Stevenson presented three ordinances for the public sale of city property. One covered five lots in Butler street, Negleys Run hollow, bought years ago as a site for a garbage furnace that was never built; another for the old Thirtieth ward station house in Carson street, near South Third street, and the third, the Soho station house.

Armstrong presented an ordinance authorizing the director of the department of public safety to employ Peter Tautlinger as a watchman at $60 a month. Tautlinger is the fireman who was so badly hurt at the Best, Fox & Co. fire on June 29, 1900.

Schad presented an ordinance fixing the pay of the controller's messenger at $900 a year. Both went to the finance committee.

For Mr. Brown, Stevenson presented two resolutions for the relief of the Christian Home for Working Girls in Eighth street. One exempts the home for the taxes for 1902 and 1903, amounting to $1,432 50, and places the home on the exempt list.

On motion of Stevenson the charity department salary ordinance, with a substitute making some slight changes, was sent back to the finance committee, and council adjourned until next Monday night.

Guardsmen Re-Elect Officers.

SCRANTON, Oct. 12.—An active session of the National Guard association of Pennsylvania was held this afternoon at the Thirteenth regiment armory, with more than 10 officers present. The old officers were all unanimously re-elected. They are: President, Col. L. A. Watres of Scranton; vice president, Col. A. D. Deckert of Philadelphia; secretary, Maj. W. S. Miller of Scranton; treasurer, Capt. Joseph E. McNarry of Pittsburgh.

Champion Mine Closed.

ISHPEMING, MICH., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The Champion mine, the sole support of a town of 2,500 people, has closed. The mine was secured by the Steel Corporation only a year ago. The Mikado, on the Gogebic range, has laid off 100 men.

Small Fire in Sharpsburg.

An overheated boiler in Corcoran Brothers' laundry, in South Main street, Sharpsburg, caused a slight blaze last night. The fire was put out, causing a loss of only $30.

WAR TO BEGIN ON THE OCEAN

Opinions at Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—Speaking of the Russo-Japanese situation today M. Flourens, the former foreign minister of France, said: "Japan must have another power behind her or else she will not take the offensive."

An attache of the foreign office informed the Presse that he did not think Russia would draw France into a conflict at present. He added that the cabinets at St. Petersburg and Paris are in complete accord and expressed the opinion that the postponement of the czar's visit to Rome was not due to the agitude of the Socialists, but to the situation in the far east.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The relations between Japan and Russia have reached a crisis, according to the official view here. The exact nature of the diplomatic exchanges between the two governments that brought out the present tensity appear to be unknown at the legations of the two countries here or at the German legations at St. Petersburg and Tokio, although it is understood that Great Britain is privy to Japan's movements.

A dispatch from Shanghai to the Frankfurter Zeitung states that news has reached there from Cho-Foo to the effect that the Japanese have occupied Masampho and that an official declaration of war is expected.

No Anxiety at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—At the Russian embassy the officials are not alarmed over the situation in the far east. The view held here is that neither Russia nor Japan desires war, though both may be making preparations to that end, and that there is really no question at issue which cannot be settled without recourse to arms, provided the negotiating parties are disposed to use diplomacy rather than the sword. The embassy has received no advices from St. Petersburg for more than two weeks.

Japan's military strength on a war footing is 474,770 men, including infantry, 96,400; cavalry, 9,470; artillery, 14,400. Engineers and train, 21,500; first reserves, 93,000; second reserves, 240,000.

Japan's navy consists of battleships first-class, eight; battleships second-class, two; battleships third-class, three; coast defense ships, four; armored cruisers, two; cruisers first-class, 7; cruisers second-class, 18; other cruisers, 16; torpedo boat destroyers, 19; torpedo boats first-class, 67; dispatch boats, four; transports and auxiliaries, 31; tugs and hulks, 12. WILLIAMS MARRIED.

After Their Acquital for Murder of Children They Got a Museum Offer.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—John and Emma Williams were married yesterday after the acquittal of Mrs. Williams upon a charge of having murdered her children. The pair had just been pronounced man and wife when they were approached by a museum manager with a request that they sign a contract to exhibit themselves.

"All you'll have to do will be to sit on a platform and let the people look at you," he said. "Mrs. Williams does not care to be exhibited," declared Judge Stevenson. "The pay will be $150 a week," urged the museum manager. At the mention of the amount, Mr. Williams stared in astonishment, but his wife closed the conversation by exclaiming: "We've been on exhibition in court nearly a month now and that is enough."

EXTRADITION REJECTED.

Gov. Pennypacker Refuses to Honor Requisition for Crime Punishable by Death.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Gov. Pennypacker today declined to honor the requisition of Gov. Hunn for the return to New Castle, Del., of Edward Riley, a negro, charged with assaulting a 10-year-old white girl. Riley is under arrest in Philadelphia.

Gov. Hunn's requisition has been returned for amendment in order that the facts and circumstances in the case may be more fully set forth. Riley's offense is punishable by death in Delaware and Pennypacker wants to know more about the case before he permits the negro to be extradited.

BELL CONFESSES THEFTS.

Mailpouch Robber Held in Heavy Bond While Still in Hospital.

DENVER, COL., Oct. 12.—Albert E. Bell, alias Crosby, alias Murray, the alleged mail pouch robber and forger, had a hearing this afternoon before United States Commissioner Hinsdale. Bell is still confined to his bed and the commissioner visited him at St. Anthony's hospital, where the hearing was held.

Bell confessed to robberies at Germantown, Pa., and Springfield, Ill., and his bond was placed at $10,000. He is unable to give the amount of bond required and will be kept under guard until he is well enough to be taken to Philadelphia for trial.

PENNSYLVANIANS WIN HONORS AT OLD YALE

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The Yale faculty announced today appointments for the class of 1905 to the honor division. The appointments were made because of excellent work during the past year. This honor is equivalent to election to the honorary class in the Phi Beta Kappa society at other universities. Pennsylvania students who have been placed on the honor roll are: William Johnson Jack, Indiana, Pa.; Walter Dennis Myers, Maravilla, Pa.

PITTSBURGHER DIES FROM ROUGH ON RATS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Charles Lamont, a brakeman from Pittsburgh, was taken from a Cleveland & Pittsburgh train at Liberty street early Monday suffering with convulsions. He was taken to St. Alexis hospital where he died in great agony. Doctors used a stomach pump, but were unable to save his life. They say he had swallowed rough on rats.

UNCLE SAM AFTER SIX WHITE WINGS

Italians Charged With Fraudulently Securing Their Naturalization Papers.

ARE CITIZENS SUPPORTERS

They Swore That They Came to This Country While Under Eighteen Years of Age, but an Investigation Does Not Sustain Their Claim.

Some of the tactics used by the Citizens party during the mayoralty fight last February came to light yesterday when eight Italians, six of whom are employed by the city as "white wings," were arrested for violating the naturalization laws. Information was made against the men by Secret Service Agent William P. Walsh, before United States Commissioner W. S. Gamble. They will be arraigned for a hearing this morning in the Federal building. The men were arrested by Detectives Harry Hutchinson, Charles Aymer, Louis Leff and Harry Jones. Six of them were locked in No. 6 police station, Franks-town avenue, and two were taken to the Central station.

It is alleged in the information that the men went into the United States district court last January and made affidavit that they came to this country when they were under 15 years of age and had been here five years. They were given their citizenship papers, which permitted them to cast their ballot at the polls in February, on age.

It is alleged that 50 Italians secured their citizenship by this means. The men cast their ballot for the Citizens ticket and some were afterward rewarded with city jobs. The matter was reported to the Federal authorities and an investigation followed. Secret Service Agent Walsh has obtained information against eight of the men. These men were arrested: Guisseppe Favoratta, 35 years old, of Forbes street; Dominec Grieve, of 5313 Everett street; James Pattanatta, a foreman at the East End city stables, 28 years old, of Larimer avenue; Guiseppa Pattanatta, 25 years old, of Larimer avenue; Gregorio Scalfort, 45 years old, of Larimer avenue; Joseph Morino, 26 years old, of Larimer avenue; Felipe Burello, 20 years old, of St. Andrews street; Guiseppe Farra, 23 years old, of St. Andrews street, and Gregorio Lazaro, 22 years old, of Larimer avenue.

THE SMALLPOX RECORD

Cases Continue to be Reported in This City and the Surrounding Boroughs.

The death of 14-year-old William Koncocka of 2726 Penn avenue occurred yesterday at the Municipal hospital from smallpox after being in the institution for one day.

The smallpox cases reported yesterday were as follows: John Smith, Independent street; Lizzie Scales, rear No. 500 Stockholm avenue; C. Williams, No. 2920 Pilgrim street; Charles H. Schively, No. 188 Thirty-eighth street; Charles Simon, Finleyville; Helen Shea, No. 30 Thirteenth street; Anna Schultz, 2721 Webster avenue.

After driving all night in a buggy from Finleyville, Washington county, Charles Simon reached the public safety building yesterday morning suffering from smallpox. He was sent to the Municipal hospital. Simon thought he had smallpox and secured a horse and carriage and a friend consented to bring him to the city. When they arrived at the safety building they were told to drive out to the Municipal hospital. Simon was taken in. His companion's clothing was fumigated and he was allowed to go. The horse and carriage were detained at the hospital. The carriage was fumigated and the horse will be kept in quarantine.

A joint meeting of the health boards of Homestead, Munhall and West Homestead was held yesterday to take action relative to smallpox in the three towns. Plans to suppress the disease were made and the various manufacturing companies were asked to have all their employes vaccinated at once. Two new cases of smallpox were found in Homestead yesterday.

Wilkinsburg council last night passed over the veto of Burgess John A Keys a resolution providing for the purchase of ground in Hermont street, on which to erect a municipal hospital. There also had been a protest presented by 58 residents of the district. The site is in the outskirts of the borough, but in a thickly populated district. The property owners will take the matter into court if the council insists on erecting a hospital on the site even after it is purchased.

Sewickley is considerably stirred up over the presence of smallpox in that borough. The Rev. Samuel Kerr, pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place, was among the first to be stricken. Yesterday morning it was discovered that a servant in the Fisher home is another victim. The Presbyterian church was closed on Sunday. Another well-known Sewickley victim is Miss Hazeltine, the postmistress. No mails were received or delivered yesterday, and the postoffice is closed. Arrangements have been made with the postal authorities to have the mail fumigated as soon as possible, so that it can be released and the postoffice opened for business. This will likely be done today.

CHANGE IN HARBOR LINES IS APPROVED BY OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Gen. Oliver, acting secretary of war, has approved the request of the National Tube Company for a change in the harbor lines along the Monongahela river in front of their works at MceKesport. The company wishes to erect some additional buildings at its plant and the changes asked for were necessary for their purpose.

Policemen Joseph Kessler and A. S. Parks of Wilkinsburg have resigned. There are four applications for the vacancies, which will be filled at the next meeting.

CONFERENCE ENDS THE VISIT

taken up by the long conference. That the visit to Pittsburgh has important bearings upon prospective plans of the corporation is evident from this meeting, despite the fact that the greatest secrecy as to the subjects under discussion was maintained.

This morning between 8 and 9 o'clock the trip west will start. Ambridge will be reached by 10 a. m. and two hours will be spent there seeing the magnificent structural steel plant which the American Bridge Company is erecting. President Corey said last night that there was considerable doubt regarding the time to be spent in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, inasmuch as the officials must see Ambridge, Cleveland and Loraine today. It is therefore expected that the Youngstown and New Castle visits will be somewhat abbreviated.

The membership of the party is as follows: W. E. Corey, president United States Steel Corporation; James Gayley, first vice president; W. B. Dickson, second vice president; Henry C. Frick, George W. Perkins, Robert Bacon and Elbert H. Gary, members of the finance committee; W. R. Walker, W. J. Filbert, controller; A. C. Dinkey, president Carnegie Steel Company; Thomas Lynch, president H. C. Frick Coke Company; W. T. Graham, president American Tin Plate Company; George T. McMurtry, president American Sheet Steel Company; A. J. Major, president American Bridge Company; W. P. Palmer, president American Steel & Wire Company; W. B. Schuller, president National Tube Company; E. J. Buffington, president Illinois Steel Company; Daniel Coolidge, president Lorain Steel Company; D. M. Clemson, president Pittsburgh Steamship Company; D. G. Kerr, manager ore supply, United States Steel Corporation; Hon. J. H. Reed, and William Edenborn, directors; Homer J. Lindsay, assistant to the president, Carnegie Steel Company; David B. Carse, consulting engineer, New York; C. M. Harris, Philadelphia.

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS WILL RECEIVE A BOOST

Great Preparations at Evansville to Entertain Ohio Valley Association.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

EVANSVILLE, IND., Oct. 12.—President John L. Vance of the Ohio Valley Improvement association arrived here today to make final arrangements for the waterways convention that will meet here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The address of welcome for the state of Indiana will be made by Governor Durbin. Arrangements have been made to have considerable speech-making on the three days of the convention. Letters have been

CITIZENS HAVE A NEW SCHEME

Promise to Put Present Jurors in the Wheel in Return for Votes.

CANNOT DELIVER THE GOODS

Saloon Keepers Who Agree to Work for Bigelow Machine in Return for a New Liquor License Will Get Into Some Trouble.

Bigelow machine workers are now offering to put names in the jury wheel in return for votes for the fusion ticket. This scheme in the interest of the "reform" ticket is being worked in conjunction with the promise or liquir licenses.

Some time ago men in the employ of the Bigelow machine were seen copying the names of the 4,000 men who had been put in the jury wheel for this year. This was an unusual preceding and an investigation was made. It was found that a number of names were picked out in each district and workers were sent to see them. The present juror was told that it is not customary for a man to have his name in the wheel for two years in succession, but that the Citizens are in a position to do this. If the juror promises to work for the Bigelow ticket, he is assured that his name or some one selected by him, will go on the list.

The wheel is filled by one judge and the two jury commissioners, each supplying a third of the names. Following the custom of the judge, the judge who will this year assist in filling the wheel, will endeavor to keep politicians off of the jury. Another third will be furnished by the Republican commissioner and he will not redeem Bigelow machine promises. The balance will be put in by the Democrat who will have his own fences to look after, so that the man who votes for Bigelow's candidate in the hope of doing jury service can look forward to the delivery of a brick at his home address.

May Lose Their Licenses.

Fresh evidence is coming to the surface that Bigelow machine workers are promising liquor licenses in return for votes for the fusion ticket. Deputy Sheriff Thomas Pascoe yesterday gave some direct testimony on the subject. Last week his business took him to the saloon of "Teddy" Webster, in Collier township. While there James Furie of Bridgeville entered the place. He was carrying a number of the lithographs of the Bigelow candidates. After ordering a drink for every man in the place Pascoe says that Furie called attention to the campaign by announcing that Judges MacFarlane and Brown would be on the license bench next year, and that the Citizens would be in a position to help their friends. Pascoe says that he rebuked him for thus dragging the names of the judges into politics.

The saloonkeeper who works for the fusion ticket or any other, in the hope that he will be sure of a renewal of his license, is quite likely to be found in a new business next year. Judges MacFarlane and Brown, if they do happen to sit in this court, will doubtless watch for the men who have entered into these bargains. They will not be a party to the bartering of liquir licenses for votes. Figuring from the make-up of former license courts, it would appear that Judge Frederick H. Collier and Judge MacFarlane would conduct the next hearings. No matter what judges are on the bench, however, they will be supplied with much information about the applicants old and new.

Moore Men Are Heard.

Bigelow's committee on contests last evening took the evidence of the Moore faction in the Fourteenth ward squabble. The meeting was held in the basement of the Bellefield school. W. J. Moore, E. D. Witt and others were heard. Chairman T. S. Levin conducted the examination.

The six contested districts—the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Eleventh and Fourteenth—were taken up separately and each of the contested committeeman given a chance to present his side of the case. The evidence was entirely opposite that given by the Breck faction when their side was heard. A summary of the testimony was that the Breck faction had held their meetings and elected committeemen in an illegal manner, and that the Moore faction is entitled to all the committeemen they claimed.

Of the three committeemen the Moore faction contested in the Fourteenth district, it was claimed that they had worked for and voted the Jacksonian Democratic ticket at the city election. Under questioning by Chairman Levin it was brought out that only one Jacksonian Democratic ticket had been cast at the last election in the district. Chairman Levin stated that the contest would be decided during the next few days.

Over 225 Republican workers of the First district of the Seventh ward met in the Franklin school house last night. A. Edlis presided and B. C. Barton was secretary. Speeches were made by Scott Diebert, W. P. Carter, Neaman Arfield, John Webster and B. D. Brown. The other districts will hold meetings this week.

To Discuss Church Advertising.

The Men's club of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church will meet tonight and discuss "How to Advertise the Church, or Business Methods in Aggressive Church Work." William S. Power will make an address. Mr. Power is at the head of an advertising agency and is superintendent of the Shady Avenue Baptist church Sunday school. W. A. Cole, chairman of the advertising committee of the Second Presbyterian church, will also make an address. The pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, Dr. Warren G. Partridge, organized the Men's club in July. At every meeting there are interesting papers, debates and discussions on practical questions of the day.

REPUBLICANS ARE CONFIDENT

Reports from the Allegheny Districts Insure Success Next Month.

WYMAN IS HAVING TROUBLE

Mayor Has Found That the Voters in the Lower Wards Are All for Dr. James W. Dickson for Sheriff.

The organization committee of the Allegheny Republican party met last night at the headquarters in East Diamond street. Every one of the 88 voting districts was represented, and each was heard from separately. The results promise a good majority for the Republican ticket next month. Of the 88 precincts 82 are fully organized, and ward and district committees are working in harmony for party success. The other six districts will be in good shape by the end of the week.

Chairman John H. Henderson, in announcing the result of the reading of the reports, said:

"What we have heard from all parts of the city tonight is surprising when it is considered that the battle has practically just started. In every ward the workers are laboring harmoniously, and there is none of the dissatisfaction that exists in some of the Citizens ward organizations. Allegheny is going to give the Republican ticket a great majority and if Pittsburgh does as well the Republican majority in the county will be immense, for the country districts will all go Republican."

The Citizens' party workers were out yesterday in the First ward, that was so strong for Wyman last February. Since April things have changed considerably in the First, and Wyman was out yesterday in his buggy trying to patch his broken fences. The mayor realizes that his party is going to have trouble throughout the entire lower end of the city.

Dr. James W. Dickson, the Republican candidate for sheriff, lives in the lower end of the Fifth ward, and has at least a speaking acquaintance with nearly every man in the first six wards of the city. His friends are a legion, and Wyman is finding opposition in his old stronghold.

Director Scandrett and Councilman Charles Ross, with some of the pavrollers, were down through the First and Fourth wards last night, hustling for votes, but met with little encouragement. Even the gamblers and those who have managed drinking clubs, and who in former years voted as Wyman dictated, are either very wary about doing anything, or are openly opposing the Citizens' party. The treatment they got after Wyman took office last spring has taught them a lesson. Their privileges were taken away from them for several months in the hope of fooling the public. Recently everything was thrown open and all those wishing to run clubs, speak-easies or gambling houses were promised protection if they would turn in for the Citizens' ticket. But none seem to have any faith in the promises.

Wyman and all his workers are laboring solely in behalf of Candidates Harry Dreihing and Thomas M. Brown. These offices the Citizens want, and the other candidates are being sacrificed that the election of a sheriff and district attorney may be assured.

BISHOP DOANE TO COME.

Will Read a Paper at Episcopal Congress Here Next Month.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the 22d Episcopal church congress here, beginning November 3 and continuing until November 6, has completed all preliminaries. Bishop W. C. Doane of Albany, N. Y., has promised to attend with Mrs. Doane. On the evening of November 3 Bishop Doane will read a paper on "Christian Marriage and Divorce." He is the brother of Mons. George Hobart Doane, who took deacon orders in the Episcopal church, but joined the Catholic church and became domestic prelate of the housesold of the late Pope Leo XIII.

The local finance committee found no difficulty in arranging to defray the expenses of the congress. The sessions will be held in Trinity church, and will be attended by about 250 visitors.

No New School at East McKeesport.

The school board of East McKeesport yesterday decided that it cannot afford to put up a new school house, although the present schools are overcrowded. Dr. W. L. Harrison was elected school director to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of E. E. Riggs.

CASH NOW GETS BIGGEST PIANO BARGAINS KNOWN

Kimball, Steinway, Hallet & Davis, Chickering Bros., Hardman, Kranich & Bach and Other Pianos Going at Half Their Real Value for Cash, at Ambuhl Bros. This Week.

We are determined to raise a certain amount of cash by a given time, and have decided to get it out of the instruments that stand on our floor, feeling sure that there are plenty of people in this vicinity that would gladly pay cash if given an opportunity to buy close enough.

It is a well-known fact that nearly all manufacturers in every line have done business during the last few years far beyond the limit of their capital and are consequently calling loudly for ready money at the present time. Piano dealers that are "up to snuff" are therefore taking advantage of these conditions, and by having the ready cash are enabled to save handsome sums in the purchase of their fall stocks.

It is a well-known adage that goods well bought are half sold.

We have therefore decided to call on the public to help us raise money with which to make money, and we in turn offer them a large part of our big stock of the finest makes of pianos, organs, and piano players, over two hundred elegant instruments, some new, some slightly used, and some second-hand, for cash or half cash, at prices that are fully from 40 to 60 per cent lower than they have been in the habit of paying for the same thing.

Here are Kimball, Steinway, Hallet & Davis, Chickering Bros., Hardman, Kranich & Bach, and other good pianos, all included in the lot that is to be sold cheap for cash.

Here are a few sample prices that will give you an idea of the bargains to be had here during this week:

We offer an elegant new Kimball upright, regular $400 style, used only a few times for concert, for $260. Miss Estelle Leibling, who sang at the Exposition last week, used it for one week.

We offer a fine Steinway upright that has been used some, but that has scarcely a scratch on it, regular $700 style, for $300.

We offer an entirely new Hallet & Davis upright (that famous old Boston make), in a beautiful San Domingo mahogany case, regular $500 style. It is a beauty in both tone and case, only a little shopworn, for $290.

A beautiful new Gilbert & Co. upright, a piano that has been made in Boston for a number of years, full size mahogany case, rolling fallboard, and ivory keys, regular $300 piano, will go for $130.

Other good upright pianos, for $90, $110, $125, $160 and $190.

There will be no trade taken on pianos sold during this sale; only cash, or, when it is requested, half cash will be accepted with interest on the remainder.

How to Make Teneriffe Lace.

Demonstrations are the order of the day here—no less than half a dozen on the boards concurrently—and now we have the pleasure of inviting women to see

The "Palma" Teneriffe Lace Constructer.

This is a little instrument, but of tremendous importance when it comes to making Teneriffe Lace. It is complete in itself—no pins or other equipment necessary. The embodiment of simplicity. To learn its workings all that is necessary is to stop at the table immediately to right of main entrance and have a talk with the demonstrator. She will tell you, understandingly, more in two or three minutes than we could were we to continue throughout this column.

The Time is at Hand for Furs.

If you are to enjoy the comfortableness of Furs, to say nothing of their accompanying stylishness, the matter cannot be put off longer. Fur weather is here. It is here to stay with us for many months. We desire to say in all sincerity that furs of all grades will not be lower in price this season—the probability is that in a short time there will be a sharp advance in prices. We never did like this thing of urging people to buy, but we ask you to discuss this matter from an economical standpoint.

Our collection of furs takes in everything that is good—the best of medium furs up to the very finest—Baby Lamb, Alaska Seal and the all but priceless Russian Crown Sable.

A glimpse of our fur prices follow—

Sable Fox Boas with two large brush tails and four paws, $9.00.

Single Boas of either Sable or Isabella Fox, finished with four paws and two large brush tails, $10.00, $12.75 and $15.00.

Squirrel Boas, finished with four Fox tails, $6.50 and $9.00.

Double Isabella Fox Boas, $15.00 to $40.00.

Blue Lynx Boas, $22.00 to $60.00.

Mink Boas, $25.00 to $45.00.

Flat Persian Scarfs, $22.00.

Mink Stoles, $50.00 to $250.00.

Blended Baum Marten Stoles, $100.00 to $300.00.

Hudson Bay Sable Stoles, $125.00 to $400.00.

Russian Sable Stoles, $300.00 to 900.00.

Nearseal Coats, $28.00 to $65.00.

Plain Persian Coats, $70.00 to $250.00.

Persian Coats, trimmed with blended Baum Marten, $115.00 to $275.00.

Broadtail Coats, $290.00 to $500.00.

Alaska Sealskin Coats, $200.00, $225.00, $250.00, $300.00, $350.00, $375.00.

A Peep at Winter Millinery Today.

Also some strikingly handsome millinery conforming to the golden period of the year—late Autumn. The exhibit will not be of today only, but will continue throughout the week.

Winsome Winter Millinery, if the alliterative is permissible in referring to hats and toques gay enough to meet the most exacting tastes; quietly refined millinery for those who construe handsomeness to mean something exquisitely plain.

The millinery for late Autumn we are quite sure will be admired in general for beauty of design, and specifically for the beauty of trimming greatly diversified.

The exhibit will consist of latest examples from Paris and assimilations of French conceits, together with original ideas of our own expert milliners.

We purpose exhibiting another side of our millinery on these days—a kindergarten side, if you will—teaching how really inexpensive the best conceptions of artistic millinery can be bought here. All visitors are asked to carefully note that feature.

Another feature of the week's exhibit will be select millinery for girls and correct caps for boys.

The Reduced Prices on Bric-a-Brac and China.

In both stores—the one of the third floor, the other in the basement—specially reduced prices will be named every day this week on all goods. If you inquire the reason we say because of removal next Saturday to new quarters in the new building.

Bric-a-Brac, Third Floor.

Up there you have choice from Bronzes, Cut Glass, Finest Crystals, Ivories, Potteries and Enamels, and, although our regular prices are less than such goods sell for anywhere around us, our special prices for this week should be promptly taken up.

There are many hints among these wares—wares literally from every country under the sun—for holiday gifts, and as the time is not far off, counting by weeks, just now is as good a time as any for looking about for such gifts.

China in the Basement.

Everything down there is to be sold for special prices, with one exception, dinner ware known as "stock patterns." Among this immense stock will be found admirable holiday gifts, such as China Plates, Teas, Bouillons by the dozen, half dozen or those sold separately, Chop Dishes, Salad Dishes, etched and pressed Glassware, all Lamps and Lamp Shades, all Jardinieres and Pedestals, all Toilet Sets, all Dinner Sets, all Umbrella Jars.

Look in upon either department and see the multiplicity of ideas for gifts of every nature.

Blankets at 25 Per Cent Beneath Regular Prices.

The North Star Woolen Mills, Minneapolis, Minn, wish to introduce their blankets in this market. As a means of accomplishing the result they commissioned us to make a 25 per cent cut in price until the Pittsburg public have become acquainted with the splendid quality of their product.

These blankets are counted amongst the finest made in this country. Made of soft Australian wool with a thread of cotton through the warp, which lends to them the softness and flexibility of genuine eiderdown. Below we quote prices:—

$5.00 a pair—retailing regularly for $6.50—75 pairs of eleven-quarter size North Star Blankets.

$6.50 a pair—retailing regularly for $8.00—75 pairs North Star Blankets, eleven-quarter size, large enough for double beds—finest wools used in these Blankets.

$8.00 a pair—retailing regularly for $9.50—100 pairs North Star Blankets, soft, fluffy wools, single bed size, extra long, 64x90.

$8.00 a pair—retailing regularly for $10.00—75 pairs North Star Blankets, twelve-quarter size.

$9.00 a pair—retailing regularly for $10.50—100 pairs North Star Blankets for three-quarter beds—size 72x90 inches.

$10.00 a pair—retailing regularly for $12.50—50 pairs North Star Blankets, twelve-quarter size, being extra large and just right for double beds.

$8.50 a pair—retailing regularly for $11.00—100 pairs of extra quality North Star Blankets—twelve-quarter size—among the choicest stock turned out by this Western mill.

Of Newest Waists of Woolen Materials.

For Autumn wear also. Elaborate if you desire them so. Elegant simplicity if your taste inclines in that direction. But whatever the style, severe or ornate, each one of them bearing the hall mark of Fashion. Might also add, each and every one of them priced as low as the high quality of material and workmanship will permit. Four numbers at medium prices follow:—

At $4.00 we are showing a waist of white Challis, with light blue pin dots—four small tucks on each side of front; wide pleat down center; three large pearl buttons. Plain back; full sleeves, self stock and blue silk tie.

At $5.00, for your inspection a waist of white embroidered wool Batiste—a new and unusually pretty light weight material; something that will wash. Tucked front and back; full sleeve and fancy stock. Comes also in white, embroidered in a delicate blue.

At $5.00 we have another interesting number, a pretty white waist of wool canvas—heavier in weight than batiste, but not so heavy as flannel. Tucked front and back, and trimmed with light blue stitching.

At $5.00, if you please, a new Velvet Waist. Brown, green, red, blue and black are the colors. Designed after the latest models. A most dressy waist for a little money.

The latest scheme of the Democratic-Citizens is to get the names of the jury wheel and found upon them another campaign of promises. They propose to have veniremen who do the will of the desperate managers drawn again next year, though "that is contrary to the usual custom." They might add it is contrary to good public policy, but, of course, there is no purpose to make good the promises thus craftily made. The prime object is to get a few votes for the Democratic-Citizens ticket. The jurymen, the managers well know, have no recourse after they have delivered themselves on a doubtful proposition.

By the arrest of Lieut. Drury and Private Dowd as a result of the inquest into the death of William Crowley, the much discussed arsenal shooting case is taken into the hands of the civil authorities of the county. The questions of jurisdiction have not been settled, however, nor the equally interesting question whether Private Dowd can be put in jeopardy of his life before a civil court after being once tried by a martial court. The interest in the case centers about these questions, rather than about the chances of conviction of the accused in another trial upon testimony that would necessarily be similar to that taken before the court-martial a couple of weeks ago.

Direct testimony has been adduced to the effect that Democratic-Citizens party workers are making promises to liquor dealers purporting to be on behalf of the honorable judges who are expected to sit in the license court. The testimony, too, is given by a reputable witness. Of course, these promises, like the other campaign pledges of the Democratic-Citizens party, are made to be broken. They will not fool many holders of licenses, for everyone who knows the character of the judges knows they could not be induced to consider a case in any way except upon its merits. Nevertheless, it is an exhibition of reckless politics, highly discreditable to the organization sanctioning it, and verges closely upon contempt of court. The intimations given out by these political workers are infamous, and we are not sure they are not punishable as libels, if not as worse offenses.

European opinion grows more positive that war between Japan and Russia cannot be avoided. While the Chefoo advices to the effect that Japan has occupied Masampho cannot be verified, and many regard them as surmises made at a distant point, other signs are not wanting that the situation is critical. There is no manner of doubt but that the people of Japan are anxious for the fighting to begin. In fact, they are almost clamorous for war. On the other hand the tone of the press at St. Petersburg is distinctly belligerent, and in a country with as severe a press censorship as Russia, the fact is significant. Meantime, Russia is busy trying to restore peace in the Balkans, with reforms for Macedonia, and if it turns its eyes to the far east it may find its European frontier speedily ablaze.

The last stage in the Alaskan boundary "arbitration" has been reached—the consideration of the questions at issue in executive session. No decision was reached yesterday, but so good an authority as the London Times has expressed the opinion that a decision will be reached that will determine the matter for all time. In England there has never been any acute sympathy with the Canadian contention, and it is apparent that a settlement, one even wholly in favor of the United States, would be accepted there with a sigh of relief. For the United States no other settlement has ever been thought of. Just at the moment London is discussing the difficulty of selecting an acceptable ambassador for Washington, to succeed the late Sir Michael Herbert, while the Alaska question is pending. The hope for a proper settlement rests upon Chief Justice Lord Alverstone, for the Canadian commissioners appear to have more prejudice in favor of their case than desire to reach an impartial adjudication.

It is notable that Germany is lending its voice for war between Russia and Japan. It is not mixing in directly, but appears to be encouraging the belligerents. It will be remembered that Germany also lent indirect encouragement to Spain before and during the war between the United States and that country. Germany gave open encouragement, but no assistance to the Boers in the war with England, but declined to countenance Oom Paul Kruger or the Boer delegates after the war was over. We do not infer from all this that Germany is bloodthirsty. It is simply looking to the commercial and industrial side. Germany is commercially ambitious. The tremendous military establishment it supports is a burden upon its wealth producers. It is a handicap to competition. But when its chief commercial rivals are involved in actual wartare, with the consequent taxation, the handicap is shifted, in a measure, to the other shoulder. Undoubtedly, the Boer war sent Great Britain from a bad state, industrially, to a worse and brought to a head the sentiment of that country for tariff protection. And unquestionably German trade profited by the diversion of British energies and the burden of British war taxs. Fighting nations, too, always need supplies.

The nomadic instinct in man, once aroused, seems hard to eradicate. For many generations the Methodist preacher has been a wanderer upon the face of the earth. It was part of John Wesley's system that no preacher should stay long enough in one place to preach himself out. Hence the time limit, which obliged a pastor to move on, no matter how much beloved by his congregation nor how much he liked to stay. The time limit was gradually extended until it became five years; but a few years ago the general conference, the supreme law-giving body in Methodism, abrogated it entirely. Pastors were free to stay, congregations could keep them as long as the relation was mutually agreeable. The change was welcomed with enthusiasm, but it does not look as if the enthusiasm has lasted. The Pittsburgh conference at its closing session yesterday passed a resolution memorializing the general conference, which meets at Los Angeles next May, to restore the time limit. Sixty-one ministers voted for the resolution and fifty-one against it. It seems that the preachers of the Methodist Episcopal church are a progressive body and wish to "move on." A paradoxical feature of the question is the fact that under the time limit of five years the average pastorate of the Methodist minister was longer than that in other denominations that had no time limit. Man is a creature of curious contradictions, revealed in ecclesiastical polity no less than in worldly affairs.

More Violated Pledges.

An exhibition was given by select council of the perfect understanding between the Democratic-Citizens managers and the "air-tight combine." As a result the linear tax ordinance is held up and the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances are kept where they have been for months to serve a private purpose. True, Councilman W. H. Stevenson, after conference with Murry A. Verner and William B. Hays, issued a statement assuming all blame for the amendment and consequent failure to pass of the linear license bill, but it is obvious on the face of the record that Verner, Hays and Thomas S. Bigelow are at least equally responsible.

The effect of yesterday's action is to give the appearance that something is being done to redeem campaign pledges, while there is no actual progress. Mr. Stevenson and his fellow "Orphans" are put in the attitude of being very easily duped, or of conniving with the Democratic-Citizens managers for the hold-up of reforms and of public business. The naive admission of one gross defect in the linear license ordinance that requires amendment and delay at this juncture is but an indication that more serious defects probably exist that will nullify it altogether. All such errors might have been avoided by reference to the city solicitor, as advocated by The Gazette, but that was apparently the very thing not wanted by those in charge of the affair. The plea against such reference was to avoid delay, yet a greater delay is occasioned by an amendment of one item that does not by any means guarantee the legality of the remainder of the bill.

Surprise has been felt by the public that the "Orphans" have seemed content with the advancement of one ordinance of extremely doubtful efficacy, in lieu of the program outlined in their first manifesto. If they can swallow this dose, including the willful refusal to take up the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances, as demanded by the "Orphans," the surprise may turn to suspicion. There is no reason for holding up the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances that can be stated publicly in defense of those who are doing it, so the cowardly alternative is adopted of running away from it. Labor is cheated of employment and the city deprived of legitimate revenues and needed facilities.

Nothing in the history of the old machine in Pittsburgh ever equaled the shameless working of this new Democratic-Citizens ring. Nothing in the history of Tammany ever exceeded it in unworthy motives or brazen disregard for the public welfare. It is no part of the plan of the Democratic-Citizens proprietors to give the public anything, though they are prolific of promises and pretenses in order to gain wider power to work their own alms.

There Is Money.

For conditions in the stock market during the past year one thing and another has been blamed, but mostly the money market situation—first, prospective and later presumably existent. First, it was declared that bankers were calling demand loans on collateral and refusing to renew other loans, as they became due, because they wanted to be in shape to move the crops, and more recently it has been explained that the crops are being moved and that money is too busy greasing the wheels of the movement to be available for the financing of purchases of stocks. It might be argued from this that there had been a decrease in the circulating medium of the United States in the past year instead of an actual increase of more than $100,000,000, and that when people wanted money for some purpose or other not in some way related to the crop movement they broke open the baby's bank and absorbed the pennies, or continued to want. Nevertheless, it is apparent that there is money in the country that is not engaged in crop moving, and that when the people have use for it they do not need to ask the permission of the bear influences in Wall street. For instance, at the 21st annual convention of the Christian and Missionary alliance in New York City on Sunday, when the Rev. A. B. Simpson, who has some reputation as a collector of funds for the purposes of the alliance, called for contributions, there was an offering in cash and pledges for missionary purposes of $95,167. This, be it remembered, was on the Sabbath day, when it is the rule that there is not much money in circulation.

The ability of the missionary to raise money for use in religious efforts is a cheerful enlightener that Wall street is not the whole show. It is not only the Christian and Missionary alliance that is prospering, but also the churches and secular institutions that are out of range of the pessimism prevailing in the shades of Gotham's temple of speculation. The people continue buying and selling, eating and drinking and paying the cost, wearing clothes and settling the bills for them with real money, marrying and giving in marriage and feeing the parson, settling for their house rent on the dot and generally doing unto others as they would have others do to them in all their financial relations. In time—when the crops have been moved—this general condition will be noted in the jungles of New York City, the home and haunt of the Tammany tiger and other wild animals, and the United States will prevail over the metropolis. At any rate, Thanksgiving day need not be postponed. There is abundance to give thanks for.

Another Flagrant Exhibit.

The transfer of $1,800 from the downtown water improvement fund to a special purpose in the East End was passed by common council upon the statement by Director E. M. Bigelow that contracts for all of the downtown improvements have been let and that this money will not be needed. The matter was not so understood when the finance committee considered the transfer. Of course, if the amount is surplus, there will be no objection to its transfer, but it will be well for those interested to scrutinize the downtown contracts closely to see that the needed improvements are fully provided for.

Beyond this matter the interest in common council centered upon the fresh exhibition by the Democratic-Citizens members of that body that promised reforms are not to be made. Mr. Wasson's resolution to take up the matter of the delinquent tax collector's office was defeated by a vote of 14 to 21, with only two Democratic-Citizens members voting in the affirmative. The two names on the honor roll are those of William C. Reitz and William Behner. The others lined themselves up with their fellows in Allegheny as being opposed to the fulfillment of their platform pledges.

These repeated exhibitions of unfaithfulness characterize the Democratic-Citizens party more strongly than any words could. They are astonishing revelations of political buncombe, all the more startling, as well as more instructive, because flaunted in the faces of citizens in the midst of a campaign in which the payroll brigade is expected to carry the election.

Illness and Politics.

The Hon. J. K. P. Hall, chairman of the Democratic state committee, is reported to be confined to his home at Ridgway, in Elk county, with an attack of pleurisy. Aside from his Democracy, Senator Hall is a good citizen and an enterprising one, and it may be said with entire truth that even in campaign times his Democracy, owing to the superior quality of Pennsylvania intelligence, doesn't cut much of a figure and no ice worth mentioning outside his senatorial district. Therefore, his illness has no political significance. The balloting of November 3 will be unaffected by his absence from or presence at headquarters, and the pleurisy that troubles him is in consequence a purely personal matter, and wholly an individual and not a party affliction. Pleurisy is an unpleasant and somewhat dangerous thing to have, and we would wish the senator from Elk county a speedy deliverance from it, even were it the case that its hold upon him would further reduce the Democratic majority, and we would wish him a speedy good riddance of his tribulation, even if the riddance should operate to swell the Democratic vote. And we do wish him a happy deliverance and a good riddance and complete restoration to health and strength, and the full enjoyment of the good things he is enabled to provide for himself as a participant in the blessings and benefits of the all-pervading Republican prosperity.

During Mr. Hall's illness Democratic state headquarters and the honor of the Democratic party are in the keeping of the Hon. P. Gray Meek, former state senator from Center county, who is a tried journalist and who has kept step with the Democracy in its good fortune and bad fortune, but through force of circumstances and faithfulness to a party name, mostly in its bad fortune. He is aided in his headquarters work, we are told, by a man clerk and a woman stenographer, but what the headquarters work consists of and why there should be any is not explained. As a matter of fact there is no real work at the Pennsylvania Democratic headquarters. Such movement as is being kept up is merely for appearance sake. The Democracy of Pennsylvania is merely marking time. It really isn't doing anything that causes any one any concern, and it doesn't expect to accomplish anything. Its state platform hardly reveals that it is Democratic, though its candidates will bear the Democratic label on the official ballot. Really, about all it is doing amounts to "loafing on its job" and hoping that the postoffices and places in the revenue service may be achieved by the electoral votes of other states, but whether under Bryan influences or the influence of the sage of Princeton is a matter of supreme indifference. Secretary Meek can supervise this inaction just as well as Chairman Hall, and inasmuch as he can do so Mr. Hall ought to take plenty of time at home to fully restore his health instead of endangering it by getting out and courting a relapse before he is in condition to grapple with the vagaries of the weather. We hope, therefore, that he will remain in the house until his physician says he may leave it, and while we trust that he will be able to leave it soon; our personal regard dictates the advice that he refrain from too great haste to be well. Mr. Hall, of course, knows that the Democratic party is suffering from an illness that he cannot cure, and he should govern himself accordingly.

According to the national civil service commission there is so much prosperity in Pittsburgh that the salaries attached to places in the government service fail to attract. This is the silver lining which the east has failed to notice.

Wall street securities are now within the reach of the masses, but it is only when such things are just out of reach or disappearing around the corner that people are really hungry for them.

The news that 50,000,000 pounds of rubber was imported into the United States during the past year suggests that now is the time to start that elastic currency.

John T. Trowbridge has lived such a retired life during the last few years that he had almost passed from public notice until he celebrated his 76th birthday recently, when the announcement was made that the author of "Darius Green and His Flying Machine," and of "The Vagabonds" had completed his autobiography. It was in 1847 that the author went to New York and tried vainly to secure work. "The Vagabonds" made him famous in 1863. His first book, "Father Brighthopes," appeared in 1853, and his latest, with the exception of his autobiography, was "The Biddicut Boys," in 1898. At 76 John T. Trowbridge is enjoying good health. He says he has not quit writing.

In Praise of the Apple.

The apple is the most democratic of all fruits. The pomegranate is priestly; the grape is royal; the orange is luxurious; the peach and pear are plutocratic, but the apple belongs to the populace. It is symbolic of the country store and the corner grocery. It breathes the free spirit of the American township and village. It has a flavor of old New England and yet a pungency as of the south and middle west. It is mild, palatable, nourishing and promotive of good fellowship and long life.—Atlanta Journal.

A PROTEST.

If she'd only keep from chewing, chewing, chewing all the day
In that horrifying way,
If she just knew what she looked like as she does it anyhow—
So suggestive of a cow;
How it mars the perfect outline of her plump and peachy cheek
To the contour of a freak
With a jaw of india rubber, she would stop it,
I am sure—
Yes, that should effect a cure.

She's just as sweet and pretty as she possibly can be
And it really seems to me
Quite a pity that a victim to the habit she should fall.
I don't like the thing at all.
Its effect may be quite soothing to her nerves,
but it is rough
On us others—it's enough
To impel her friends to seize her and to force her to get rid
Of the wretched, sticky quid.

She is chewing, chewing, chewing, she is chewing all the time.
Yet it is not any crime
To be always agitating in that ugly way her jaw.
I don't know of any law
She transgresses when she does it that is on the statute books.
I don't care how queer she looks,
But I wish at least she would not—that is really hard to bear—
Leave her gum upon my chair.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Would you like to go over a battlefield the next day after the fight?

Of course, you would expect to see dead bodies strewn thickly around, with great splotches of clotted blood, and the ground, leaves and grass stained with gore, and marks of shot and shell everywhere.

And, of course, you would be disappointed, for such conditions do not exist, cannot exist.

In the first place there have never been men enough in any two contending armies to thickly strew the ground with dead bodies if all had been killed. Nor would there have been blood enough to make a flowing stream as large as your finger, were it all directed into one channel. And then you know that blood is not red after it has been exposed to the air for a short time.

The Perryville field would extend from Allegheny to Sewickley, reaching back two or three miles. The ground was cut up with hills and hollows, not unlike the country around our own Perrysville, but with more timber, mostly oak of large growth.

You can readily understand that it would be impossible to thickly strew such a large stretch of territory with dead bodies. Even the spots where the hardest fighting occurred were much too extensive to be "literally covered with fallen heroes," as some of the newspaper accounts stated.

* * * * *

FIELD HOSPITAL, Oct. 10, 1862.

The ambulances continue to bring in wounded from the battlefield, many of whom are in such bad condition that they can be moved only with the greatest care. Some of these had been attended by rebel surgeons. Our surgeons did as much for their wounded who happened to come within their reach.

Ambulance men say the rebels stripped and robbed our dead. They needed their clothes. Some of those who were too badly wounded to resist were also robbed. They say these robbers were all mean, hard cases, and not decent-looking soldiers.

The rebels left about all of their dead for us to bury—not a very kind thing for them to do. But then they are not in the kindness business—at least not toward our soldiers.

In company with Henry Ault and D. L. Kemp of Company E I went out to the battlefield this morning. There was no difficulty in finding the ground on which we fought. It looked natural, and was far quieter and more healthful than when we last saw it. Here and there a tree showed bullet marks, and a few had been skelped by pieces of shell. In the timbered portion the ground was found covered with leaves, small twigs and limbs that had been cut off by shells and bullets. But nowhere did we find the ground all torn up and deeply furrowed, as the papers say.

From the edge of the woods back for the distance of about a mile lay the field in which our division operated. It was here that the hardest fighting and the most killing was done; and yet there were no heaps of dead in sight. The movements of the Ninety-eighth appear to have extended over something like 25 acres or more, and as far as we know now it left 25 dead on the field.

We found that nearly all of our men have been recently buried, and their graves carefully marked, so they may be easily found. Those of my own company were buried together under a tree near where we received the first heavy volley, and where so many of us got our dose, fatal or otherwise. Their initials were cut on the side of the tree. Their names were John Evans, shot through the neck; Michael Delaney, shot through the head; Isaac Reeder, shot through the head; Nicholas Fisher, shot through the abdomen.

Work of burying the rebel dead going on briskly, but it is anything but an agreeable task. For some reason their bodies have swelled awfully and are as black as if they had lain in the sun for a week. Of the many I saw there was not one that could have been recognized by his features on account of the swollen and putrid condition of the face.

Our dead do not present these disagreeable conditions. And old citizen told us that their men had been given whisky and gunpowder to drink, which caused them to swell up and turn black after death. I have heard that in previous wars it was the custom to give the men the whisky and gunpowder mixture to make them brave. We don't even get the whisky, without the powder, and no doubt we are all the better off without it.

Among them was a fat fellow with a big haversack filled with nice-looking biscuits, which had evidently been given to him by some admiring ladies of Perryville, judging from the tone of a note found among them. They had also given him a silver, or plated, knife, fork and spoon, which were carefully wrapped in a fine linen napkin. The biscuit looked all right, but we didn't eat them. One of the burying squad said he thought the tableware too good to be lost, so he put them in his pocket.

The men detailed to bury the dead rebels had become disgusted with the work, and for that reason, more than any other, they were neither ceremonious nor altogether respectful about it. The bodies were carried in on stretchers or hand-spikes and laid in a row beside the ditch which another squad was digging. This was just wide enough to admit the body and about three feet deep. On account of the bad condition of the bodies they were rolled in with hand-spikes, the most of them being unfit to handle. When one tumbled in face downward he was left just so, as the men thought it would make no difference to him, while to turn him over would cause them a lot of nasty work.

Burying the dead is a most undesirable job at best, and after being followed up for awhile becomes tiresome and disgusting. However, the interments are always deep enough to secure the bodies against being dug up by dogs or other animals. The graves of the rebels were marked the same as our own men, with boards bearing their names, as far as could be learned.

We went over to where our battery, Nineteenth Indiana, Capt. Harris, was posted when the enemy charged and took it. Here, as well as where Loomis' battery stood, the ground was torn up a good deal, and there were a number of dead horses lying around with their feet up in the air. It seems that when they become greatly distended with gas their bodies turn with the feet up. A good many of the horses had been killed by cannon balls or shells, while some had been badly hurt and afterward killed by the batterymen to put them out of misery.

Scattered over this part of the field were a number of solid shot and unexploded shells. Two or three of the latter had been thrown into a smoldering fire left by the pickets; and while we were examining a percussion shell they exploded, scattering fire, ashes and pieces of wood in all directions. Fortunately, we were at a safe distance. An old "butternut," who was on the other side, took to his heels and ran for dear life as far as we could see him.

Another old secesh residenter and his two stupid-looking boys came along with a basket in which they had some unexploded shells, which they thought were worth taking home. We showed them what had just happened, and the old man emptied his basket with great care, and started for home. We told him these were time shells and liable to go off at any time. One of the boys wanted to know if the bullets he had in his pocket would "bust that away." We replied that all these dead men had been killed by just such bullets, and he began hustling them out fast. He had some unused cartridges which we told him to throw in the fire. When the powder caught and puffed up the boys were scared nearly white. They were not long in getting rid of their stock of bullets, and scooted for home as fast as their legs would carry them.

Rain began falling about noon. An old soldier, one of the "regulars," said this always happens. He said the rain god mistook the artillery firing for thunder and sent on a supply of rain to match.

When we got back to camp we learned that all the sick and wounded had been ordered to Perryville. Those of us who could walk started about dusk, thinking the town lay just over the hill, but we discovered that it was fully three miles, and we were mighty near being played out when we got there, besides being wet, cold and hungry.

We stopped in the M. E. church, but it was dark and cold, and there wasn't a bite to eat, and no place to sleep except on hard, uncushioned seats. Our pallets of straw back in camp were more comfortable. There are sick or wounded in almost every house in town. Many of the people refuse to admit Yankees, but if their houses are not full of secesh soldiers our fellows go in anyhow.

As the night grew the rain fell faster, so that there was no chance to skirmish for grub, beds or anything. So we settled down to rest and to sleep on the soft side of a hard bench. The fact that it was a church didn't make it any softer.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—If anything could dampen the enthusiasm of the average commuter for a country home it would be a disaster which began on Friday and the effects of which have been felt ever since. Hidebound New Yorkers, who would not live outside of the boundaries of Manhattan for the sake of a rent-free home, have been expecting that the floods and obstructed train service would result in a general rush back to town of men who live from 10 to 20 miles away in the country while transacting business daily in New York. But not for the commuter. He is the most good-tempered of citizens, and even now, when he has weird stories to tell of washed-out tracks, stalled trains, muddy roads, and flooded cellars for the delectation of the self-satisfied flat dweller, he would not change his mode of life if he could. What is a little water—or a great deal—to the commuter? He has become accustomed to waiting hours for trains, to plodding through streams where the roads used to be, and to finding his house in darkness because the gas works are 10 feet under water. All these things are unpleasant, of course. But then, as he says, with a cheerful smile, it is not always raining hard in the country, and snow covers the landscape for only part of the year. He tells you that he could not breathe in a flat, and that the idea of looking out of windows into an air shaft, instead of over a wide expanse of country—even when most of it is under water—would be unbearable to his free and untrammeled nature. There will be just as many commuters going to and fro all winter as if there had not been a heavy rain since last spring. Suburban real estate dealers know that, too, and they are as cheerful as the commuters. Only the city dweller cannot understand it.

Hotels a Temporary Expedient.

Hotelkeepers in Manhattan have had for the last few days a class of patrons which they get only occasionally. Commuters who were afraid to venture on the railroads while train service was uncertain have been staying in town, putting up at the various hotels, mostly down town. One consequence of this unwonted preceding on the part of suburbanites has been that many other guests have had to sleep on cots. The commuter, it is noticed, generally gets a regular bedroom. He stands in with the clerks.

Dowie Not Popular in New York.

Dowie, the "Elijah," will not find the feeling toward him in New York altogether friendly. When he comes here to evangelize Father Knickerbocker he will be met with resentment by many people, especially of the ministry. The Rev. Cortland Myers, pastor of the Baptist temple in Brooklyn, says he is "the very essence of self-conceit and selfishness." There is a general sentiment here that Dowie is not wanted, and that, while probably his crusade will be profitable to himself, it will not leave this city any better when he has finished his campaign.

Treat to Police Court Habitues.

Admirers of "the fancy" had a treat in Yorkville police court, which is uptown on the East Side, this morning. Jack Monroe, the Butte miner, and other gentlemen more or less distinguished in pugilistic circles, were arraigned for attempting to aid and abet a prize fight in Charendon hall last night. The police broke in and stopped the proceedings ere they had well begun. Although the "pugs" seemed much discomfited when they were carted away in patrol wagons last evening they had recovered their equanimity today. Those that were held for court took their medicine without comment, while the lucky ones who were only "warned" by the court smiled grimly. Aside from the legal aspects of the matter it was a great display of the apostles of the hit, stop and get away, and the court room was crowded with spectators who would have paid rather than allow themselves to miss it.

Holding Forth at the Same Old Stand.

It looks like old times to see the announcement at the Hotel Bartholdi that it is the Democratic headquarters for the campaign. In all the big political fights for years this hostelry, overlooking Madison square, has been the abiding place of those who managed the campaigns and the bustle at that corner has attracted the attention of every stranger who passed the place. George B. McClellan, Tammany candidate for mayor, opened the headquarters this morning and he has stayed there all day, indicating that he means to be active personally in the fight. This is taken by his friends to be good business, because it will give New Yorkers an idea that as mayor he would be equally industrious. Whether he would be or not, perhaps he never may have a chance to show, but he certainly has got through a great deal of work today. The whole place looks like business in every sense of the word.

Devery Makes an Accurate Estimate.

Resplendent in new red, white and blue paint, artistically and patriotically displayed in the stars and stripes, the "pump" at Twenty-eighth street and Eighth avenue supported the ponderous form of Big Bill Devery this afternoon. He was holding forth as usual on Tammany and its delinquencies, with a large and admiring group taking in every word. Singling out a quiet looking youth, Devery addressed himself straight to him with these words: "Young man, you and I and all the people of this great city are living in the midst of the biggest lot of political grafters that the world has ever seen. They've stolen about everything except the sun and the stars, and Charlie Murphy's contracting company is trying to make a ladder long enough to reach them. Why, those fellers won't leave the people a thing if you give them a new foothold. I don't know if they'll leave the city hall." While this tirade may strike persons outside of New York as severe, there are plenty of conservative New Yorkers who think that Devery knows the situation here as well as any man between the Battery and West Chester.

Woman Croker Hustles for Votes.

There is a woman in New York who is proud of being called "The woman Croker of the East Side." She works for Tammany in that classic district known of old as "De Ate," her husband being alderman. This "woman Croker" owns a bonnet shop in Division street, and she says she has always been interested in politics. There are people who doubt whether such luster shines in the name of Richard Croker as to illuminate everything in its radius. But this milliner says she feels honored when people call her "the woman Croker." If she were not a woman, she might become boss of Tammany Hall, although Charles Murphy only smiles at even the faintest suggestion that anyone but himself will hold the Tiger in leading strings until he is ready to drop out.

White House Cranks.

Recent events have demonstrated anew the necessity of maintaining some kind of a guard for the protection of the president. Within a month three persons have been arrested while trying to force their way to the president, one at Oyster Bay and two in Washington. The two arrests made at Washington were on two successive days of men from widely separated parts of the country, one from Minneapolis and one from Norwich, Conn. Both were insane and both were armed. While there is no evidence that they were seeking the president's life, the fact that they were insane, that they insisted on seeing the president and that they resisted arrest shows they were dangerous persons.

In view of the terrible experience the country has had in having three presidents assassinated, and in view of these repeated attempts of dangerous persons to force themselves into the presence of President Roosevelt, every reasonable person must recognize the importance of keeping some kind of a guard about the president at all times. President Roosevelt is a courageous and athletic man and could take care of himself in any ordinary circumstances, but no person is safe from the bullet of an Anarchist, lunatic or crank. It is not the individual that these dangerous persons are after, it is the president of the United States. They have no dislike for the president himself, but the greatness of his office acts on their disordered minds in such a way as to develop the murderous mania. * * * The time has come when the country must recognize the necessity of maintaining some kind of a guard around the president, though just how to do it is not easy to decide.—Indianapolis Journal.

In Berlin, as in other foreign capitals, there is a failure to understand why a closer guard of the president is not kept. Many of our own people question whether proper vigilance has been exercised in dealing with the classes who are dangerous because mentally unbalanced, or because committed to the doctrine that the way to universal freedom is through the murder of all representatives of organized government. Three of the last seven presidents elected in this country have been assassinated. President Roosevelt called attention to this alarming fact in his first message, accompanying it with specific recommendations that Anarchists and their literature be suppressed; that the federal courts be given jurisdiction over any man killing or attempting to kill a president or any one in the line of succession under the Constitution or laws, and that treaties be drawn between the civilized powers for the overthrow of anarchism. No man in the position could have done this with better grace or with less danger of being charged with acting under personal fear, yet nothing came of it except what appears in a practically useless section of the immigration laws providing for the deportation of Anarchists, leaving the question of catching your Anarchists and proving them such an open one.

The sentiment of a people who elect their own chief executive is against having to guard him as though he were an absolute monarch and a tyrant, but there is the practical question forced by three assassinations and as many attempts by suspicious persons to get at the president, either in the White House or at Sagamore hill. It is developed, however, that he is better protected than any of his predecessors, but he is none too carefully guarded for all that.—Detroit Free Press.

It is a question whether the papers which make the repeated efforts of cranks to see the president the text of demands for a permanent military guard surrounding the White House are not helping along the very nuisance they aim to suppress. Mentally unbalanced persons are pretty constantly seeking access to mayors, governors, and in fact, all prominent executive officials throughout the country, but their attempts seldom reach sypublicity. When an individual of this description endeavors to get through the doors of the White House and is turned back by the detectives on service there, the incident is spread broadcast in the news and frequently made the theme of more or less hysterical comment—all of which directly tends to inspire other cranks to go and do likewise. It is not at all improbable that more than one of these crazy visitants has had the notion of trying to "see the president" put into his mind by just such means as this.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

\+ \+ \+ \+

It is difficult to see how any legislation can be framed which will serve to lessen the number of "cranks" who seek access to the person of the president with or without murderous intent. The "crank" is superior to legislation. When he has firmly fixed in his head his one idea—that the president owes him a job, or that he is engaged to the president's daughter, or that his personal advice is necessary for the country's safety, or whatever it may be—no rule printed in the statute books will serve to turn him aside. Nor is there any way to distinguish between a dangerous and a harmless "crank" until he has actually started to carry out his purposes.—Chicago Record-Herald.

\+ \+ \+ \+

This thing of armed "cranks" making their way into the president's house is getting dangerously frequent. The country has had three tragic lessons within 40 years as to the possibility of the success of crazy plots against the lives of presidents, but a foolish sentiment which parades itself as democratic principle refuses to allow the person of the chief executive that protection which the country owes one who assumes, with the unique dangers which experience has shown surround it, this exalted office.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Compensation for Franchises.

The growing tendency of cities and towns to insist upon some return for valuable franchises granted to trolley companies has another illustration at Haddonfield, N. J., where an earnest effort is being made to pass such an ordinance as is necessary to get the courts to order a trolley company to remove at its own expense tracks laid upon one of the streets a number of years ago which have never been used. The purpose is a twofold one—to remove a present nuisance and source of danger and to arrive at a position where if a subsequent franchise is demanded by public necessities in future years it can be granted with proper conditions as to the kind of track to be laid and for proper paving compensation to be made by the company. The effort to acquire control of its own street now being made by the borough of Haddonfield ought to meet with success if the borough authorities are faithful to their duties and awake to their opportunities. If the case once reaches the law courts of the state a long line of decisions would appear to give it plain sailing.—Philadelphia Press.

Music and Comedy in the Theatres

ALVIN

Alvin—Sultan of Sulu.

A scintillating costumed tribute to the American cocktail! That is what George Ade's comic opera "The Sultan of Sulu" is. Of course there are several other things, but after you have sifted out the trimmings the plot resolves itself around that cherry in the bottom of the glass, Kiram, ruler of the island of Sulu in the Philippines, goes through a process of assimilation during the two acts of the opera and there is much quiet satire and many sly digs at this and that American social, marital and political peculiarity, but the spice of the plot is the piece of cherry and the climax of the "foolin'" lies in the "head" that the Sultan of Sulu has after "lifting twenty-three of those arrangements" into his anatomy at one sitting. There are not a few bright quilps in the book of this first Ade opera and the story is cleverly handled by Frank Moulan, a comedian who has a great future, but after all is said and done the piece is conventional in structure and has its bare spots. Ade's libretto shows a distinct advance in humorous dialogue over what we have been accustomed to recently in the books of musical plays, but there is not enough of this brightness. The two acts seem a little thin on this account, for when Ade is not to the fore with his satire the dialogue and plot grow conventional, notwithstanding the fact that this is the first invasion of our new territory for comic opera purposes. The story is coherent and relates the successful installation of the Sultan of Sulu and—incidentally, his eight wives. There is the usual mixup of affairs caused by the too much married state of the sultan. There is a group of United States soldiers, led by a colonel of volunteers. Of course, comic opera takes all sorts of liberties with the actual facts of life, but it is rather a singular anachronism that allows the officers of our army in 1899 to wear an insignia that was not adopted until July 1st, 1903, while the manual of arms used is of the Upton tactics, were out of date long before 1899. The colonel, too, a big, handsome fellow, is allowed to wear a red belt with his white flannel uniform and the non-commissioned officers wear stripes on their trousers, a thing never heard of in American military practice. But then who can quarrel with liberties of this kind after the liberties that Ade has taken with the cocktail, to say nothing of the Constitution and the flag, three things which he naively declares follow, in reversed order.

Mr. Alfred G. Walthall has written the music for Ade's nonsense, and some of it is fittingly tuneful and atmospheric. It goes admirably with the libretto and in one or two instances goes above it. The people who interpret the skit are clever without being distinguished, except Moulan, who is both clever and distinguished. His humor is of a quiet kind and he has a facial expression that is excruciatingly funny. His REMORSE song was one of the cleverest of the libretto, and he sang it with an unctuous humor that was irresistible. Moulan is going to be heard from. Miss Gertrude Quinlan can dance and swish her carmine petticoats in the most bewildering fashion, but she can't sing a little bit. Miss Maud Lilian Berri is a stately young woman with a variety of bewitching gowns and a voice that made something of a hit in her "Carmena" song in the last act. Walter Lawrence as Captain Hardy has possibly the best vocal equipment in the company. Miss Blanche Chapman as a female judge-advocate was clever, though it was rather startling to find a judge-advocate, even in the Philippines, doing a crazy cake-walk dance to the accompaniment of a pair of purple-clad ankles. Fred Wear is a fine comedian and makes an excellent foil for Moulan. John J. Fogarty and his partner of vaudeville days, O'Dare, make a picturesque pair of Sulu politicians. The opera is handsomely mounted, especially the last act, which is quite beautiful.

Grand—When We Were Twenty-One.

The stock company has rarely been seen to better advantage than in Henry V. Esmond's comedy, "When We Were Twenty-One." The play tells a story of modern English life and centers about four friends—the Three Musketeers and D'Artagnan in present-day guise—who joint guardians over a young man, the son of another friend who died years before and left his boy to their care. The boy's engagement to Phyllis, the daughter of the guardian's housekeeper, has been brought about by that guardian, in spite of the fact that the young people do not love each other. When the boy becomes infatuated with a notorious music hall singer and his guardian tries first to shield him from his fiancee, then to take the "Firefly" away from him, a series of powerful dramatic situations and climaxes, both humorous and pathetic, results. In the end, of course, everything turns out happily; the boy repents his folly, the girl discovers her love for his guardian, and the Trinity, his three old friends, have nothing left but to offer congratulations.

The play is somewhat broad in places, but the lesson it teaches is so wholesome and so tellingly put that no one can take offense. And the stock company rendered it in a way that left little to be desired. Miss Taylor did some excellent comedy work, in the second act especially, while Mr. Ingersoll played Richard Carewe splendidly, with just a bit of a tendency to become too sentimental in the lachrymose parts. Charles Abbe, as usual, carried off the honors of the evening by a comedy portrayal that was exquisitely natural and exquisitely humorous. Mace Greenleaf as the "Imp" played with much force and restraint. Splendid work was also done by William McVay as "the soldier man," Edwin Dudley as the doctor, Ida Adair as the "Firefly" and Marion Berg as Eileen O'Dugan.

The stage settings and lighting were perfect, with one decided incongruity—two flashy theatrical photographs on the mantel of an old English house, to represent the ancestors of "the Imp," would have seemed more in place in the lobby of the theater.

Empire—"The Girl and the Judge."

It is Eugenia Blair's daughter who is cast as the star in Clyde Fitch's pretty comedy, "The Girl and the Judge," which appears at the Empire this week. This alone gives an unusual interest to the performance. But the fact that a slip of a girl with only 18 summers behind her should be on a starring tour in the leading cities of the country is not only in itself a remarkable thing, but shows that Eleanor Montell possesses talent of a superior order that may enable her to take rank with her mother as an actress of national reputation. If her hearers were a bit disappointed last night, it is probably because they expected too much, in her own simple way, that has a certain charm about it. Miss Montell is sure to gain in favor the longer you know her, as was shown clearly last night by the cordial feeling that was manifested toward her in the third act. As Winifred Stanton, the beautiful daughter of a mismated couple, she may seem a trifle affected at first, but this impression wears away as she works out the deep emotions of her part and gives to it the character that is a little lacking in the first scenes. In her conception of a daughter's feeling for a mother who has brought shame upon her and nearly blighted her prospects of happiness, Miss Montell shows that she can bring out successfully the difficult spectacle of a loving woman deeply wronged. Her youth and beauty, and a decided charm of manner, are sure to make many friends for the gifted young star.

One other name in the cast deserves to rank high among the persons who have gained especial favor at the Empire this season. This is Ethel Blande, the dignified and animated mother of Judge Chartris. Mrs. Chartris is a polished, jolly, sensible mamma, one of the sort that goes straight to the heart of every man who has been in love or imagines he could be. It is Ethel Blande who stars in a part that is always popular, but so often poorly presented. The Judge himself, Harry Keenan, is no mean ideal of a lover, and causes much amusement by his awkward attempts to win an unsophisticated girl from her parents. Considerable humor is thrown into the performance by the typical pawnshop venders, Cora Wells and Arthur Schwartz, who are all the time at home in their respective roles.

Avenue—Miss Mabel McKinley.

Certainly it would seem that vaudeville had reached the limit of managerial daring to be able to use the social prestige and family connections of a name known and honored from one end of the country to the other. Of this phase of the star act at the Avenue theater this week there is no need that more should be said, for Miss Mabel McKinley, the daughter of Abner McKinley of Somerset, Pa., came by her name and her social prestige without any will or effort of her own. She got her voice by her own efforts and study, and that is quite a sufficient recommendation in her present position. Miss McKinley has a remarkably pleasant and effective voice. Its tonal quality is admirable, though sometimes lacking in sweetness, but in volume, range and expression it is all that could be desired and won on its own merits hearty applause from crowded audiences at the Avenue yesterday afternoon and evening.

Miss McKinley has an appealing personality. When she approaches the footlights there is a distinct but wholly sympathetic shock at sight of the polished ivory crutches that bear the weight of the stately, gorgeously gowned young woman. One look at her strong, handsome face, in which youthful vigor and enthusiasm blend, convinces you, however, that the crutches are not a badge of pain. Miss McKinley has an expressive face and is in person most attractive to the eye. When she sings you forget all but her voice. A selection from Arditi's "Il Baccio," a simple southern melody, the Indian song, "Amona," both of which Miss McKinley wrote herself, and "Starlight," a love morceau, compose her repertoire. The audiences yesterday were exceedingly cordial to all in the evening, large numbers of Miss McKinley's personal and social friends were present.

Among the flowers that were passed over the footlights was a handsome floral piece from the young star's mother, who without Miss McKinley's knowledge had come to Pittsburgh from Somerset and was in the audience.

Beyond this star act the bill at the Avenue is replete with good things of vaudeville estandard, with here and there an act of ancient vintage. The Barrows-Lancaster Co. do a comedy by Edmund Day with unctious humor. The Nichols sisters are quite the best "black face" team on the vaudeville stage. These young women, wonderful to relate, give us the "real thing" in "negro foolin'." They have evidently gathered their local coloring from the land where the genuine article grows. Joe Flynn, with a bunch of nonsense, raised a storm of laughter as usual. The Scott brothers are a remarkable team of acrobats. Maude Ruth, Ollie Young and brother, Barlow and Nicholson (the Barlow end of the combination is a son of our old friend Mr. Barlow), Nevins and Russell, together with the cinematograph, are some of the excellent things that go to fill up the program.

Owing to the demand for seats Manager Davis has opened another box office in the lobby to avoid the crowding an annoyance.

Duquesne—The Rays.

Every act on the program at the Duquesne theater last night was well and deservedly applauded, the entertainment being of the sort calculated to please a variety of tastes. The chief attraction is, of course, the Rays in "Casey the Fireman," the rollicking one-act farce which offers all the scope of their "Hot Old Time." The musical Colby family were accorded their usual hearty reception. They have made some changes in their performance since they were here last and the new business has all the usual Colby merit. Eva Lodge in her quick character changes as "The Military Maid" received almost as much applause as did the Rays and the Colbys. All three acts have been seen here before and all are prime favorites. The greatest novelty of the evening was the manikin impersonations of Fanny Rice, McIntyre and Primrose, blackface comedians, have a good dialogue, and the four flying Bauvards offer an acrobatic stunt of good quality. Rosatre, the wire-walker, performs some difficult feats which would be better appreciated if he would inject a little life into his act. Old Dan Mason received a hearty hand for a German monologue reminiscent of twenty years ago.

The People of "Everyman."

The old morality play, "Everyman," inaugurated its second week in Pittsburgh at Carnegie music hall last evening. Interest in this rare and beautiful old allegory of the middle ages is increasing as the public comes more to understand its fine dramatic appeal, its clear and direct appeal to the conscience and intelligence. Below is printed a list of the players in "Everyman," the only publication so far made in Pittsburgh, as it is Mr. Greet's invariable rule to suppress the names of his players, preferring, as he does, art to personality as a means of inviting attention to this remarkable production. The characters are given in the order in which they appear on the stage:

Messenger	Dallas Anderson
Adonai	Henry Willis
(The Deity heard off stage in America.)
Dethe	John Sayer Crawley
(Husband to Everyman.)
Everyman	Miss Constance Crawley
Fetaship	Robert Smiley
Costin	Frank McEnter
Kynrede	Miss Grace Hope
Goodes	Clive Currie
Good Deedes	Miss Alice Rees
Knolege	Miss Anne Walters
Confession	Herbert Gaston
Beaute	Miss Mildred Howard
Strengthe	Miss Margaret Buchanan
Five Wittes	Miss Cecilia Griffiths
Dyscretion	Miss Agnes Scott
Angell	Miss Mildred Jones

Bijou—"Busy Izzy."

The stage Jew has reached the dignity of his more advanced cotemporary, the tramp, and no fanfare of trumpets or explanatory epilogue is needed to tell of his whims. The ideal in make-up and mannerisms of the footlight Hebrew is found in George Sidney's merry musical farce, "Busy Izzy," which has the boards at the Bijou theater. "Busy Izzy" has been seen here before, but last year's business will be eclipsed, so popular has the piece become. In its two acts there is a convenient arrangement of diversion and there is not a dull moment, farcical climaxes and diverting songs and dances being cleverly interwoven into grotesque scenes which revolve about the inimitable Sidney. A shop girls' chorus is not new, but when the girls are pretty and are well costumed, like those in the chorus of "Busy Izzy," all the merits of novelty are not lacking.

Academy—Harry Bryant's Burlesquers.

With a program full of novelty and with enough variety to satisfy any audience, Harry Bryant opened at the Academy last evening to the usual crowded house. The settings, costumes and dialogue were above the average and every act was deserving of the applause bestowed. Opening with a burlesque containing a real plot and ending with a hilarious travesty on Uncle Tom's Cabin, it differs somewhat from the regular path followed by other performances at this house. The olio shows careful selections and includes such artists as Darmondy, well-earning the title of the world's greatest club manipulator; the Rackets, in a novelty sketch, Casmore and Florence, Kennedy and Cameron and finally the Imperial Japanese troupe of acrobats, often seen here before, but an act which has never been duplicated, most notably the juggling of the youngest artist of the troupe on the feet of one of the older members, and the slide from the balcony to the stage on a rope completing a most thrilling and daring act.

Julia Marlowe in "Fools of Nature."

Unusual interest is manifested in the engagement of Miss Julia Marlowe, which begins at the Alvin theater next Mondty night, when she will appear under the management of C. B. Dillingham, in a new comedy of English society life, by H. V. Esmond, entitled "Fools of Nature." Miss Marlowe will appear as Martia, Lady Branchester. It is the first time in her career that she portrays the role of a fashionable society woman of current date.

PERSONALS

Frank T. Albertson of Cleveland tells of a narrow escape which he had at Union station early last evening. As the train was pulling into the shed he started to get off the car. He was about to step off the car on to a parallel track, when he heard some person shouting. His intuition led him to keep on the car, though he had already let go with one hand and was clinging to the car with the other. Another train came rolling along on the track where he had intended to alight. Had he let go he would have been instantly killed; as it was he only had his clothes slightly torn.

John A. Penton of Dtroit, secretary of the National Foundry association, spent yesterday in Pittsburgh on his way to New York to attend a meeting of the association, at which the question of the molders' helpers' scale will come up for consideration. The molders' strike last spring was settled by an arrangement that permitted an alteration in the helpers' scale. When the National Foundry association met Mr. Penton refused to make a prediction as to what changes, if any, would be made. He admitted, however, that the foundry business was in a poor condition.

Col. W. S. Cappeller, editor and proprietor of the Mansfield News, postmaster at Mansfield, O., and one of the leading Republicans of the Buckeye state, was in Pittsburgh yesterday on business. He declares that there is no doubt of the success of the Republican state ticket in Ohio, and is certain that Senator Hanna will be re-elected.

"Should the Pittsburgh ball team meet the Bostons tomorrow, it will be under unfavorable circumstances," said E. J. Conley at the Seventh Avenue hotel last evening. Mr. Conley arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon from New York. He says the ball ground is in a terrible condition from the effect of steady rain.

William M. Stevenson, librarian of the Carnegie library, Allegheny, returned yesterday from Gettysburg, where he attended the third annual meeting of the Keystone State Library association. On one day of the session Miss Agnes M. Elliott, librarian of the West End Carnegie library branch, presided over a meeting.

Mrs. Abner McKinley, mother of Miss Mabel McKinley, arrived in the city yesterday from her home in Somerset and is at the Lincoln. She will probably remain here the entire week.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

Seventh Avenue—W. E. Shaffer, Sharon; J. R. Ledwith, Waynesburg; W. H. Wyckhoff, New Castle; W. R. Rose, Johnstown, and George S. Beck, Reading.

Lincoln—H. D. Townsend, Youngstown; Campbell—M. T. Wilson, Altoona; E. Jackson, Butler, and John Stockdale, Uniontown.

Anderson—R. G. Koch, Oil City; George Holmes, Canal Dover, and J. C. Robinson, New Castle.

Henry—W. T. Burn, Franklin; G. S. Graham, Oil City; J. M. Bryant, Fairchance; W. W. Wood, Wheeling; F. J. Hartman, Ebensburg, and M. L. Hayes, Butler.

Griswold—John W. Klinger, Hazelton; A. A. Beans, Indiana, and John Magin, Elk Lick.

Monongahela House—R. C. Jones, Fairmont; George H. Hopes, Morgantown; A. E. Fox, Bradford; A. T. Findlay, Franklin, and John R. Hogan, Uniontown.

Duquesne—G. T. Jones, Greensburg, and F. C. Smythe, Connellsville.

Newell's—D. O. Morgan, Punxsutawney.

JUST ONE A DAY.

How the Coffee Crank Compromises His Health.

Some people say, "Coffee doesn't hurt me," and then add, "Anyway, I only drink one cup a day."

If coffee really doesn't hurt, why not drink more? There is but answer, and that is, coffee does hurt them, and they know it. When they drink it once a day they compromise with their enemy. There are people whom one cup of coffee a day will put in bed, if the habit be continued.

"Although warned by physicians to let coffee alone, I have always been so fond of it that I continued to use it," confesses an Ohio lady. "I compromised with myself and drank just one cup every morning until about six weeks ago.

"All the time I was drinking coffee I had heart trouble which grew steadily worse, and finally I had such alarming sensations in my head—sometimes causing me to fall down—that I at last took my doctor's advice and quit coffee and began to use Postum Coffee in its place.

"The results have been all that the doctor hoped, for I have not only lost my craving for coffee and enjoy my good Postum just as well, but my heart trouble has ceased and I have no more dizzy spells in my head. I feel better in every way and consider myself a very fortunate woman to have found the truth about Postum." Name given by the Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

Fortunately this store doesn't have to depend upon its daily advertisement for business, or would have to spend a lot more money in the newspapers to give every section of the enlarged store a show.

It has a large patronage built upon public confidence in the merits of the goods and the prices—and firm faith in the store's methods and reliability.

Therefore, there will be no burst of advertising eloquence pursuant to the occupation of the new addition, but a continued and firm adherence to the principles upon which the concern was founded.

What we shall do, however, is to offer still greater values to those whose wisdom directs them here so that they may have a real reason for giving the store their preference.

Notice of some important items follows.

The Cloak Room never did so large a business as now—never so well fortified for more.

Success is a most effective spur.

Will you look at the Long Coat Suits at $18.50?

They are not the lowest we have, nor the highest—price range is $10.00 to $75.00—but we think you will quickly recognize their surpassing merit.

Same may be said of the Coats at $15.00—Tan and Black.

But one price in many between $5.00 and $75.00—but it's an important one.

That is to say, the Coats at the price are important—quality, style and finish.

Rain Coats have attained a well warranted popularity.

Their usefulness and style commend them.

Would ask your special attention to the Rain Coats at $13.50—they appear to us to contain far more actual merit—style included—than will be expected for the money.

Besides the smart new Coats and Suits for day wear, there's a fresh showing just now of elegant Gowns or Costumes, Coats and Wraps for evening—Theater, Receptions or other fashionable functions.

Fifty Dollars will provide you handsomely.

Finer things go as high as $100.00—all, however, on a small profit basis.

You know, of course, we make the very high class exclusive things to order.

Furs we have elaborated this year.

It's going to be a great fur season.

Coats from $25.00 up, Neck Furs, $5.00 up.

Special proposition just now on Sable Fox and Isabella Fox Boas at $8.50.

And long new Mink Imperials at $16.50.

Fine Nearseal Coats with Beaver Collars, Cuffs and Reveres, $45.00.

Rich Persian Lamb Blouses with Baum Marten, Mink or Chinchilla Collar, Cuffs and Reveres, $150.00.

Genuine Alaska Sealskin Coats, $225.00.

Important values in medium weight Underwear for men, 50c, 75c and $1.00.

Men's Union Suits, $1.50 to $11.00, including Ribbed Balbriggan, Natural Wool and Silk.

Women's Underwear, 25c to $8.50—Cotton, Merino, Wool, Silk and Wool, All Silk.

Natural or White Merino Ribbed Vests or Drawers for women, 75c to $1.25—all wool, $1.50—all silk, $2.50 to $8.50, white or flesh color.

A distinctive variety and exceptional money's-worth for women and children—white lisle, medium weight Cream Cotton or White and Cream fleeced lined garments, 50c—Vests or Drawers.

Children's White and Natural—all sizes—ribbed Vests and Pantalettes, 50c.

Union Suits, 75c to $12.50—latter ones pure high grade silk.

Full line Father Kneipp's Linen Mesh heavy winter weight Underwear for women or children.

Women's, $3.25 to $4.50 a garment—Union Suits, $4.50 each.

Children's $2.50 a garment.

Experience has taught this underwear is the most healthful and the best cold preventive of any ever made.

Note changes in location.

Men's Furnishings all moved to Park Way Aisle, where Jewelry, Hdkfs., Veilings, Ladies' Neckwear, etc., used to be.

Departments named, also Hosiery, Knit Underwear and Children's Hats moved to the new Federal St. Building.

new shade fixtures

We have just secured control of the best thing yet invented for adjusting Window Shades.

Simple in construction and operation.

Pull a string, and the Shade—roller and all—drops down to just where you want it—allows light and air to come in at the top while screening the room from observation.

So far so good—now there's another feature.

Little fixtures are attached to the slats at both ends which compel the shade to run up and down straight—saves the edges—can't flop over at the top.

No matter how carelessly the shades are handled they can't get out of order—run up crooked, and crease, or fray at the edges.

Adjusters and Slat Guides complete, $1.00 a window.

This includes putting them up.

Slat Guides, 35c a window.

Window Shades, 25c each—$2.50 a dozen.

Window Shades made to order on short notice—best materials and workmanship—lowest prices. Estimates furnished.

LOCAL MEETING SPEAKER'S NAMED

General Stewart and Thomas V. Cooper to Speak in Old City Hall.

ELKIN MAY BE HEARD LATER

Chairman Penrose Succeeds in Interesting the State League of Republican Clubs in Getting Out Big Votes for the November Elections.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 12.

Chairman Penrose today assigned Adjt. Gen. Thomas J. Stewart and Representative Thomas V. Cooper as representatives of the Republican state committee to speak at Old City Hall, Pittsburgh, Saturday night, in the interest of the regular Republican nominees. It is unofficially announced that ex-Attorney General John P. Elkin and ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith may speak for the Republican nominees in Pittsburgh at meetings to be held later on. Mr. Smith has engagements in Ohio and Iowa, but he expects to fill them in time to appear in Pittsburgh.

Republican State Chairman Penrose has enlisted the aid of the State League of Republican clubs for the state ticket to be elected in November. Chairman Penrose several days ago sent the following communication to Joplin R. Wiggins, president of the State League of clubs:

Mr. J. R. Wiggins, President State League of Republican clubs.

Dear sir—After congratulating you on your election as president of the State League of Republican clubs, I desire to say that the Republican state committee fully appreciates the value of the co-operation of the league in the past and desires to receive the earnest, active and energetic support of the league in this year's campaign.

In the estimation of the state committee, the campaign this year is exceedingly important on account of the influence that the result will have upon the greater campaign of next year, when a president, vice president, representatives in congress and members of the general assembly are to be chosen. I assume that you will recognize that the state ticket this year is in no danger, but it is exceedingly desirable as well as important that the Republicans of Pennsylvania should be fully aroused in order that the majority may be made as large as possible, and for the reason an overwhelming majority will have a great effect in the nation in determining the shaping of the platform to be adopted at next year's Republican national convention.

Pennsylvania is the largest manufacturing state in the union, and more directly interested in the maintenance of the present protective tariff than any other state, hence the desirability of a large majority in November, which will be accepted as Pennsylvania's voice in behalf of leaving well enough alone. The State League of Republican clubs can assist very materially on the lines herein indicated, and, therefore, the state committee will greatly appreciate it if you will urge the clubs under the jurisdiction of your league to begin an active and an aggressive campaign and continue the same until the polls close on the 3rd proximo.

Mr. Wiggins speaking for the league yesterday sent to Chairman Penrose the following:

Hon. Boise Penrose, Chairman State Committee:

My dear sir—I greatly appreciate your kind words of congratulation upon my election as president of the State League of Republican clubs. I assure you I do not assume the office without realizing its importance and responsibility and the opportunity the league affords for earnest co-operation with the state committee in the campaign that is now before us.

Your request for the active support of the league will meet with a hearty response from every club comprised within the league, as well as the individual members of the club. The officers of the league are arranging to distribute literature concerning the campaign among the clubs, and also by letters to citizens who are interested in the club work in every county in the state.

At the close of the present campaign it is my purpose to immediately inaugurate plans for the work of 1904, and from the assurances received from all over the state the league will be in a position to take a most active part in the presidential campaign.

DELINQUENT TAX COLECTOR IN PRISON AT JOHNSTOWN

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 12.—Delinquent Tax Collector John A. James was arrested today charged with embezzlement. The information was made by Alexander Adair, a bondsman for James, it is accompanied by a long list of names of people who are alleged to have paid city and school taxes to Collector James during 1903, which the collector has failed to account for. James was held in default of $4,000 bail, failing which he was committed to the city prison.

HELD MEETINGS CONTRARY TO LAW

Receiver Asks That Shipbuilding Directors Be Punished for Contempt.

HEARING POSTPONED AGAIN

Indisposition of Charles M. Schwab's Attorney Makes It Necessary to Put It Off for a Day—Several Surprises Are Scheduled to Come Off.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.

Owing to the indisposition of William D. Guthrie, Charles M. Schwab's counsel, the hearing in the United States Shipbuilding case will not go on tomorrow, but beneath the surface matters are moving with celerity. The hearings will be resumed Wednesday morning, and several surprises are planned, according to the gossip in the various law offices in the Wall street district.

There is a strong belief in the minds of the interested parties that Charles M. Schwab may not go on the stand after all. He has reiterated his readiness to testify as soon as his counsel advises him that his presence is desired; but with the talk of dropping the Shipbuilding securities from the list of stocks traded in on the New York stock exchange, it is believed that some compromise may be arranged and a reorganization plan satisfactory to all the participants projected that will bring the present hearings to an end.

James Smith, Jr., receiver of the company, it was said this morning, will ask the courts to punish for contempt certain of the company's officers for acting after the proceedings for a receiver were in the hands of the court. Members of the board of directors, the receiver believes, have placed themselves in contempt by certain meetings held since the New Jersey courts were asked to appoint the receiver.

On June 22, it is said, a meeting of the board of directors was held, at which four directors for the Bethlehem Steel Company were named. This was while the court was hearing the arguments for and against the appointment of a receiver. Since the appointment of the receiver, it is alleged, meetings have also been held.

It was announced today that a meeting of the stockholders of the company had been called for October 21 in Jersey City. This meeting is called, it was announced, for the purpose of considering the receiver's proposal to assess the stock of the company $8 a share. The only persons having authority for calling a special stockholders' meeting to take any official action are the receiver and the board of directors. The receiver, it was stated positively, has not called the meeting. The action of such a meeting approving any assessments, it was pointed out, could not be binding upon non-approving stockholders.

A long conference was held at Mr. Guthrie's country seat, on Long Island, on Friday. After the lawyers representing the defendants in the pending action had finished reviewing Mr. Dresser's testimony and decided upon their course when he resumes his seat in the witness chair tomorrow, Mr. Guthrie mounted one of his horses for a whiff of fresh air. He was thrown and sustained severe bruises on his face and body. Today he asked if the hearing could not be postponed for 24 hours. Both sides agreed to await Mr. Guthrie's recovery.

The officers of the Trust Company of the Republic have been subpoenaed to produce all papers in their custody that are at all relevant to the present proceedings, but the original vendors' satisfaction pieces are not in the vaults of the Trust Company of the Republic, and these will be called for shortly.

PRIESTS TO CONFER.

Catholic Clergymen Will Meet in Quarterly Session in Pittsburgh Diocese.

The semi-annual conferences of the Catholic clery of the diocese of Pittsburgh will begin at 2 p. m. today in the Cathedral lyceum in Washington street, in the rectory of St. Peter's church, Butler, and in the rectory of St. John the Baptist church, Scottdale. These conferences are to promote study and research among the priests. Circulars containing the subjects for discussion have already been distributed.

Bishop Richard Phelan has appointed as priests to preside over the conferences at Pittsburgh Father Joseph Suehr of St. Peter and Paul's church, East End, at Butler; Father James Romelfanger, and at Scottdale Father M. A. Lambing.

THE DEATH ROLL OF A DAY.

Abraham Baker.

Abraham Baker, the father of James H. Baker, president of the James H. Baker Manufacturing Company, died yesterday at his old home near Strasburg, Va. Mr. Baker was 86 years ago and lived near Strasburg practically all his life. He came to Pittsburgh sometimes on visits to his son, who lives in Palo Alto street, Allegheny. Mr. Baker was a steelsmith famed in Virginia for the making of fine-edge tools. He is survived by eight children and many grandchildren and great-grandchildren. His children, besides James H. Baker, are Amanda Baker, Rochester, Ind.; Mrs. Ida M. Koontz, Carnegie; John W. Baker, Woodstock, Va.; A. G. Baker, Summit Park, W. Va.; Mrs. Virginia Sickley, Mrs. Mary J. Windle and Mrs. Emma Crabill of Strasburg.

Mrs. Catharine A. Vallowe.

Mrs. Catherine A. Vallowe, aged 30 years, is dead at her late home in Homestead, after a short illness, due to appendicitis. An operation was performed on Thursday last. She never recovered from the shock. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Seuser of the South Side. She was born November 27, 1873, and lived in this city until her marriage with Mr. Vallowe in May, 1895. The deceased is survived by her husband, and one son, Frederick, aged 7 years. Her parents and two sisters, Lena and Elizabeth Seuser, also survive. The funeral will take place this afternoon at the family residence and the interment will be made in the South Side cemetery.

Mrs. Louisa Kaufmann.

Mrs. Louisa Kaufmann, wife of Henry Kaufmann, is dead at her late home, No. 27 Hamilton street, Allegheny. She had been ill for several months and an accident hastened her death. Mrs. Kaufmann's maiden name was Weigand. She came to America from Germany in 1845, and two weeks after her arrival in Allegheny, in the same year, she and Henry Kaufmann were married. They had known each other in Germany. Mrs. Kaufmann is survived by her husband and three children, C. H. and A. H. and Miss Caroline Kaufmann.

James Niblock Downie.

James Niblock Downie, aged 79, one of the oldest pioneers of Butler county, is dead at the residence of his son, J. G. Downie at Downieville. He came to America from County Down, Ireland, in 1844, and cleared for himself a farm in the then trackless wilderness of Butler county. In 1852 he was married to Miss Jane B. Magee of Harmony, Pa., who survives him. His five children are Robert M. and Wm. W. B. Cook of Beaver Falls, John G., James L. and Mrs. E. W. Hayes of Downieville.

Hugh McGoogan.

After living for 71 years without a day's illness, Hugh McGeogan died at his home at No. 504 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, yesterday, of old age. During his entire life he never had the attention of a physician until yesterday morning, a few hours before he died. He had been married 62 years, and, with the exception of the three years he served with the Eighty-second regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, in the civil war, the couple were never separated.

William Freeman.

William Freeman, one of the oldest insurance agents in Western Pennsylvania, died suddenly of heart failure about 8 o'clock last evening at his home, No. 211 Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg. Mr. Freeman was about his duties as usual yesterday and didn't complain of feeling ill. While sitting in a chair talking with his family he was stricken and passed away in a few minutes.

Mr. Freeman was 78 years of age and had resided in Wilkinsburg 12 years. For many years he did a general insurance brokerage business, but of late years was connected with the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company. He was a member of the Mifflin Avenue Methodist Episcopal church and was active in its work. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Misses Lydia and Gretta, both at home. He also has one sister living, Mrs. Agne Bennett of Bellevue.

Obituary Notes.

James Quinn, 67 years old, is dead. He will be buried today from his late home, No. 5715 North Bryant street.

Mrs. Emily Floyd Barr, wife of Samuel Barr, died on Sunday at her home, No. 428 North Highland avenue.

Mrs. Chriseyanna Highee died early yesterday morning at her home, No. 1312 Warher street, Allegheny, aged 53.

Charles H. Voorhies, aged 58, a retired capitalist and banker, died suddenly at Lexington, Ky., yesterday. He was known all over the south.

Mrs. Maud Benkart, the wife of Albert F. Benkart, is dead at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nixon, Yorkville, O. Mrs. Benkart had been ill since July.

Peter Miller, an old resident of Pittsburgh, died last night at his residence, No. 24 Boyd street. He was in his 72d year. The funeral services will be held in Epiphany church, Thursday morning.

Martin Brennan, aged 63 years, died late Saturday night at his home in Cumberland, Md. The deceased resided for many years in this city. He is survived by a large number of relatives in this vicinity, including James H. and Patrick J. Brennan of Braddock.

Mrs. Mary McGovern, widow of Michael McGovern, is dead at her late home, No. 57 Congress street, aged 65 years. She was for many years a member of St. Paul's cathedral Catholic congregation. Mrs. McGovern is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Albert Harper, and four brothers and two sisters.

John Gabriel Jacobs, aged 72, died yesterday at Wellsburg, W. Va. He conducted the Herald since 1848, and was the oldest editor in West Virginia. He was an active abolitionist and took a prominent part in the movement to form the state of West Virginia. Mr. Jacobs was a classmate of James G. Blaine.

William H. Kelley, one of the best known residents of Port Vue, died yesterday at his home after a short illness. Deceased was about 42 years old, and went to McKeesport 27 years ago, where he had resided until a short time ago when he removed to Port Vue. Deceased is survived by his widow and five children.

DIAMONDS STOLEN FROM JEWELRY STORE WINDOW

Thief Entered Cellar, Used Circular Saw to Cut Hole in Floor, Reached in and Took Valuables. Seen by Boy.

The jewelery store of David Carter at No. 1207 Fifth avenue was robbed of $1,040 worth of diamonds shortly before 9 o'clock last night, when hundreds of people were walking by the place. The burglar entered the cellar and cut a hole about 10 inches in diameter in the floor of the store window. He reached his hand through the hole and took four diamond rings and four pairs of diamond earrings. The burglar escaped after he had been detected by a small boy who was looking in the window at the time. Seven detectives were on the scene shortly afterward, but they could get no trace of the thief.

David Canter was working in the store at the time of the robbery preparatory to taking his stock from the window to place it in a safe. Suddenly a small boy rushed into the store and said:

"Mister, there is a man taking your diamonds from a hole in the window."

Canter could not understand the boy. He rushed to the street, and the boy pointed to the hole cut in the cloth covering over the floor of the window. Canter hurried into the store and getting a revolver, went outside and gave the alarm. He stood there flourishing a revolver and calling for help.

"There is a man in the cellar," cried Canter.

Detective Charles Aymer and Louis Leff were walking in Fifth avenue about a square away and heard the noise. Both rushed to the store and listening to Canter's story, went into the side yard and jumped in the cellarway.

They searched about the place, but the burglar had got away. Word was sent to detective headquarters and Detectives Hagen, Cole, Jones, Shore, Lally and McGough were summoned. A thorough investigation was made, the detectives declaring the work was that of an expert burglar. They say it took probably an hour to cut a hole in the floor.

The burglar entered through the cellarway in the side yard. He crawled under a hole in the floor. He took a knife and cut away the green cloth. Reaching his hand through the hole he got the diamonds.

The burglar evidently realized he had been discovered when Canter rushed about the store crying thief. Canter said he was so excited that he never thought of the man making his escape through the cellarway. The burglar probably climbed over the back fence into the alley and got away in Wylie avenue.

The diamonds were all large and perfect stones. The job evidently had been planned some days ago, for Canter always removed his stock from the window about 9 o'clock each night. The boy said the man's hand was black, but the detectives are of the opinion the burglar was a white man, and his hand was covered with dust and dirt from working in the cellar.

PRISON SYSTEM OF SOUTH BLAMED FOR NEGRO CRIMES

Methodist Preacher Denounces the Chain Gang Contractors' Inhumanity.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12.—Dr. W. P. Thirkield, corresponding secretary of the Methodist Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational society, in delivering the opening address of the Evangelical alliance today, charged that the outrages of negroes in the south was due to the chain gang prison system. He said in part:

"In estimating criminality among the black people we should keep in mind that since Appomattox nearly every southern state has maintained schools of crime. This I charge against the convict lease system of the south. This system, with its thousands of victims, has been the cause of much of the outbreak in crime among negroes through its brutalizing and dehumanizing influence upon thousands of negroes.

"To the lessee the body and soul of convicts are assigned. The motive of both state and lessee is not morals, but money; not reformation, but exploitation of criminals for gain. It is crime turned into a source of revenue; the brawn and blood of criminals bartered for gain."

Dr. Thirkield made a strong plea for the philanthropic and Christian people of both the north and south to join hands in educational and missionary efforts for the solution of this, the gravest problem of the races ever given any nation to solve.

COMMITTED SUICIDE TO AVOID ARREST

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Bert Perkins of Rock Camp, Braxton county, committed suicide yesterday, to keep from being arrested. Several days ago, it is alleged, he attempted assault upon a girl in Gilmer county. The girl's cries brought men to the scene and Perkins was forced to flee. He had been recognized, however, and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. After being at large in the forest until he tired of being hunted, he tied his shotgun to a tree in such a manner that when he pulled the gun toward him the string caught the trigger, discharging the shot into his chest.

Five Hundred Men Discharged.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The order to reduce the force of shopmen on the Vanderbilt system has caused the discharge of about 500 employes at Buffalo and Depew.

M. E. PASTORS ARE APPOINTED

Large Number of Changes by Pittsburgh Conference, Mostly in Small Churches.

TO MEET IN LEECHBURG NEXT

The Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church held its closing session in the Emory Methodist Episcopal church yesterday and gave out the appointments of pastors to the various churches in the Allegheny, Pittsburgh, Washington and Blairsville districts. A resolution was adopted, which will be forwarded to the general conference at Los Angeles next May, asking that the time limit of five years for pastors be restored. The conference refused to take action on the "amusement" section of the discipline. Leechburg was chosen as the place for holding the next conference, that town receiving 74 votes to 71 for Vandergrift.

The Rev. Latshaw McGuire of the McCandless Avenue church of this city at his own request was transferred to the superannuated list. When called upon the Rev. Mr. McGuire made a touching address in which he stated that after the change is made he always will be ready to help the church in any way that he can. The Rev. William Tipper of Waynesburg was also changed to the superannuated list. The Rev. John McMinn of Jefferson was transferred to the effective from the supernumerary list. The Rev. J. C. Burke of Verona was left without an appointment so he can attend school. The Rev. Noble G. Miller of Ligonier was transferred to the superannuated list.

Dr. Daniel Dorchester reported that $1,000 already has been donated by the Woman's Missionary society toward the $15,000 to be raised to take advantage of the offer made by the three daughters of the late Mrs. Elizaeth Bradley for the establishment of a home for poor children at Hulton. The conference voted to admit the following men for a year on trial as supplies: Homer E. Lewis of Dayton charge, William F. Difner, William L. Wilkinson, D. L. Marsh, James Buhl, Walter C. Loomis, L. Z. Robinson, David Roy Graham, Pittsburgh district; William C. Strohmeyer, Washington district; William J. Law. J. J. McIlyar was continued as conference evangelist.

Bishop Mallalieu and the presiding elders presented their list of appointments as follows:

PIRATES' LEADERS ARE STILL CONFIDENT

HARD DAY'S RAIN RESTS PIRATES

Clarke and Dreyfuss Have Not Given Up Hope and Still Claim Both Games.

PLAYERS ARE FAST FRIENDS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, MASS., Oct. 12.—Rain and ticket speculators have about frapped the enthusiasm over the world's championship series of baseball games between the Boston Americans and Pittsburgh Nationals. There is no sign of abatement of rain, and the spell is apparently on for keeps.

Then, there is not a ticket to be had. The sporting writers openly accuse the Boston management of laxity, if nothing worse, in the apportionment of tickets, and this despite assurances that first-come-first-served at a dollar per for grandstand seats. The matter has become so serious that it is not at all improbable that there will be small houses.

Betting has changed a little tonight. Phillippe has had a rest, and, while the pitcher will not be announced until just before the game, there is a suspicion that the mighty will go on against Young in a real blood game, with Boston trying for a spectacular finale.

The Pittsburghers are enjoying "The Yankee Consul" at the Tremont theater, guests of Barney Dreyfuss, who reserved four boxes. During the day the men kept well together at the Vendome discussing the weather, and lamenting Pitcher Doheny's pitiful breakdown. Fred Clarke grieved unreservedly, and Barney Dreyfuss lamented too. "I had heard good reports," he said, "and was hoping he would pull through all right, but from what the doctors tell me I fear he will not get back for some time. It is too bad; we all liked him, and he was a rattling good pitcher. Still, with care such as I know he will have, I hope he will pull around for next season."

The gentleman also declared his firm belief in the prowess of his family. "We are going to beat your chaps in the two games. There will be two games, and our boys will certainly win 1 in no prophet. Not only does this bad weather give us a rest, but it also affords Bostonians an opportunity to brace themselves for two days' disaster. Get ready."

Over at the Buckminster headquarters, at the Langham, a feeling of equal certainty pervades the place. But when one of the players was asked how to bet he very cautiously responded, "Don't." Young is authority for the statement that the games are fixed. "The story is malicious. Pittsburgh may win when we meet, but if they do it will be because they have the ablest team and the luck with them. The Boston team is going over to play ball, to win. I am not fake sport, nor are the other fellows. We are all on the level."

A very noticable thing is the complimentary feeling toward one another manifested by the two teams. "Bostons are O. K." and "so are the Pittsburghs" are wig-wagged from camp to camp, and there is no bitterness.

The sidewalk specialists are of two sorts—the sidewalk hawkers, who are willing to scalp, and who are not rapacious, but who are content with moderate profits, and the hotel sharks, who ask $4.50 for $1 seats. They all, however, seem well provided with seats, and that is why there is no great enthusiasm, when the ball grounds and regular depots of sale are barren of tickets.

TRACK RECORDS EQUALED.

Three Horses Tie Past Performances for Worth Honors.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Sidney C. Live, coupled with Huzzah as the Stutte and Arthur entry, and backed from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5, won the fourth race at Worth today, a handicap at a mile and 70 yards, and equaled the track record of 1:43 3-5. Major Tenny, the favorite, was second and Nitrate third. Sidney C. Love set the pace and finished in the lead by two lengths with ease in reserve. Two other track records were tied during the day's racing. In the first race Tokalon at 10 to 1 equaled the track record for 5½ furlongs of 1:06 4-5. She won pulled up. The fifth race at 1 1-16 mile was won in a romp by Our Rosie, he covered the distance in 1:46 flat, which equals the track record. Track improved. Weather clear and cool. Summaries:

First race, 5½ furlongs—Tokalon, 107, D. Hall, 10 to 1, won; Alma Furour, 112, J. Reiff, 4 to 5, second; Badger Girl, 104, Blake, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:04 4-5.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Incubator, 111, Ferrell, 11 to 10, won; Sir Launcelot, 108, Dominick, 5 to 2, second; Nervator, 111, B. Williams, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:14.

Third race, 1 1-16 miles—Our Rosie, 105, Ferrell, 11 to 5, won; Wilfred, 103, H. Phillips, 50 to 1, second; By Ways, 105, L. Wilson, 6 to 5, third. Time, 1:46.

Fourth race, mile and 70 yards—Sidney C. Love, 125, Ward, 8 to 5, won; Major Tenney, 97, H. Phillips, 7 to 5, second; Nitrate, 108, S. Bonner, 7 to 2, third. Time, 1:43 3-5.

Fifth race, 6 furlongs—King Ellsworth, 100, Wilson, even, won; J. P. Mayberry, 115, H. Phillips, 3 to 1, second; Mayor David S. Rose, 105, Blake, 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Sixth race, 1 mile—Louisville, 109, Hooker, 4 to 1, won; Bard of Avon, 106, H. Phillips, 8 to 5, second; Nellie Bawn, 105, D. Hall, 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:40 4-5.

NEW CASTLE OPENS.

High School Beats Slippery Rock in Strenuous Game.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 12.—The local football season was opened here today, the New Castle high school and the Slippery Rock State normal eleven playing. The latter lost, 17 to 0. The visitors were considerably the heavier, but lacked both speed and team work. High school made gains through the line, and were able to go around the ends, and scored its first touchdown after two minutes play. The only long run of the game was a 25-yard sprint by Griffiths, for a touchdown just before the close of the first half. Logan, of the locals, and Bingham, of Slippery Rock, collided in the second half and both were badly hurt. Logan remained in the game, but Bingham had a terrible gash torn over his left eye and was replaced by Nesbitt. O'Conner, of Slippery Rock, was kicked in the chest and retired in favor of Wilson shortly after. Fifteen minue halves were played. The teams played a tie game, five to five, at Slippery Rock two weeks ago. Lineup:

New Castle—17.		Slippery Rock—0.
Ely	L. E.	Brinion
Logan	L. T.	Thompson
Allen	L. G.	Rhies
Crowther	C.	Jackson
Ingham	R. G.	Kelly
Bell	R. T.	Patton
Howe	R. E.	O'Conner
Wilson, Bowser	Q. B.	MacGoris
Griffith	L. H.	Nesbitt
Baughman	R. H.	McDonald
Hildebrand	F. B.	Reitzkzat

Touchdowns, Baughman, 2; Griffiths. Goals, Baughman, 2. Referee, Henry of New Castle. Umpire, Scott of New Wilmington. Linesmen, Clark of New Castle and McAnlis of Slippery Rock.

DRUMM'S PROPOSITION

Thinks Independent Teams Should Join Hands in Regards to Salaries.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Manager Tim Drumm of the Zanesville team, which played here with Ohio Works last week, has a proposition for the promotion of a new baseball league in Ohio and Western Pennsylvania for next season. The fact that Ohio and Pennsylvania has supported so many strong independent teams during the past year has made his scheme possible, he thinks. He suggests that the independent teams get together and fix the salary limit at from $700 to $800 per month.

An agreement as to the signing of players he also suggests that an agreement be entered into regarding the signing of players. Such a league, he thinks, should embrace Youngstown, Warren, Niles, Zanesville, Rochester, Braddock, Homestead and other cities in this vicinity which have made good showing during the past season.

Game Scarce in Greene.

WATNESBURG, PA., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Greene county will be a poor field for hunters this season. Farmers and local sportsmen report that there is practically no game. This has for several years past been a mecca for city hunters, but they will have to go elsewhere this year. A covey of quail could hardly be found in a day's tramp.

Lowe will Escape Surgeons Knife.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Bob Lowe, the Chicago National league captain who had to retire from the diamond because of an injury to his right knee, will not have to undergo an operation. He has been improving rapidly, and with massage will escape the knife. He is able to walk with ease and will play next spring.

THE NATIONAL GAME PLAYED IN AUSTRALIA

Hugh Ward Sends an Account of a Game He Witnessed in Sidney.

Just at present when the baseball lovers of the country are all worked up over the World's championship series between the Pittsburgh and Boston teams they will be interested in reading how the National game is played in other parts of the world.

Hugh Ward, the comedian, formerly of the Grand opera house stock company, who has been in Australia for the past three years, sends an account of a game played there on May 25. Mr. Ward was a great ball crank and a rooter for the Pirates, and he assures Pittsburgers that the game played there differs a great deal from the contests he witnessed at Exposition park. Mr. Ward sends the following clipped account of the game, printed in the Sydney Mail of Saturday, May 25:

"The game on the Sydney Cricket ground No. 2, between Paddington and Woolahra clubs, was productive of fair and at times very brilliant play. When Gow brought off his third catch in the long field during the same inning the spectators showed their appreciation. The game up to the fifth inning was very level, Paddington leading by 7 to 6; but in the next inning that team showed fine batting form and ran up 10 runs. From then on they kept the lead, although Wallahra, who were playing a good uphill game, were gradually catching up. Eventually Paddington won by one inning and one run. The fielding, excepting a few wild returns, was good. T. Gleeson on first base was sound, and the pitching on both sides might be considered good for so early in the season. F. Winning and A. Gow did some splendid sliding to bases. W. C. H. Barnes was umpire, with Mr. Wallish assistant. The details were:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	To'ls.
Paddington	5	0	0	2	10	1	0	0	*	18
Woolahra	3	0	3	0	3	1	4	3	0	17

"Individual scores—Paddington: D. Gee, 3; M. A. Noble, 3; T. Gleeson, 2; E. G. Noble, 2; G. King, 3; T. Grace, 2; R. Fenton, 0; W. Bungate, 1; A. Hall, 0; Gee, 1. Total, 17. Woolahra—F. Hodge, 3; W. Tredale, 1; A. Gow, 3; J. Jewell, 3; F. Winning, 4; A. Sweetham, 1; A. Chapman, 0; J. Shiels, 1; R. Winning, 1—total, 17.

WANT HEAVIER MEN.

Wash-Jeff Issues Call for Players Who Support Weight

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The Washington and Jefferson team had a very light practice this afternoon. The men are all in first-class shape, not a man having been injured in Saturday's contest, but Coaches Seaman and Montgomery decided to give them a rest, and there was no line up against the scrubs. The coaches are still trying to get a heavier team, and today issued another call for candidates. It is expected this week that several heavy men in college who have not reported will come out for work, and an effort will be made to develop a heavier aggregation.

Manager Tull stated today that he had not yet arranged a game for Saturday. The next hard game will be at College park with the Ohio Medical university of Columbus. The Ohio Meds defeated Wash.-Jeff last year, and a big effort will be made this year to get revenge. Starting with tomorrow hard practice by the team will be resumed.

Pirates Will Not Play Charleroi.

CHARLEROI, PA., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—For the first time in five years the Pittsburgh National league baseball club will not play here. The announcement was made by Manager W. R. Eckel after a conference with President Dreyfuss. The necessity of the Pirates going to Boston is the reason given.

ASTARITA CAPTURED THE RIPPLE HANDICAP

It Was the Feature Event of Opening Day at the Brighton Beach Track.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The Ripple handicap at six furlongs, the feature of the opening day of the Brighton Beach Racing association autumn meeting was won in a hard-fought finish by the favorite, Astarita, with Rostand second. Astarita jumped away in front and making all the pace won by one length.

The card was practically ruined by scratches, so heavy was the spoiling. The infield was completely covered with water, and the steeplechase had to be declared off owing to the ban condition of the course. Summaries:

First race, 6 furlongs—Graceful, 109, Michaels, 6 to 5 and 1 to 2, won; Sonoma Belle, 104, Furman, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, second; Eagle, 109, Higgins, 6 to 1 and 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:14 2-5.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Wotan, 112, Hicks, 13 to 5 and 8 to 10, won; Sais, 112, Burns, 4 to 1 and 6 to 5, second; Palette, 109, O'Neil, 6 to 1 and 7 to 5, third. Time, 1:14 2-5.

Third race, selling, 1 1-16 miles—Daisy Green, 97, Higgins, 1 to 2 and out, won; Nevermore, 95, J. Jones, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, second; Star and Garter, 92, Callahan, 20 to 1 and 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:49.

FIGHT TO THE FINISH.

Plunger Ryan Tells August Belmont a Thing or Two.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Plunger John J. Ryan reiterates his statement that if the jockey club rules him off the turf he will fight to a finish. He says that he has told one of the members of the club, August Belmont, so. Ryan's latest statement came just before he started for the west. He says, though, that he will be back soon.

"When I was called to the jockey club last week," he said, "I met August Belmont, Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Dalngerfield. There was only talk of an informal nature.

"During the talk I said: 'Mr. Belmont, I am not a booby, but I will not go further to protect my constitutional rights than any living man. You may rule me off the turf, basing your action on the ruling of the Fort Erie club, but I will fight. The bricks from Maine to California know me, and if they could talk not one of them could impugn my honesty in turf matters.'

"This report must have tickled as well as surprised Mr. Belmont, for he laughed and said: 'Ryan, you are a bright fellow. What school were you educated in?'

"I replied: 'In the school of experience, the hardest school in the world, and I have profited by it.'

"That was about all there was said. They did not rule me off."

LITTLE GIRLS BURNED, ONE PERHAPS FATALLY

Played at Bonfire and Threw Match in Powder Keg—Several Other Accidents.

Mary Lindsay, 2 years old, living in Brereton avenue, played yesterday about a bonfire lighted by some boys in the street. Her dress caught fire and before the blaze could be put out she was badly and perhaps fatally burned.

Finding an apparently empty powder keg in the yard of her home, in Hanover street, Allegheny, yesterday, Maggie Henderson dropped a lighted match into it. A little powder that was in the keg exploded and Maggie's face, hands and clothes were burned, but not seriously.

The little daughter of George Dallon, Lowrie street, Allegheny, put a small can of paint into the hot kitchen stove yesterday. The smoke and blaze that followed caused a still alarm, but no damage was done.

Roy Cole of Duquesne, a shipping clerk in the Baltimore & Ohio freight station at McKeesport, was working between two freight cars yesterday, when one of them started. He was thrown to the ground, but by remarkable presence of mind managed to throw himself clear of the tracks just as the wheels passed the spot where he lay. He was badly bruised.

John Bunto of Duquesne narrowly escaped being killed while at work in the Carnegie steel works by falling 40 feet and alighting on his head and shoulders. He was rendered unconscious and broke one of his arms.

LOCAL GUARD OFFICER HAS BEEN DISCHARGED

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The current rifle practice season of the Pennsylvania National Guard, which was opened May 25, and was to have closed October 31, has been continued until November 30. Second Lieutenant Alfred B. Patterson, Company I, Fourteenth regiment, Pittsburgh, was discharged today by Gen. Stewart for absenting himself from his command for 30 days without leave.

Street Carnival for a Hospital.

The committee having in charge the carnival for the benefit of the hospital at Homestead met last evening and decided to hold the big show in Seventh avenue, between McClure and West streets, beginning Monday, October 19.

PRINCETON HEAVY, BUT SHADYSIDE CONFIDENT

Thirty Five High School Candidates Out—Spuhler May Shift Dates.

"The Princeton freshman team, which Shadyside will play Saturday in Pittsburgh, will be one of the heaviest and hardest elevens our school has been called upon to meet in the past few years," said Coach A. E. Young of the Shadyside eleven yesterday.

Coach Young was at Princeton Saturday and saw the freshmen lose to Lawrenceville academy 5 to 0 in a game that was hard fought. Princeton is heavy, in fact, almost 15 pounds per man to Shadyside, but nevertheless Young is confident of winning the game Saturday. He got an insight as to the freshmen plays by watching them play Lawrenceville and he knows how to stop them.

Young yesterday gave the Shadyside team light signal practice, and put the men to breaking up plays that Princeton works. Charles Ahl, who has been out of the game for some time ill, reported and took his position at right half. Dick Mulder, who was on right end Saturday against the Washington and Jefferson scrubs, has earned the place and will likely be kept there during the season. This is the first year the team, and for a new man he is doing very well.

Thirty-five high school candidates reported at Friendship park yesterday and were put through two hours of work by Coach Spuhler James. The first team was lined up against the scrubs, who had as many as 20 men in the lineup at one time and scored four touchdowns. The scrub quarterback, Mooney, formerly of East Liberty academy, getting it. Coach James played with the scrubs, and helped Mooney over the line. The scrubs' goods were not worked for any length of time, the first team fumbled it had to surrender the ball whether or not it was regained. There will be no game at Friendship park today. It was stated that the Pittsburgh College Reserves would play High School.

There is a strong probability of High School and Shadyside meeting November 14. This is the date Shadyside wants, and as it comes rather late it also is favored by High School.

The only hitch is the fact that High School is scheduled to play Kiski in Pittsburgh the same day, and if Manager Spuhler can induce Kiski to consent to a shift of a few days later the game with Shadyside will take place. Spuhler would like to play Kiski November 20. However, if Kiski does not agree to the arrangement the date will not be given Shadyside.

DRAKE WILL STABLE AT BENNINGS TRACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Enoch Wishard, trainer and racing representative of John Drake, today announced the intention of Drake to race at Bennings in order to publicly refute the allegation that the Washington Jockey club, instigated by August Belmont, had refused stall room to the Chicago horseman. Drake will ship ten head to Washington and will stable with Madden's horses. John W. Gates will spend a week at Bennings along with Drake.

Nationals' Poor Work on Bases.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The Nationals ran bases poorly today, were unable to hit Owen and lost their fifth game of the series to the Americans, who hit Taylor rather freely. Attendance, 1,900. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Nationals	0	1	3
Americans	4	6	2

Batteries—Taylor and Kling; Owen and Sullivan. Umpires—Johnstone and Sheridan.

REGULARS WERE WORKED.

Yale Coaches Give Players Some Stiff Practice.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The regulars who took the brunt of Saturday's game were given a short practice on Yale field this afternoon, but much fault was found with their work. Bloomer was run with the ball from his place at right guard. It is the intention of the coaches to work Bloomer, Kinney, Hogan and Sheylin to run with the ball from the line in case the half backs fail to gain. Bloomer fumbled today, but never failed to make good gains. The scrubs were able to hold the varsity for downs several times later in the practice.

Much attention was paid today to Andrews at tackle and Smith at center. Capt. Winslow of the baseball nine joined the squad today to try for a place as substitute quarterback. After this week it is expected that secret practice will be started to prepare tricks and new formations for the big games.

Friese May Become President.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Oct. 12.—An evening paper says that A. W. Friese, a well-known sporting writer of this city, has been mentioned as successor to Thomas J. Hickey as president of the American association. It is understood that several members of the association have given their approval to the candidacy of Friese. Friese has had a wide experience in baseball and was secretary of the Milwaukee club in the western league during the nineties.

SECOND U. P. CHURCH WANTS DR. M'KELVEY

Minister from Mercer, Pa., Will Be Nominated to Succeed the Rev. D. S. Littell, D. D.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Second United Presbyterian church, held last night in the church parlors, North Negley and Stanton avenues, it was unanimously decided to nominate at the meeting of the congregation next week, the Rev. Dr. T. C. McKelvey of Mercer, Pa., to succeed the Rev. Dr. David S. Littell, as pastor of that church. According to the regulations of the church the preliminary meeting held last night was necessary. October 21 has been set for the regular meetings, at which the Rev. Dr. J. D. Sands has been appointed by the presbyery to act as moderator.

David Blair, the oldest elder in point of service of the Second church, was chairman of last night's meeting, and Joseph Brown acted as secretary. The only other name considered was that of the Rev. Presley Thompson of Washington, Pa. Dr. McKelvey received 33 votes and Mr. Thompson 8. The vote was later made unanimous. It is assured that Dr. McKelvey will accept. Dr. Littell resigned from this charge several months ago because the congregation decided to place an organ in the church.

COSHOCTON CITIZEN WINS NEW YORK BRIDE

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—Miss Gertrude Madden, daughter of Robert Madden, superintendent of the Western block factory, on Sunday married Walter Bartholomew of Coshocton, O. Miss Madden is a graduate of the Roman Catholic convent here and the Loretta academy of Niagara Falls. She is 20, beautiful, accomplished and had many suitors. For the past week Mr. Bartholomew has been visiting here. He paid ardent court to the bride and on Saturday he was to leave for home and persuaded the lady to become his wife. Sunday she met him in Buffalo and they were married.

Alleged to Be Swindlers.

Michael Super and Andrew Checkney, Slavs, from Woods run, Allegheny, were arrested by the Homestead police yesterday charged with swindling their countrymen. It is alleged they canvassed among the Slavs of Homestead and solicited donations for a new Catholic church, which they claimed was to be erected in Woods run. They secured several hundred dollars in Homestead and other towns in the Monongahela valley.

HORSE AND DRIVER DREW SUSPENSION

W. B. McDonald Lays Up Heats With Gray Gem—Billy Buck Breaks Record.

PRINCE ALERT IS SHIPPED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 12.—Gray Gem and his driver and owner, W. B. McDonald, were suspended by the judges today, for one year. The suspension occurred after Gray Gem won the fifth heat of the 2:18 trot, with Scott Hudson in the sulky. Grey Gem had won the first two heats of the race and lost the third and fourth heats to Gracie Kellar. Rumors had reached the ears of the judges before the race was called, that McDonald would attempt to lay up one or two heats. They called him to the stand before the first heat and warned him. He was again warned after he lost the third heat, and after the fourth heat, Gray Gem was placed in charge of a policeman. Hudson was awarded $100 for his drive. Betting on the race was moderate.

Billy Buck broke a stake record to win the Walnut Hall farm cup, $3,000, going the second heat in 2:07¾. The former record of 2:09¾ was made by Captor two years ago, and was repeated by the Nut Bearer last year. Marion Wilkes took the 2:14 trot from Norrie, his favorite, in exciting fashion. Pevena won the 2:06 trot by a close margin.

Prince Alert and his runner left on a special car tonight for Philadelphia, where the champion pacer will start in the Grand Circuit Thursday. Track fast, weather fine. Summaries:

NASHVILLE WANTS DE MOSS.

Allegheny Shortstop Gets Offer to Go to Southern League. Good Season at Niles.

Charlie De Moss of Allegheny, who played shortstop and captained the Niles (O.) team, which just closed, has returned home. Bill Kemmer, pitcher; Glassburner, pitcher, and Ortleib, catcher, also local players on the team, have returned. "Red" Nagle of the East End is wintering at Sebring, O. De Moss may not return to Niles next year, as he has received offers to go out in the minor leagues. He got an offer from the Nashville Southern league team the other day and another from the Wheeling Central league. Nashville wants him to take the place of Downey, who, with Bob Carey, the Pittsburgh third baseman, was sold to New Orleans. Manager Hunter, former Civic club and Fairbank player, had a fine season at Niles and will also be in one of the minors next year.

De Moss, while he does not lay claim to it, says that Niles has a good claim on the championship of Ohio for the independents. It took the series from the Ohio Works, Warren and Zanesville, leading independent teams of the state. Homestead is the only team that captured the series from Niles, which deduction would give Risher's outfit the championship of Ohio as well as Western Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG THE WINNER.

Lands Tri-State Championship from Camden and Wilmington at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 12.—Harrisburg today won the championship of the Independent association clubs of three states. The occasion was a double-header to settle the claims of superiority by the followers of the respective teams. The first game was between Camden, N. J., and Wilmington, Del. This resulted in favor of Camden, principally through the extraordinary batting of Gray, who scored two home runs and also batted in three of the other four runs credited to his team.

Harrisburg then played the victorious Camdens and won the game by good, consecutive hitting and perfect fielding. One Camden man was thrown out at the plate and another was caught napping at second. These two plays had an important bearing on the result. Darkness brought an end to the game after Camden had its eighth inning. Over 10,000 persons were present and great enthusiasm prevailed throughout the two games. The Harrisburg players were presented with the Elverson cup at the end of the game. Scores:

PUBLIC INVESTS FREELY IN STOCK

The Figures Recently Compiled Show More General Ownership in Corporations.

TWENTY TAKEN AS EXAMPLES

Army of Shareholders in These Various Corporations Is Steadily Increasing. Depression in Wall Street Contributes Nearly to This Result.

[Special Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—One of the leading statistics in Wall street has compiled, from official figures furnished by the various corporations, the number of shareholders, the average quantity of their holdings, and the changes in the distribution of the securities during the past year, for 20 of the largest of the industrial and railroad corporations of the country. In the following table is presented the number of shareholders, the stock issued and the average number of shares held of the 20 stocks enumerated:

Company.	Number Shareholders.	Stock Issued.	Average Number Shares Held.
Am. Car & Fdry.	8,063	$ 63,000,000	78

United States Steel	60,955	868,455,200	134
Union Pacific Ry.	14,169	258,253,000	182
Va. Car. Chem. Co.	3,485	38,984,400	114

In the following table is presented the number of stockholders at the latest date of closing, number at the previous closing, and the increase:

Company	Latest Closing.	Previous Closing.	Increase.
Am. Car & Fdry.	8,063	7,766	297
Am. Smelt & Ref.	4,100	3,586	514
Amer. Sugar Ref'g	12,502	11,614	948
Baltimore & Ohio	6,577	4,473	2,104
Chicago Gt. West.	5,940	4,782	1,167
Colum. & Hock.	426	418	8
Del. & Hudson	3,501	3,456	45
Erie	5,230	4,645	591
N. Y., N. H. & H.	10,673	9,652	1,021
Norfolk & West.	2,712	2,570	142
Internat. Paper	2,096	2,552	144
Illinois Central	8,647	7,447	1,200
Pennsylvania	34,500	28,000	6,500
Rubber Goods Co.	1,316	1,304	152
Penn. Coal & I.	925	902	23
Texas & Pacific	1,117	1,055	62
Union Bag & P.	2,017	1,971	46
U. S. Steel	60,955	51,600	5,955
Union Pacific Ry.	14,169	12,992	1,108
Va. Car. Chem.	3,485	3,323	162
Total	199,000	175,897	23,103

To better understand the showing of Baltimore & Ohio and Norfolk & Western it must be remembered that control of each practically centers in the Pennsylvania, and that, therefore, the average holdings of stockholders are made to look comparatively large, as the Pennsylvania's holdings are in bulk.

The same explanation holds good with Illinois Central, as the list does not include in detail the block of several millions held in bulk by the Railways Securities Company.

From the official figures presented it is plainly to be noted that the army of stockholders of these 20 corporations is steadily increasing. Its increase during different periods of the present year from 175,897 to 199,000 is convincing proof that the depression in the value of securities in Wall street has aided notably in the distribution of the stocks of the corporation and has decidedly decreased the amount of individual holdings.

At the beginning of the year the average individual holdings of the shareholders in these corporations were $13,724, while they are now $12,140.

The Delineator for November.

A noteworthy feature in The Delineator for November is the second installment of "The Evolution of a Club Woman," the piquant narrative by Agnes Surbridge which is causing no end of comment in feminine circles; it is based on fact and describes from the inside various incidents connected with the rise and progress of the president of one of Chicago's largest clubs. The same issue of the magazine has, in addition to its superb presentation of the incoming winter styles, some especially good features in J. C. Hemment's illustrated story of his personal adventures with the camera; short stories by William MacLeod Raine, Lillie Hamilton French and Mina C. Smith; a delightful paper on chrysanthemums by N. Hudson Moore; a unique cookery paper, giving the recipes of appetizing dishes under the guise of fiction, and house plans and house furnishing ideas by Alice M. Kellogg. There are also innumerable articles of culinary and economic interest to women and for the children there are pleasant games and stories.

DAMROSCH SINGS THIS CITY'S PRAISE

Noted Symphony Orchestra Conductor Speaks Warmly of Pittsburgh's Musical Growth.

CROWDS GREET HIM AT EXPO

Two Weeks' Engagement Begun Yesterday Will Bring This Season's Big Point Show to a Close—Pittsburgh Singers Take Part.

Bent on winning a new musical triumph to leave in the proud record of the Pittsburgh exposition, Walter Damrosch, with his famous New York Symphony orchestra, yesterday opened what he declares will be his most successful Pittsburgh engagement. The Damrosch engagement this year is for two weeks and it will conclude the most successful season the Western Pennsylvania exposition society has even enjoyed. The symphony season was auspiciously inaugurated last evening when the first concert was given over to Wagner's works, and in which five of Pittsburgh's best known vocalists assisted.

There was a surprisingly large matinee attendance, which by evening had grown into a great gathering. Mr. Damrosch himself was in buoyant spirits and conducted with a dash and brilliancy that put him at once into the most intimate touch with the hearts of his listeners, who could not be induced to leave Music hall until the last notes of his every concert had been sounded. The evening became a reunion of the friends of Damrosch and of the local singers, who sang under his baton, and the audience. Mr. Damrosch was particularly flattered by the reception he received and paid a high compliment to Pittsburgh's fostering of good music.

"The fact that the New York Symphony orchestra has been brought here for the sixth consecutive year and that we have been giving only the highest class programs indicates that Pittsburgh appredates everything that is done to promote cultured musical taste," said Mr. Damrosch. "The success of your Pittsburgh orchestra, under Mr. Herbert, proclaims much for this as the center of music lovers. For the Welsh singers in Pittsburgh and throughout this end of Pennsylvania I have the greatest admiration. The eisteddfod has done much for music here, and Welsh singers who have rehearsed before me have been a revelation. I shall be glad to hear other vocalists during my engagement in Pittsburgh. So great has been this city's industrial and commercial growth during the last few years that the outside world is prone to look upon it as a place where wealth is accumulated. On the other hand, I think that the advances made in the culture of the people has been in greater proportion. Six years ago at the exposition the orchestra played in the main hall and the exclusively classical programs were given little attention. Now the demand is for the best alone."

The Pittsburgh vocalists who took part in the Wagner concert last evening were warmly received and deserved well the applause that was showered on them afterward. Dan T. Bedoe sang the prize song from "Die Meistersinger" and Gertrude Clark, soprano; Christine Miller, contralto; Dan T. Beddoe and T. E. Giles, tenors, and Edwin Fownes, bass, sang the famous quintet from the same opera.

To outsiders it seems incredible that such music as the Damrosch orchestra is presenting can be furnished for the bagatelle admission fee of 25 cents, yet the exposition management is doing it, and with pleasure, in spite of the enormous expense involved, its aim being to supply the great masses with the best in music. The Damrosch matinee today, and every day, will be made exceptionally attractive, and best of all, Mr. Damrosch will be present to conduct every number. This afternoon's program follows:

2 P. M.

Overture—"Rienzi" ..... Wagner
Selections from "Faust" ..... Gounod
Intermezzo from "Pagliacci" ..... Leoncavallo
(a) "Polonaise" .....
(b) Allegretto from "Symphony" .....
VIII" ..... Beethoven
Waltz—"Artists' Life" ..... Strauss

4 P. M.

Overture—"Preciosa" ..... Weber
Waltz Divertissement "Les Rosati" ..... Massenet
Funeral March of a Marionette ..... Gounad
Prize Song from "Die Meistersinger" ..... Wagner
Polonaise—"Mignon" ..... Thomas
March from "Aida" ..... Verdi

Tonight the Boys' brigade will be out in force, as will the members of the C. M. B. A. The Boys' brigade, under command of Col. H. P. Bope, will parade down Fifth avenue, and on arrival at the Exposition building will execute some drill movements in the grand main aisle.

SOCIETY.

OF UNUSUAL interest to musical and social Pittsburgh was the wedding yesterday afternoon of Miss Henriette Kell and Frederick G. Hawdon. At 5 o'clock, the hour of the wedding, the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension was filled to overflowing with the friends of the popular young soprano and Mr. Hawdon. About 700 guests witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Robert Waddington Grange, D. D., rector of the church. The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of cluny lace. She wore a large white hat trimmed with plumes and carried a prayer book with marker of lilies of the valley. Miss Helen Kell, who was her sister's only attendant, was gowned in green crepe de chine, daintily trimmed in lace. Her hat was of white leaver and she carried a magnificent bouquet of white chrysanthemums, brightened by red roses.

Singing the wedding march from Lohengrin the choir of 60 voices marched down the aisle, meeting the members of the bridal party at the door and escorting them to the chancel. The musical program for the wedding began at 4:30 o'clock. In the choir were a number of the boys who were members when Miss Kell first became soloist at the church and who had come back for this occasion. Mr. Hawdon's best man was Lee Marshall, and the ushers were W. F. Litton, Hunter L. Harrison, William H. Duff, H. Hugh Anderson, Augustus Lowden Kell and Dr. Harry F. Koontz.

The wedding colors were pink, white and green. At the Kell home, where the reception was held, the mantels were massed in green, the doorways were draped with smilax, and vases of cut flowers used. Above the dining room mantel hung a portrait of the bride's brother, Robert Kell, whose death in Denver two years ago left the family in mourning. As a tribute to his memory, pink carnations were placed amid the green, these blossoms being his favorite flowers.

The centerpiece on the bride's table was of pink roses. A lace cover over a lining of pink presented a handsome appearance. Maidenhair fern was prominent in the floral decorations, where the bookcases were banked with ferns and small tropical plants. The receiving party consisted of the bride and bridegroom, Miss Helen Kell and Mrs. Edward Peter Kell, sister and mother of the bride; Mrs. Kell receiving in a gown of black meteor. The church decorations were very simple, palms forming the principal decorations, while the mantels were filled with vases of white blossoms. Among the wedding gifts was a handsome silver bowl from the members of the Ascension church choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawdon will sail at 5 o'clock last evening for an eastern trip of a few days, after which they will return to Pittsburgh. They will then go on to Philadelphia to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Lowden Kell, whose next Wednesday on the Oceanic for England. Mr. and Mrs. William Dinsdale Hawdon will also be guests. The party of four will sail next Wednesday on the Oceanic for England. Mr. Hawdon will take his bride to Kings Langley, near London, where they will make their home. The bride has already a wide circle of friends in England, where during several summers past she has studied and sung in concert with great success.

Happenings in Sewickley.

The women of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal church are arranging to give two suppers for the benefit of the new parsonage fund. The suppers will be given in the church parlors on the evening of Thursday and Friday, November 19 and 20. The first will be a "New England" and the second a chicken and waffle supper.

The Young Women's Missionary Circle of the Methodist church in Sewickley met last evening at the home of Miss Mary Gaston in Broad street. Miss Eggers of Pittsburgh addressed the meeting on work in the cities. Arrangements are being made for a reading some evening this month by Dr. Staples of Beaver college on "James Whitcomb Riley."

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Thatcher entertained at their home in Walnut street, Sewickley. They will also entertain on Thursday evening. These affairs are in honor of the first anniversary of their marriage.

The first meeting of the season of the Monday afternoon Euchre club of Sewickley was held yesterday, Mrs. Samuel F. Cole of Chestnut street being the hostess. Four hand euchre was engaged in and about thirty-five guests were present.

Notes of Various Events.

The entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the Central Presbyterian church of Allegheny in Allegheny Carnegie hall this evening, promises to be largely attended. The ladies have engaged George Kiernan, impersonator, who will give "The Old Homestead."

F. Summer of Esplanade street, Allegheny, left on Sunday evening for an extended trip to the west. Mr. Summer will spend some time with his son, Philip Summer of Shelby, Mont.

Invitations have gone out for the annual banquet of the Sellorf club at the Monongahela House on Friday evening, October 23. The Gounod orchestra will furnish the music with Miss Alice Viergoffen, soprano soloist at the Second Presbyterian church, Cleveland, assisting. The speakers of the evening will be James Francis Burke and Robert K. Cochran. The committee in charge of the affair includes Florence J. Schrader, chairman; Elwood Swyers, James Kent, H. J. Halleran, Charles Jones and R. K. Cochran.

Coming Wedding at New Castle.

Attorney George W. Muse and Miss Clara Reed will be married in New Castle Tuesday, November 3. The bridegroom, one of the best-known of the younger members of the Lawrence county bar, is with the department of the interior at Harrisburg. His bride is popular in social circles.

W. J. Sullivan to Marry.

Announcement has been made of the marriage at the St. Mary Magdalene church, Homestead, next Thursday of W. J. Sullivan, confidential clerk to President W. E. Corey of the United States Steel Corporation, whose home is now in New York, and Miss Anna Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Martin of Munhall. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. J. J. Bullion, rector of the church.

Shooting Caribou in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lincoln and their son, Kirke Lincoln, have been spending the last three weeks in Canada, where they are still enjoying camp life. Their tent is pitched in the heart of the forest. With their two guides they have paddled their canoe up and down the wild forest streams with their musical Indian names. Mr. Lincoln and his son have shot several caribou and one magnificent head, with branching horns, is being mounted and will appear in the hall of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln's home in Amberson avenue, Shadyside, this winter. The Lincolns expect to return to Pittsburgh the last of the week.

Receiving New Teachers.

A pretty informal tea was given last Friday afternoon in the teachers' parlor of the Pennsylvania College for Women to welcome the new members of the faculty. The hostesses were Miss Jane Brownlee, Miss Brownson and Miss Clark, who entertained for Dr. S. A. Martin, the new president; Miss Easton, the dean, Miss Sloan, Miss Holman, Miss Hall and Mrs. Mackenzie. The tea table was prettily decorated with pink roses and the lights were capped with dainty pink shades.

Home From Europe.

Mrs. Henry J. Bailey and Mrs. Alfred E. Clarke, who have been spending the summer in European travel, arrived in New York last Friday, having sailed from Edinburgh on October 3rd. Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Clarke went on from New York to Carlisle, where they were yesterday in readiness for the arrival of the Pittsburgh delegation this morning.

Neff—Koontz.

The Rev. J. P. Koontz on Sunday night united in marriage Prof. Sylvester E. McSherry of York, Pa., and Miss May E. Neff of Yoe borough. The bridegroom is the principal of Yoe High school and is a graduate of Shippensburg Normal school. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Neff of Yoe, Pa.

Sophs Entertain the Seniors.

The sophomores of the Pennsylvania College for Women have invitations out for a flinch party which they will give on Friday afternoon, October 16, in honor of the members of the senior class. The party will be conducted from 2 o'clock until 5 in the sophomore's den, which will be gaily decorated for the occasion.

Events of the Day.

Mrs. Robert Kleer will be hostess this evening at a dinner for Miss Jean Shaw, who will on Thursday become the wife of Charles B. Seely.

Miss Indie Van Dusen entertains with a linen shower for Miss Pearl Cropsey. The wedding of Miss Cropsey and Allen Birge of Sherman, Tex., will be an event of November 10.

Miss Mary Guller of Stanton avenue gives a dinner this evening in honor of Miss Margaret McKnight Haymaker, daughter of John C. Haymaker, whose marriage with Jacob Fronhiser takes place tomorrow.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

A PARTY of 50 delegates left last night in special Pullman cars to attend the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women which opens today in Carlisle. The cars reserved for the women alone were crowded with club delegates and their friends, for each club in the Pittsburgh district this year has sent out representatives aside from the delegated body to show their appreciation of the honor conferred on them in nominating a western woman for the presidency. The women are prepared to work for their candidate and win votes from the eastern clubs to place her in office. The western clubs with scarcely an exception have instructed their delegates to cast their votes for Miss McKnight.

Not alone does interest attach to this state meeting because of the election, which comes only once in two years, but there will be an election of nine state delegates to attend the meeting of the general federation next spring in St. Louis. Forestry, the child laws, the juvenile court, the various civic traveling libraries, the summer work for children in the establishment of playgrounds, vacation schools and recreation parks and the general public educational system will all be given a place on the program, which will begin this afternoon and continue through Wednesday and Thursday. An excursion to Gettysburg, a reception in honor of Gov. Pennypacker and the visiting club women, at which the Civic club of Carlisle will be guests, a visit to the Carlisle Indian school and the forestry reserve will be among the attractive features of the social program.

The Hotel Wellington and the Metzgar institute have been chosen as the Pittsburgh headquarters. In the Pittsburgh delegation were Miss Kate C. McKnight, Mrs. Edward B. Scull, Miss Eliza D. Armstrong, Mrs. Franklin P. Iams, Mrs. E. E. Crocker, Mrs. James B. Kibler, Mrs. E. Y. Normecutt, Mrs. E. R. O'Neil, Miss Suzanne Beatty, Mrs. W. C. Butterfield, Miss Muriel P. Patterson, Mrs. William J. Askin, Mrs. Samuel S. Miller, Mrs. Walter A. Lincoln, Mrs. Lewis Rott, Mrs. Rufus Martin, Mrs. W. P. Price, Mrs. William Monahan, Mrs. Dallas P. Albert, Mrs. B. F. Veech, Mrs. Anna E. Smith, Mrs. John Cowley, Miss Annie M. Gerwig, Mrs. C. W. Gerwig, Mrs. W. F. Abel, Mrs. John E. Bierron, Mrs. J. J. Cavan, Mrs. N. P. Hyndman, Mrs. James Neale, Mrs. Charles Armstrong, Mrs. Rowland Ralph, Mrs. Edward St. John, Mrs. L. J. Koethen, Mrs. F. Gordon, Mrs. E. E. Gray, Mrs. A. M. Saunders, Mrs. John Furman, Homestead, Mrs. C. C. Huff, Homestead; Mrs. J. H. Taylor, Washington, Pa.; Mrs. Edwin Linton, Washington, Pa.; Mrs. M. Borland, Monongahela City; Miss Nicola Greenlund, Mrs. J. A. Duncan, Oakmont; Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Canonsburg, and Mrs. Thomas Livingston Kennedy, of New Brighton.

Colloquium's First Meeting.

Colloquium club yesterday instructed its delegates to the meeting of the State federation in Carlisle to vote for Miss Kate C. McKnight for president. The delegates are Mrs. Clarence Renshaw and Mrs. William F. Abel, with Miss Sara Shaw and Mrs. Guilliford B. Sweeney, alternates.

Yesterday's meeting was the first this season and was conducted in the parlors of the Pennsylvania College for Women. The short business meeting was followed by a brief literary program, concluding with a reception for the members of the club, the hostess, Miss Janet Brownlee and Miss Ella Knapp, receiving and presenting to the women Miss Easton, the new dean of the college, and Mrs. Bostworth, the matron. An address was made by the president, Dr. Samuel F. Martin, welcoming the club and its members to the college and promising the co-operation of the faculty in whatever line of work the club may undertake.

The president of Colloquium, Mrs. John Fleming Shafer, presided at the meeting and Miss Elizabeth Hanna was leader of the literary program, the subject being the "Poets of Beauty and Melody," continuing in the line of study of English literature taken up last year by the club. The first subject, the "Ethics of Keats' Poetry" was presented by Mrs. J. C. Bennett. Miss Sara Shaw gave a reading of "The Eve of St. Agnes," by Keats, and several informal talks were given, the discussion being opened by Mrs. Shafer. Music was provided by Miss Mary Riddle. The roll call of the members was responded to with quotations from the writings of Moore and Keats.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. John G. Pontefract in Fifth avenue, East End.

Club Notes.

President's day will be observed this afternoon at the meeting of the Colloquium club.

The Traveler's club meets this afternoon in the assembly room of the Central Young Women's Christian association in Fifth street.

The Woman's club of Homestead held its regular meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. De La Cosatti, with Mrs. James B. Neale, president, presiding. Mrs. Harry L. Baker, secretary of the summer play ground committee, gave an interesting report of the work done and stated that a balance was left in the treasury with which to begin the play ground wrk of next year. The Rev. J. Leyds Vance read a paper on "National Holidays," and Miss Hyndman talked on the juvenile court work.

PENFIELD CREDITORS WILL ORGANIZE FOR PROTECTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—A committee composed of Frederick B. Schenck, chairman; David R. Forgan, J. F. Harper, Allen S. Apgar, William H. Porter, Albert H. Wiggins and Granville Garth, gives notice to holders of claims against the American Clay Working Machinery Company, the Great Western Clay Manufacturing Company, the National Clay Manufacturing Company, the Mexican Clay Manufacturing Company, the Standard Vitrified Conduit Company, the Manhattan Brick and Terra Cotta Company, the Brooklyn Brick and Sewer Pipe Company, the Standard Fire Proofing Company, and the New York Blower Company, or J. W. Penfield & Sons and Raymond C. Penfield, that receivers of these companies have been appointed. It is necessary that the creditors of these corporations organize for protection. The committee will propose a plan of liquidation.

Retiring Workman Honored.

A large number of friends gathered last evening at the home of Walter A. Greig, superintendent of the electrical department of the 35 and 40 inch mills of the Homestead steel works, to render him a farewell prior to his return to his old home in Scotland. He was 23 years in the employ of the Carnegie Steel Company before quitting the service, and about 500 employes of the mills turned out to the demonstration, with two bands of music.

RECEIVER FOR A. E. SIVITER COMPANY

Local Jewelry Firm Unable to Raise $11,500 Loan With Assets of $94,000.

MORE MONEY FOR HOSPITAL

C. L. Magee Legacy to George M. Von Bonnhorst Reverts to Estate—Italian Charged With Manslaughter Released by Court—Divorce Trials.

A bill in equity was filed yesterday by A. E. Siviter against the A. E. Siviter Company, asking for a receiver for the corporation and an injunction restraining the company's officers from disposing of the assets. The bill sets forth that the company's assets aggregate $94,000 and its liabilities $54,000. The company conducts a jewelry business, the bill states, but owing to the financial stringency existing locally it has been unable to realize on its assets or pay its obligations as they came due. As a result the company's financial resources became strained, its credit was impaired and suits for $500 were entered before justices of the peace, while larger suits were threatening.

The bill states that loans amounting to $11,-500 were made and diamonds and jewelry valued at $30,000 were pledged to secure the loans. A sale of some of the pledges has been advertised for October 15, and, the bill states, the company has been unable to redeem the pledges by making other loans. An interruption of business, the bill avers, will result in a sacrifice of the assets.

The court appointed the Guarantee Title and Trust Company receiver to take charge of the company's affairs.

A decree of distribution was made in the orphans court of $20,711 50, which represented a legacy and accrued income bequeathed by the late C. L. Magee to the late George M. von Bonnhorst. By the distribution the legacy of $20,000, the income of which was to go to Von Bonnhorst during his lifetime by the terms of the will, reverts to the trustees of the Elizabeth Magee memorial hospital. Von Bonnhorst died on January 6, 1902, the income he received from the legacy amounted to $320 35.

A decree in distribution in the estate of Ethelbert Nevin, the late musical composer, was also made of $5,682 02. The account filed by his widow, Annie P. Nevin, showed the estate had received cash royalties from music publishing firms, from April 1, 1901, to April 1, 1903, inclusive, aggregating $10,865 02. The estate was divided in equal parts between the widow and the two children, Ethelbert Paul and Dorothy, each share amounting to $3,008 51.

Galleno Battista, an Italian, was released on a nolle prosse in criminal court at the request of his attorney. Battista was charged with involuntary manslaughter, having accidentally shot Biagio Brucotto, a fellow countryman, at a camp at Imley station, on August 16. Judge Rodgers cautioned Buisotto against the use of firearms, and the happy Italian said he would never shoot again, not even at a target.

C. L. Jackson was found guilty of entering a building to commit a felony and on one of burglary and sentenced to serve two years in the workhouse on each charge. The charges were made by Joseph Ross, who said Jackson entered his home, 29 High street, on the morning of July 15 with intent to rob him.

Joseph Rodgers pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and was sentenced six months to the workhouse. Ralph Richardson, John Crow and Dominic O'Connor, indicted with Rodgers, pleaded no defense. Sentence was suspended on Richardson upon the payment of the costs, but the other two were sent to jail each for 30 days.

John Schamack was found guilty of the embezzlement of $140 75 from the St. Benidicta society, of which he was an officer.

William G. Richard pleaded guilty of false pretense and fraudulently making a written instrument and sent to the workhouse for one year for forging a check on Booth & Reichard for $181 10, drawn by the Edward E. Reich Company on the Washington bank.

Max Lurie, a grocer of Sharon, Pa., filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are $1,-518 90, with assets of $1,000.

The divorce suit of Peter Soffel against Kate Soffel is set for jury trial in common pleas court No. 3 tomorrow. Mrs. Soffel will likely be brought from the penitentiary for the trial on a writ issued by the court.

The inventory and appraisement of the personal estate of the late James A. Ballantyne shows his aggregate wealth at $5,000. One thousand shares of the Michigan Alkali Company, valued at $10 each, and cash amounting to $11,815 56 are the chief items of the appraisement.

The habeas corpus proceedings directed against Warden Edward Lewis for the release of Dominick Caricuit were heard and the prisoner released. Caricuit was committed on October 5 last by Magistrate T. D. Stewart on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, on the oath of William Riley.

The following executions were issued yesterday: H. A. Mackey vs. Mary Beane et al, $250; C. Williams, vs. Margaret A. Bethel, $240; D. R. McNaught vs. Annie Denniston et al, $123 92; Pittsburgh Brewing Company vs. Michael Parlak, $5,000; William Carson vs. W. H. Crider et al, $221 85; John M. Kirkpatrick, use, vs. John M. Bruse, $5,717 25; Maggie E. Scott vs. John G. Birderman et al, $250; John D. Scully vs. Della A. Lewis et al, $3,468 20; Moses James vs. James Carnegie, $77 08; L. F. Holtzman vs. Patrick J. Coyle, $474 45; G. W. Jones vs. Thomas A. Graham, $227 39.

In the divorce proceedings of Hobe W. Armstrong against Clara F. Smith on the petition of the libellant, a rule has been granted on the husband to show cause why he should not pay his wife alimony and te costs of her suit. The petition states that testimony has been taken from time to time before the commissioner and is about complete and ready to file. She states that since she was compelled to leave her husband's house on February 27, 1902. She has received no support from him for herself and two minor children. The attached costs are $1,488 20, including a $1,000 attorney fee for George R. Wallace, $350 for Commissioner George W. Brawner, Jr., $80 for a stenographer's services and witness and court costs.

W. L. ELKINS SICK.

Well-Known Philadelphian Suffering from Attack of Blood Poisoning.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—(Special.)—William L. Elkins, financier and capitalist, who has been ill at his country seat for 10 days past, is threatened with blood poisoning in his left leg. His condition is so serious that members of his family are not permitted to see him. He is attended by three physicians.

Mr. Elkins' trouble, it is said, is the result of wearing a pair of tight shoes, one of which inflamed a corn on his right foot. As Mr. Elkins has been at times threatened with gout this aggravated the tender foot and in a few days it was seen he was threatened with blood poisoning. He was reported slightly better today, but there is no relaxation in the vigilance of his physicians.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

Only Guaranteed Catarrh Cure.

Hyomei Costs You Nothing If it Fails, Says Schilling Bros.' Co., Penn and Frankstown Aves.

Among the many medicines upon the market that claim to cure catarrh, none but Hyomei has enough faith in its own merit to be willing to refund the money if it does not cure.

This remarkable remedy for catarrh kills the microbes and the germs of the disease and from its introduction has been sold under a positive guarantee to return the money to all dissatisfied customers.

Schilling Bros. Co. have sold a great many Hyomei outfits in the last few years and they stand ready today to refund the price to anyone who has not been helped by Hyomei.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs $1 00 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; and additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

Breathe Hyomei for a few minutes four times a day, and your catarrh will grow better from the first day's use, and will be completely cured in a short time.

Do not try to cure catarrh with ordinary stomach medicines. Breathe the healing Hyomei which goes to every part of the air passages and respiratory organs, killing the catarrh germs and preventing their growth.

It is the only treatment for catarrh where you can get your money back from a local dealer in case it does not help.

LEGAL NOTICES.

O. P. ROBERTSON, Attorney-at-Law, Room 418 Bakewell bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.

In the matter of the petition of the Pennsylvania Mining Company, for decree of satisfaction of a mortgage. No. 374 December term, 1903, in the common pleas court No. 1 of Allegheny county, Pa.

To the heirs of John McElheren, Jr., and Elizabeth McElheren, his wife, late residents of said county. Notice is hereby given that said Pennsylvania Mining Company presented its petition in said court at above number and term, setting forth in substance:

"That it is the owner of a certain tract of land situate in Collier (formerly Robinson) township in said Allegheny county, being the same described in a certain mortgage given by John Marts to John McElheren, Jr., dated March 7, 1840, and recorded in the office for the recording of deeds, etc., in and for said county, in Mortgage Book Vol. 7, page 440, calling for the payment of Four Hundred Dollars ($400 00) in the following manner, to wit: One hundred and thirty-three dollars and thirty-four cents ($133.34) on March 7, 1841, and one hundred and thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents ($133.33) on March 7, 1842, and one hundred and thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents ($133.33) on March 7, 1843.

"Said tract of land so described in said mortgage is as follows: Beginning at a white oak, thence by land of William Henderson, south eighty-three degrees east forty-seven and one-tenth perches to a post; thence south five degrees west one hundred and seventy-one perches to a post in road; thence by land of W. Ewing, Esq., south eighty-two degrees east seven and six-tenths perches to a white oak; thence by land of A. Leggett, north eighty-six and three-fourths degrees west seventy-four and one-tenth perches to a post; thence by land north six and one-half degrees west seventy-six perches to beginning, containing fifty (50) acres strict measure.

"And whereas, said money secured to be paid by said mortgage has been due much more than twenty-one (21) years before the date of this petition, and no payment or demand for payment of principal or interest has been made on account of said mortgage debt within twenty years (21) years prior to the date of this petition by the present owners, or by any predecessor in title, nor has the same, so far as known, been recognized in any manner within twenty years (21) years or for a much longer period, but said mortgage has not been satisfied, released or otherwise discharged of record.

The petitioner knows no person, or persons, now or heretofore interested in said mortgage, except the mortgagor mentioned therein, to wit: John McElheren, Jr., late of whom, if he can be ascertained by the petitioner, died many years ago, leaving a last will and testament by which he left all his estate absolutely to his wife, Elizabeth McElheren, who is also deceased, and in his said last will named John H. Phillips and Matthew Harbison as executors, to whom letters testamentary issued, but both of whom are now deceased, and the present residence of the heirs of both the said John McElhdrren and his said wife are unknown to the petitioner."

Whereupon, on October 10, 1903, the court made an order directing the sheriff of said county to give notice to all parties interested in said mortgage by newspaper publication and personal notice to each of the heirs of said John McElheren, Jr., and Elizabeth, his wife, as can be found, requiring them to appear in court on November 14, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m., to answer said petition or show cause why same should not be decreed and mortgage satisfied of record according to the provisions of the act of assembly in such cases made and provided. William C. McKinley, Sheriff.

P. F. REV. R. RHELAN vs. The Equitable Trust Co. et al., No. 50 April Term, 1902. In equity. And now, October 5, 1903, on motion, to the court that an agreement of counsel for all the parties in interest has been entered into whereby a compromise of this action has been made, and that the plaintiff has agreed to accept that is pursuance of the said compromise the defendant directors, or certain of them, have agreed to pay to the plaintiffs the sum of eighteen thousand five hundred dollars ($18,500 00) in full settlement of this action; the said sum to be distributed in accordance with the said agreement if no other claims shall be presented.

It is therefore ordered, adjudged and decreed that the said sum of eighteen thousand five hundred ($18,500 00) dollars shall be paid to the Equitable Trust Co. of Pennsylvania on which to be distributed, together with the sum of three hundred eighty-two and 50-100ths ($382.50) dollars now in its hands, in accordance with the schedule of distribution filed in this case and report hereof, if, after notice as hereinafter provided, no other claimant to the fund than those now represented shall appear. And if any additional claims shall be presented to the court, it shall appear after such notice, then in accordance with the further orders of the court.

It is further ordered that notice of the filing of this decree and report of distribution shall be made in accordance therewith on October 28, 1903, be given in writing to the solicitors of record of the parties represented, and to all other persons interested, by publication once a week for three weeks in the Pittsburgh Press and Pittsburgh Gazette. Per curiam.

Of all of which notice is hereby given to whom it may concern. By direction, J. A. Winfield, solicitors for plaintiff.

CHAS. H. SACHS, Attorney-at-Law, 427 Diamond st., hereby gives notice that an application will be made to the governor of Pennsylvania on October 22, 1903, by Edward Lowenstein, W. I. Waller, David Lowenstein and Sarah Lowenstein, under the act of assembly, entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," approved April 29, 1874, and the supplements thereto, for the charter of an intended corporation, to be called "Lowenstein Brothers Company," the character and object of which is the manufacture and sale of pickles, preserves, vinegars, fruit butters, mince meats and condiments, and for these purposes to have, possess and enjoy all the rights, benefits and privileges of said act of assembly and supplements thereto. H. C. Sachs, solicitor.

U. G. VOGAN, Attorney-at-Law, 433 Fifth ave., Pittsburgh. In the matter of the change of name of Andrew Jonas to Andrew Jones, No. 639 July term, 1903. MONEY

Sliding Down A Cellar Door

Is a difficult feat compared with getting money here. Anybody can get any amount of money at this office at 6 per cent—the lowest rate in Allegheny county. All you have to do is to come in and ask for it. The money is waiting for you—plenty of it. When the "sun of trouble" is in a pinch just for want of a little ready cash. We accept

WEAKNESS IN INDUSTRIALS THE PROMINENT FEATURE

New Low Prices Established for the Iron and Steel Shares—Railroads Led a Rally at the Close. Pittsburgh Market Demoralized.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The most prominent feature of the stock market yesterday was the extreme weakness in the industrial shares. There were no new developments of an unfavorable character, but there was a fresh outburst of liquidation, which at times became very urgent. Large blocks of the steel stocks were thrown overboard regardless of market value, giving color to reports that institutions were selling out loans in which these stocks figured as collateral. Wall street again credited the bulk of the selling to United States Steel to Pittsburgh houses, but while there was considerable selling for local account, and the orders were sent to New York because that is a broader market, there is good ground for the statement that the amount of liquidation for Pittsburgh account was grossly exaggerated. In the early selling in the eastern market a house figured conspicuously which has a prominent Pittsburgh correspondent. The latter, however, denied that the orders originated in this city, and it was suggested that New York houses which have Pittsburgh correspondents were being selected to sell Steel short, with the object of conveying the impression that traders in this city were in a bad way. London was also reported a seller of United States Steel on a large scale, and the foreign market for American securities generally was depressed, while consols were ⅝ per cent lower at 88⅝. The weakness abroad was ascribed to the critical situation in the far east, which portended war between Russia and Japan. London is credited with having sold a total of 60,000 shares American stocks during the day.

The opening on United States Steel common was at 13⅝ to 13⅞, and with little evidence of support the price broke to 12½. The preferred opened at 59 to 59⅝ and rapidly declined to 57½. It is needless to say that these are the lowest prices ever quoted. There was absolutely no rallying power displayed until late in the session, when one house bought 20,000 shares of the preferred and the price advanced to 59, closing at 58⅝. The common stock closed only ¼ per cent above the lowest. The sinking fund bonds declined to 68⅝ and recovered to 69¼.

The declines in the minor iron and steel stocks were more violent than any that has been witnessed on the present movement. It seemed that traders at once accepted United States Steel as the measure for all industrial stocks, and proceeded to mark the latter down to a closer parity with the leader. American Car and Foundry common broke from 22⅞ to 20¼, and the preferred from 71¾ to 63. The latter had a very unsettling effect, which was reflected in a break in Pressed Steel Car preferred from 74½ to 71¼, in Republic Iron and Steel preferred from 57⅜ to 54⅝, and in Railway Steel Spring preferred from 76 to 72¼. Colorado Fuel and Iron opened ½ point lower at 35 and sold down to 33, while Tennessee Coal and Iron declined from 28¼ to 27½. All these represented new low records. American Locomotive preferred broke from 78¼ to 73 and the common sold down to 11¼.

Some of the older industrials scored comparatively small losses. Amalgamated Copper declined from 37 to 35½, but recovered to 36½. Sugar declined 1¾ per cent to 107¾, while Peoples Gas lost less than 1 per cent.

The railroad list naturally sympathized with the weakness in the industrials, but in only a few instances were there any material declines. One of the conspicuously weak stocks was Southern Railway preferred, which sold off from 72⅜ to 69½, the lowest of the year, the movement being based upon a rumor that the company contemplated a bond issue for the purpose of providing means for double-tracking the system. In the early part of the session the leading railroad shares declined ½ to 1½ per cent, but there was no pressure of liquidation and in the late dealings this group led a rally which ended in some stocks showing net gains over Saturday's close. The industrials, on the other hand, remained feverish and weak and closed near the lowest. The sales for the first two hours reached 465,000 shares, but the total for the day amounted to only 775,000 shares.

Call money rates remained easy and unchanged at 2 to 2½ per cent. Sterling was heavy. Railroad earnings which came to hand showed gains over the corresponding period of the year. The interpretation of the government crop figures was favorable, and but for the weakness in the industrials there was every inducement for purchases of stocks for a rally at least. But sentiment is depressed by the continued decline in United States Steel securities, particularly in the preferred stock and the new bonds, and the fear is very generally entertained that the January dividend on Steel common will be passed, inasmuch as market values and not earnings in hand seemed to have determined the action to cut the dividend for the last quarter. It would seem as absurd, if we are to accept the precedent established last week, to pay at the rate of 2 per cent per annum on a stock selling at 12½, as it was to pay at the rate of 4 per cent when the stock was selling between 30 and 20. The one favorable feature of the eastern stock market situation is that the liquidation in the railroad list appears to have been fully completed, and that there is now a disposition on the part of the public to buy the dividend-payers on any slight declines from the present level.

It is altogether within the bounds of probability that the extreme weakness in the Pittsburgh market yesterday exerted an influence in Wall street and led to the liquidation in the industrials. Our market started with a show of support for some of the stocks which had been under the severest pressure during the latter part of last week. National Fire Proofing common rallied to 12⅜, the preferred sold at 25, and Crucible Steel preferred started at 40. Then the selling became urgent and for a time it looked as if there was no limit to selling orders and no bottom to the market. Fire Proofing common broke to 10¾ and the preferred to 22¼. United States Steel common and preferred kept pace with the decline in progress in New York. Crucible Steel common broke to 5¼ and the preferred to 46, the latter being 2¾ per cent below last week's low record. Pittsburgh Coal common broke to 19, the lowest in its history, and the preferred to 68⅜. River Coal preferred declined to 32. Airbrake sold down to 131 and Electric to 65¼, the latter the lowest on the present capitalization. A rather feeble rally occurred during the afternoon, but was checked by a 9-point break in Federal National Bank from 125 to 116, and an 11-point break in Merchants Savings and Trust, which sold down from 51 to 47. Iron City Trust declined 5 per cent to 120. Crucible Steel preferred, Fire Proofing common and Westinghouse Electric closed above the lowest, but the rest of the list closed at or near the lowest. The feeling, however, was not as despondent as earlier in the day.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The local stock market had not been in session an hour yesterday before messages came pouring in from New York and Philadelphia asking what was the matter with Pittsburgh, and repeating the rumors current about three weeks ago, when it was heralded from one end of the country to the other that an immediate announcement of some financial disaster would be made in this city. No announcement was made then and none is expected now, but the rumors tended to increase the weakness. A pretty careful canvass was made yesterday of the larger brokerage houses doing a private wire business in the east, and while some of them admitted that they had sold some Steel stocks in New York, the majority of them insisted that their operations during the day were neither large nor significant. There was a report that one house had marketed quite a large block of the stock, but if the statements of leading brokerage houses may be accepted, the total amount of sales of U. S. Steel in New York yesterday for Pittsburgh account did not reach 10,000 shares. One large New York house with a prominent Pittsburgh connection is known to have been a very heavy buyer of Steel preferred last Monday and Tuesday, in anticipation of an advance following the cut in the dividend on the common stock. This buying, however, was not for Pittsburgh account, and the selling of this house yesterday was not for Pittsburgh account. The sales of Steel on the local board yesterday amounted to only 1,015 shares of the common and 470 shares of the preferred, and the price here followed closely the fluctuations in the east.

An ironmaster of national reputation said yesterday: "The way the steel stocks are being tumbled upon the market now would suppose that the trade was in a worse condition than during the middle nineties. Now, the truth is, the trade is not in a bad condition at all. It is not as good as it was last year, and the immediate outlook is not so promising as it was at this season during the past two years; but if we go back a little farther for a comparison the present condition would be looked upon as entirely satisfactory. Everybody who has been in the business knows that there are frequent periods like the present, and that the change often comes more rapidly than changes in the stock market. The public has run to an extreme in looking on the dark side of affairs."

There were periods during the session yesterday when the local market was demoralized, and traders were afraid to make a bid for fear of getting stock which they did not want. At the same time the public was not to be turned the stocks it took very little buying to turn the market upward. The feeling was very feverish throughout the day.

The gallery of the local exchange was crowded all day, showing the interest in the course of the market. Several prominent members, who seldom appear on the exchange, were there for a short time yesterday, among them being Henry Sproul and J. C. Morris.

In speaking of the market, Mr. Sproul said: "I have been watching our local market at close range today, and I feel that if everybody gets through all right today we will have seen the worst. I am inclined to believe that today will mark the lowest average prices. Some of the specialties may sell off, but taking the list as a whole, I think this will be low day. I noticed that such stocks as Pittsburgh Coal, Crucible Steel preferred, Westinghouse Electric and others of that class would easily rally on a little buying. I don't believe there is a word of truth in the rumors sent out from New York and Philadelphia about the situation in Pittsburgh."

"I do not know of a single member of the stock exchange nor a single institution in Pittsburgh that is in difficulties," said James Carothers, president of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, when he was asked regarding the rumors emanating from the east. "It would be foolish for anyone to deny that the market is undergoing a tremendous strain, but everybody standing up under it admirably, and I do not look for any trouble."

The break of 11 points in Merchants Savings and Trust, 9 in Federal National bank and 5 in Iron City Trust has an upsetting effect. In each instance the price established was from $4 to $30 a share below the price at which cash subscriptions were made and paid for the stock. It was the general opinion that the decline had led to forced liquidation. There are 10,000 shares Merchants Savings and Trust and 20,000 shares each of Federal National and Iron City Trust. A certain percentage of the total represents speculative holdings acquired at the time of organization or through subscriptions to new stock issued within the year. These and other financial institutions have been wonderfully successful, and their success attracted to them people who buy for a turn, and not with the intention of remaining permanently identified with the institution. The same thing is true of a half score of other Pittsburgh corporations. Up to the present time the policy of such speculative holders has apparently been to sell industrial stocks to take care of holdings of bank and trust company stocks, the theory being that the latter would be the first to recover when the market turns. Evidently some of these speculative holders have become tired of their holdings, or possibly some of them have been called on loans, and being unable to respond, have liquidated. No other significance is attached to the recent declines in this group of stocks.

While the shrinkage in the industrial stocks may go still farther, it is the judgment of some of the most experienced traders that the majority of them, particularly the cumulative preferred dividend payers, are altogether too low, taking property values into consideration and leaving out of the question earning power. For instance, the 60-odd millions of Pittsburgh Coal common and preferred, selling on a basis of about $20,000,000. The additions to the company's original property has amounted to nearly that sum during the past three and a half years. The $50,000,000 Crucible Steel company, with preferred stock a market value of $12,750,000, and yet the company is understood to have refused an offer of $2,000,000 for real estate in towns and which is not essential to its business. The $8,000,000 par value preferred and $4,500,000 par value common National Fire Proofing combined had a market value yesterday at one time of only $4,500,000, and yet, as one man expressed it, the company sold its preferred stock at par for cash, and has no bonds ahead of either class of stock. The list might be indefinitely lengthened.

In the New York market yesterday some of the industrial preferred stocks commanded a premium in the loan crowd, indicating a large short interest.

The extreme weakness in the stocks of those companies engaged in supplying railroad equipment was based upon reports that the railroads were instituting the strictest economy in new expenditures and otherwise. It was reported that New York Central had laid off 1,500 men and the Southern Pacific 1,200 men, and that the Rock Island had temporarily abandoned contemplated improvements.

There were 515 separate transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange, the largest number since the occupancy of the new building.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the United Traction Company, one of the constituent companies of the Philadelphia Company, was held yesterday afternoon, the following board of directors being elected: James H. Reed, James D. Callery, W. B. Carson, C. S. Mitchell and S. L. Tone.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the first week in October increased $40,000. Weakness in the so-called Morgan stocks was a feature. Stocks in which Canadian interests are concerned were also heavy, notably Canadian Pacific and Twin City Transit.

Pittsburgh Coal at 19, Pittsburgh Coal preferred at 68⅜, U. S. Steel at 12¾, U. S. Steel preferred at 57½, Pittsburgh Brewing preferred at 40⅛, River Coal preferred at 32, Iron City Trust at 120, Merchants Savings and Trust at 47, National Fire Proofing at 10¾, National Fire Proofing preferred at 22¼, Federal National Bank at 116, Crucible Steel at 5¼ and preferred at 46, sold at the lowest prices on record yesterday, while Westinghouse Electric seconds at 65¼, and Philadelphia Company common at 34½, sold at the lowest prices on the present capitalization.

The fact that there are 28,000 employes who bought preferred stock on the profit-sharing plan may embarrass the Corporation in its economy plans. These employes must remain continuously in the employ of the Corporation for five years if they are to receive full benefits of the plan. Should they be thrown out of employment by the Corporation's act, complications might arise.—Wall Street Journal.

The Pennsylvania Steel Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable November 1 to stock of record October 15.

In response to a recent inquiry regarding monetary conditions, Mr. Howard P. Frothingham, the New York money lender, wrote: "The condition of the money market today is brighter and clearer than it has been at any time in the past year and a half. Nearly all of the undigested securities have been taken care of and the syndicates that have had to liquidate and clean house are now out of the market, and those that did not sell have borrowed money in sufficient sums to take care of them until after the presidential election in 1904; they have not borrowed 20 to 60 day, or any other short time money as heretofore, but have long-time money and paid the commission. Here we are the first of October with call money hard to loan at 3 per cent. In my 30 years' experience I have never witnessed this before. It now looks as if we would go over the year with an easy money market and stronger stock market. The intrinsic value of securities has not been lessened by the wild and reckless speculation of crazed millionaires. I could submit to you some first-class loans at 5 per cent for one, two and six months. I have no bids on my books above that rate."

More than one-third the total business on the New York board yesterday consisted of United States Steel. The sales were 115,435 shares common and 140,620 shares preferred.

Attention is called to the financial exhibit of the Mercantile Savings and Trust Company, which appears today. This company has organized less than a year ago with capital and surplus of $600,000, which is full paid. A new type of statement presented reports over 1,000 accounts opened and $23,000 of undivided profits have been earned, which will enable the company to go upon a 6 per cent dividend basis on or before January 1 and add 1 per cent to surplus account. M. Laird is president and a list of 15 well-known local business men comprise the board of directors.

It is not to be supposed that all of the present sellers of industrial securities have received the first enlightenment from the Shipbuilding manufacturer of processes employed in the promotion, underwriting and flotation of industrial stocks during the last few years. Over-capitalization, over-valuation of constituent companies and market manipulation by managers for inside pools have been flagrantly in evidence and have been persistently pointed out from the outset of the present era of organization. That was not the time the speculative public was not being deterred from buying the stocks by these disclosures. Now, on the contrary, it is evident that the speculative public is paying altogether too much importance to every suggestion in this direction, while it seems a warrantable presumption that the investing class is in a state of disgust with the entire market, and is avoiding many of the industrial stocks. Promotion deals which have been held up in a state of partial consummation with the hope of later completion are being abandoned, and there is no disposition to the pang of sacrifice of other securities to protect them. The throwing out of collateral for loans of some of the securities in disfavor is another cause for their sacrifice in the market at wide declines, and the prevailing ease of the eastern market, and the growing confidence in the country, do not avail to overcome the repugnance to this collateral for loans.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Calumet & Arizona is reported on good authority to be earning about $175,000 a month. The opening of another shaft and additions to the smelter and mine equipment may reduce the profits this year.

Copper production by the Lake Superior mines suffered a small decrease in September, the total being less than 16,000,000 pounds.

Recent developments at the Mass mine have been of a most favorable character. The property is yielding a large amount of barrel and mass copper, and the September product was the largest of any month this year. Daily rock shipments average between 1,200 and 1,300 tons. Only the best grade of rock is treated.

Last month's output of the Copper Range Consolidated Company was about 2,500,000 pounds of ingot copper. The Champion mine is making the most copper of any of the South Range producers, but only one-half of its product goes to the Copper Range Company, the St. Mary's Mineral Land Company taking the other half. The Champion and Trimountain suffered small decreases in output last month, while the Baltic scored a slight gain. The Copper Range Company is now making copper at the rate of 27,500,000 pounds per annum, placing it next to the Calumet & Hecla.

The Copper Belt railway at Bingham is nearly completed, and ore is coming from the Bingham, Boston Consolidated and some from the Highland Boy and from the United States properties will be sent down over this line. The Butler-Liberal Company shipped last month 40 tons, which is a very good record of shipments and a surplus of about $16,000. The building of the Yampa smelter is about enclosed, and the work on the concentrating plant of the Boston Copper Company is progressing very favorably.

The third annual report of the Gold King Consolidated Mines Company covers operations in the year ended August 31, 1903. The mines are at Silverton, Col., with stamp mill at Gladstone and coal mines at Durango. The report shows:

Balance brought forward	$ 133,823 73
Received from concentrates	870,953 74
From gold bullion	370,516 29
From coal sales	66,900 44
Interest, rents, etc.	11,347 22
Total	$1,422,542 43
Expenses	474,205 46
Balance	$ 968,667 39
Dividends, 7½ per cent	431,277 35
Surplus, forward	$ 537,390 04

Assets and liabilities balance at $1,018,117 39. The company has $5,750,350 capital stock, $194,000 bonds, 76,286,643 20 in mines and plant. During the year 61,744 tons of ore were treated, with 14,178 tons of concentrates, averaging, respectively, at $13 20 and $83 96 per ton. Total cost per ton from mine to market was $5 35. There are 200 men employed. The company expended $296,911 17 in permanent improvements during the year.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The new week has opened up with an improvement in prices and orders, but trade in the drygoods market has not shown any more inclination to incur further obligations than was apparent last week. The market remains a waiting one.

BIG STEEL FIRM GETS A SQUARE

Steel Company Secures Room for Connecting Link With the Wabash.

BIG DOWNTOWN LEASE SIGNED

Striking Examples of Increase in Realty Prices—Pittsburgh Capitalists Organizing a $75,000 Company to Make Cement Blocks—Fine Flats for Glenwood.

Further evidence that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company is working hand in hand with the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad company in its Pittsburgh projects is furnished by deals through which the former concern has practically secured control of an entire square of property in the Twenty-third ward. The property extends from Lafayette to Shippen street and from Hazelwood avenue to Lowry street and measures 432x192 feet.

The square is said to be worth at least $106,000. The lots have a frontage of 24 feet and are held by about a dozen owners. Part of these owners optioned their holdings to the steel company months ago through local real estate agents, and the deals are now being closed. Other owners held out and signed options only when the steel company's private representatives made them good offers last week. In this way the M. Keller property was tied up for a price approximating $20,000, and the holdings of John Keller are said to have been optioned for $15,000. The James Patterson lots also went at about $20,000. Other properties mentioned were those of W. F. Bingler, $7,500, John Wilson, $3,000, and the Atterbury holdings. The company has now tied up or purchased outright every lot in the square. The improvements with the exception of a few brick houses erected by Sadler, Martin & Evans are old houses of little value.

Options Taken for a Railroad.

The conspicuous feature in the dealing of last week is that the options were taken in the name of the Eastern Railroad Company, which is taken to be only another name for the Monongahela Connecting Railroad Company. It will be recalled that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company has bought within the last year all the property from Hazelwood avenue to Tecumseh street and of the same width as the plot secured last week. As the Wabash already has a franchise for a bridge over the Monongahela river at a point between Hazelwood avenue and the Glenwood bridge it is believed that the Eastern railroad will afford the necessary and convenient connecting link for the Jones & Laughlin freight to reach the Wabash.

The first interesting downtown lease signed for months has just been made through the agency of Samuel W. Black & Co. For L. H. Smith they have leased to Lehman & Kingsbacher, manufacturers of the nine-story brick building at Nos. 422-424 Seventh avenue, now occupied by the L. H. Smith Woodenware Company. The lease is for a long term of years, dating from April 1, 1904, and is at a considerable advance over the present rental, showing that the demand for good locations in the business district is not diminishing. The lessees are now at No. 115 Ninth street, but have been crowded out by lack of room for their rapidly increasing business. They will make extensive alterations to the Smith building, which is 60x100 feet. Mr. Smith bought the Gensenleiter building in Eighth street last summer and is preparing to add three more stories to it, preparatory to moving his business there in the spring.

How the Low Price Came About.

No deal announced for many months has occasioned the comment made by the sale of the Gilbert T. Rafferty property at No. 518 Smithfield street to W. W. Mellor for $85,000, mention of which was made in The Gazette Sunday. The price was generally doubted, as property in this part of Smithfield street is rarely quoted at $6,000 a front foot, whereas the figure for the Rafferty lot was only $9,750 a foot. The seemingly low price is explained by the fact that the sale was really effected about two years ago, when Mr. Rafferty in reality sold the property to Mr. Mellor for $55,000, which is the figure named in the deed.

It will not be surprising if there is a marked advance in Smithfield street values between Fifth and Seventh avenues before another year elapses. By securing the Rafferty lot the Mellon interests have control of the frontage on the east side of the street from Fifth avenue to Virgin alley, on which a sky-scraper will without doubt be erected soon. The frontage opposite from Virgin alley to Sixth avenue is held by Henry W. Oliver, who will also improve it with a modern block. Farther up the street on the property of the German Protestant Evangelical church the lease secured Sunday by a syndicate of business men means the erection of a costly building to extend from the church line to Strawberry alley.

Pittsburghers Will Make Cement Blocks.

Dr. George Sloan and E. R. Patton of this city are the head promoters of a company which will complete its organization today for the purpose of manufacturing the Palmer hollow concrete building blocks. The company will have a capital of $75,000 and will at once erect a large plant in Pittsburgh. The promoters own the patent rights for Allegheny and have already sold the right for McKeesport to a local concern, which will build a plant there. They have now 20 machines in Pittsburgh making the blocks. Although the material is comparatively new in this territory it is being used extensively in house building here this year and with the best of success. In the Carnegie plan of lots in Homestead 22 houses will be built of this material at once. Contracts have already been erected in Braddock avenue and Northumberland avenue, East End, and others are going up in Fifth avenue. The handsome residence of H. J. Heinz

SUPREME COURT CONVENES HERE

Justice Mitchell Succeeds the Late Justice McCollum as Head of the Court.

EASTERN CASES DECIDED

Justice Dean Advices Legislature to Repeal Act of April 16, 1874—Rights of Labor Unions Defined in an Important Philadelphia Case.

The October term of the supreme court opened yesterday morning. Chief Justice James T. Mitchell and Justices John Dean, D. Newlin Fell, J. Hay Brown, S. L. Mestrezat and William P. Potter were present. The chair on the extreme left of the bench was vacant. The attendance, chiefly of lawyers, was large, this is customary, the fact that Chief Justice Mitchell was to take his seat formally, serving to draw out the attendance.

Immediately on opening the court the new chief justice announced the death of his predecessor, the late Chief Justice McCollum. He gave a brief sketch of his life and spoke in high terms of his ability and attractive personality. An appropriate minute was ordered to be entered on the record.

Following this Prothonotary George Pearson read the commission of the new chief justice.

A number of opinions, chiefly in eastern cases, were handed down and the argument list was called.

The case of the commonwealth against Zilafro, a capital case from Armstrong county, was continued. Non pros was granted in the cases of the Conemaugh Gas Company vs. Avonmore Land and Improvement Company, appellant, C. P., Westmoreland; Rumbaugh, appellant, vs. Welch et ux., C. P., Westmoreland; Morrison, trustee, vs. Husband, appellant, C. P., Westmoreland; Houston, appellant, vs. Townsend, C. P., Armstrong; Pennsylvania Railroad Company, appellant, vs. Penn Plate Glass Company, C. P., Westmoreland.

A motion to quash the appeal was made and filed in the case of the Citizens Building and Loan association, appellant, vs. Arvin et al., C. P., Westmoreland. The appeal was quashed in the case of Lynch vs. Cook et al., appellants, C. P., Cambria.

The appointment of A. J. Meyer of Allegheny as a flyleaff was announced.

J. Scott Ferguson filed appeals for the heirs of the late Dr. W. H. Daly from the finding of the orphans court of Allegheny county in construing the will of Dr. Daly. The grounds only, without statements, were filed. The orphans court sustained the will under the terms of which the Allen Daly Home for Girls is to be established.

Some Interesting Opinions.

Among the opinions handed down were the following:

Justice Dean, in the case of the commonwealth ex rel., the district attorney of Lackawanna county against Dr. W. A. Paine, reversed the court of common pleas of Lackawanna county. The action was against a writ of ouster brought by Dr. Paine, and involved the old special legislation in vogue before the present constitution was adopted.

Justice Dean says there is no doubt that when the act of 1866 was passed it was in accord with the wishes of the people interested. Their submission for 40 years indicates their approval. It is a part of the old special legislation which a bill of a few lines would repeal. If the people interested, with approximate unanimity, asked for such action. The court declares that Paine was legally appointed, and adds: "We think the parties in the last 20 years have got as much litigation out of the act of 1862 and its supplements as they will reasonably bear and again suggest that they register their views of effort in the legislature where the result will probably be more satisfactory."

Justice Dean, in an opinion in the appeal of Charles A. Clime against the Provident Life and Trust Company, common pleas No. 4 of Philadelphia county, a suit growing out of a loan in a real estate transaction, takes occasion to speak of the work of the legislature. He says:

"We cannot but advert to the utter futility of the act of April 18, 1874, authorizing appeals from the common pleas courts where the court refuses to enter judgment for want of a sufficient affidavit of defense. If the purpose of that act had been to delay final judgment, instead of to hasten it, that purpose has been effectually accomplished, as is fully illustrated by the appeal. The decree of the court below was made October 23, 1902; five days later the appeal was taken. If, instead of this appeal, the case had promptly been placed on the trial list, final judgment or verdict might have been had in the court below within two or three months, and an appeal to this court involving the same questions would now be passed upon; but this interlocutory appeal is taken under the act; the issue must go back for trial and final judgment will be reached about a year later than if this present appeal had not been taken. As the act has utterly failed in its purpose it certainly ought to be repealed or modified."

A labor case from common pleas No. 3 of Philadelphia county was the subject of an opinion by Justice Dean. It was an appeal by the defendants in the case of William Erdman and others against Robert T. Mitchell and others. The plaintiffs are foremen, plumbers and members of the Plumbers League of Philadelphia, an incorporated society. The defendants are members of the Council of Allied Trades of Philadelphia and vicinity, which is not incorporated. In April, 1901, the council called out the men at work on a building in Philadelphia and said if the plaintiffs were removed the strike would be called off. The plaintiffs were then discharged.

Intimidation Is Unlawful.

The court below held that intimidation of the plaintiffs and their employers to coerce the defendants to refuse any particular organization, and such action causing the workmen to suffer damage was unlawful and should be restrained by equity. Justice Dean says this is not the case. The court does not question that [illegible] may resolve that they will not work with members of other organizations or non-union men; that is their right, and refraining from work themselves is not unlawful. But if it manifest that the defendants went beyond this. Their conduct was calculated to intimidate both employes and employers.

"The right to the free use of his hands," Justice Dean says, "is the workman's property as much as the rich man's right to the undisturbed income from factory, houses and lands, by his work he earns present subsistence for himself and family; his savings may result in accumulations which will make him as rich in houses and lands as his employer. This right of acquiring property is an inherent, indefeasible right of the workman; to exercise it he must have the unrestricted privilege of working for such employer as he chooses at such wages as he chooses to accept. This is one of the rights guaranteed him by our 'Declaration of Rights.' The one most concerned in jealously maintaining the freedom is the workman himself.

"Further," Justice Dean says, "trades unions may cease to work for reasons satisfactory to their members, but if they combine to prevent others from obtaining work by threats of a strike, or combine to prevent an employer from employing others by threats of a strike, they combine to accomplish an unlawful purpose, a purpose as unlawful now as it ever was, though not remediable by indictment. Such combination is a despotic and tyrannical violation of the indefeasible right of labor to acquire property which courts are bound to restrain. It is utterly subversive of the letter and spirit of the 'Declaration of Rights.' If such combination be in accord with the law of the trades union, then that law and the organic law of the people of a free commonwealth cannot stand together; one or the other must go down."

The opinion concludes with: "The learned judge of the court below has so framed his decree that it is directed only against the unlawful acts. If there be disobedience or evasion of it, he thoroughly understands how to enforce it."

All the assignments of error were overruled and the decree affirmed at the cost of the appellants.

Relating to Hunting Preserves.

The superior court is reversed and the court of quarter sessions is sustained in an opinion that may have a bearing on the owners of the hunting and fishing preserves in Pennsylvania. Charles Hazen was fined by a justice of the peace for killing a deer in the grounds of the Blooming Glen Park association. He appealed to the quarter sessions of Pike county and held that the act incorporating the association was unconstitutional in that the subject of the act is not expressed in the title; that the body of the act contains more than one subject; that it deprives the defendant of the right of trial by jury. From this the commonwealth took an appeal.

Justice Dean, who wrote the opinion, went into the history of the association. He says it is clearly a private corporation. Its charter, among other things, excludes all persons from upon the 30,000 acres of land it owned, or to hunt or fish there without permission, the penalty being from $10 to $50; it authorized the gamekeepers to be deputized by the sheriffs of Monroe and Pike counties and provided that the taxes should not exceed those on other wild lands. There are 19 sections in the act relating to the preservation of game and fish, and the punishment of violators of its penal provisions.

The courts says the title must not be an index of the act, but it must give notice to the members of the legislature and others interested of its purpose. The residents and taxpayers of Pike county were interested in the bill, but its title does not mention the county in which the land is situated. The title, the court thinks, is misleading. It does not indicate a park in the common acceptation of that term, but points out something entirely different. The court points out the use of the word "park" in other ages, mentioning such as is described by Xenophon as belonging to Cyrus, king of Persia, and adds: "But we doubt whether the ordinary citizen of Pike county got his notion of a park from Xenophon." He speaks of the American definition of a park, and says it fits Fairmont, in Philadelphia, or Highland, in Pittsburgh, but is not applicable to private enclosures enjoyed by the few to the exclusion of the public.

Hurry-Up Legislation.

Reference is made to the passage of the act in 1871, when bills were read by title and passed at once, it not being unusual to pass a score in an hour. The court doubts if some of the penal provisions could have obtained a majority in the general assembly if the entire bill had been read three times before a final vote. In conclusion it is said that the subject of the act is not clearly expressed in the title, and the act is therefore unconstitutional. The court says the stockholders as individuals hold the property, and can reorganized under the general laws of the state.

The common pleas court of Dauphin county was sustained by Justice Brown in the case of the commonwealth vs. the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad, the appeal being entered by the railroad. The company was incorporated in 191, under the act of 1868, and several other companies were merged with it. The capital stock was increased from $2,000,000 to $3,318,000, and the state claimed a bonus of one-third of 1 per cent on this increase. The court in affirming the decision of the court below says the case of merger is similar to that of Lieut. Stone retired from the navy and became the Washington representative of the company.

He held the position from that time until his death. About six years ago Senator Chandler put through congress a bill which provided that retired officers of the army and navy who were identified with corporations that were filling contracts for the government must either resign their positions or forfeit their retired pay by resigning from the army or navy. It happened that the measure applied only to Lieut. Stone and Lieut. Meigs, who holds a similar position with the Bethlehem Steel Company, and they both resigned. Lieut. Stone was known as one of the most expert mathematicians of the country. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

LIEUTENANT STONE IS BURIED AT CAPITAL

Last Honors Paid to Washington Representative of Armor Department of Carnegie Co.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The funeral of Lieut. Charles A. Stone, the Washington representative of the Carnegie Steel Company, who died here yesterday, will take place tomorrow morning from his late residence in M street. W. R. Balsinger, the armor plate manager of the Carnegie Steel Company, will represent the officials of the concern at the obsequies.

Lieut. Stone has been identified with the armor plate department of the Homestead works almost since its inception. In 1896, soon after that department had been established, and while Mr. Stone was a lieutenant in the navy, he was detailed by Secretary Tracy as an inspector of plates at the Homestead works. He had a physical disability that would have prevented him from returning to sea duty after his term of shore duty had expired and consequently when the Carnegie company made its offer to relieve Lieut. Stone retired from the navy and became the Washington representative of the company.

He held the position from that time until his death. About six years ago Senator Chandler put through congress a bill which provided that retired officers of the army and navy who were identified with corporations that were filling contracts for the government must either resign their positions or forfeit their retired pay by resigning from the army or navy. It happened that the measure applied only to Lieut. Stone and Lieut. Meigs, who holds a similar position with the Bethlehem Steel Company, and they both resigned. Lieut. Stone was known as one of the most expert mathematicians of the country. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

SUPREME COUNCILORS OF C. M. B. A. TO MEET

Elaborate Preparations for Triennial Convention to Begin Today and Last 3 Days.

The triennial convention of the supreme council of the Catholic Mutual Benefit association will begin in Pittsburgh this morning. The council will meet in the banquet room of the Monongahela house, in which hotel the headquarters of the local committee will be.

The convention will close Thursday night. At 9 a. m. today the local members and the supreme councillors will meet in the rotunda of the Monongahela house and march in a body to the Epiphany church, where solemn high mass will be celebrated and a sermon will be preached, probably by Archbishop Quigley of Chicago, the supreme spiritual advisor of the council. To each delegate will be given a handsome souvenir badge, prepared by the local committee.

This evening a reception will be held at the Monongahela house, and the delegates will then visit the Exposition. This afternoon the visiting ladies will be treated to a carriage ride by the local committee's ladies' auxiliary. Tomorrow the ladies will again be entertained while the council is in session and in the evening a banquet will be held.

Police Association's Officers.

The members of the Police and Detective Protective Beneficial association held a meeting yesterday and elected the following officers: Richard Kelly, president; John Toole, No. 4 police station, secretary; Robert Dennison, treasurer. A committee on bylaws consisting of Officers Kelly, Conley and Dennison, will report October 26.

STAR-GAZERS NOW ARE WATCHING SUN-SPOTS

Fine View Yesterday of the Solar Storm Millions of Miles Away.

Prof. John A. Brashear of the Western university and his assistants at the Allegheny observatory have continued their observations of the great sun spot marking a solar system of intense energy, as exclusively announced in Sunday's Gazette. On account of the photographing instruments being at present dismounted for removal to the new observatory in Riverview park, Prof. Brashear is unable at present to photograph the spots, but expects other scientists who are not handicapped to do this.

Two more observations have been made of the phenomenon. One was at 5:35 Sunday afternoon, the other at 8:35 yesterday morning. Prof. Brashear said yesterday:

"This morning at 8:45 o'clock a fine view was had of the solar system. Remarkable changes have taken place since it was observed last evening, the great bridge of flame having taken a totally different shape.

"The large spot now nearing the eastern brink of the sun seems to be much more quiescent than the great spot near the center of the sun. When we say center of the sun it is not meant that spots cross the equatorial regions, for this is a very rare occurrence, but they cross the sun in what may be called the north and south temperate zones. The present disturbance is located in the southern zone, but is now very close to the central meridian—that is, that in line with the earth. There was only a short time that observations could be made last night, the appearance of an aurora, owing to a cloudy sky.

"Though several faint streamers were seen, the absence of an aurora bow caused doubt as to its true aurroral character. However, as electrical disturbances usually lag a little behind the sun spot crossing the central meridian, it is not too late yet to feel its effect. Or it may be that the great disturbance is dying so far south in the zone usually traversed that the projected effects may just skip this little earth. It is, however, worth while to keep a lookout for another day and night. Aside from any terrestrial phenomena, this great solar storm is of great interest to the student in solar physics."

The popular interest in the big spot has been great. Popular astronomy in Pittsburgh is represented by a "telescope man," whose main efforts are directed at the heavenly bodies seen at night, but the big sun spot caused him to change his hours. Yesterday morning at the approach to the Union station and yesterday afternoon on the Third avenue corner of the postoffice square he had large crowds, who were looking at the phenomenon. Everyone seemed to have read in The Gazette of the great storm raging 93,000,000 miles from this earth.

CURFEW NOW WARNS THE CHILDREN OF HOMESTEAD

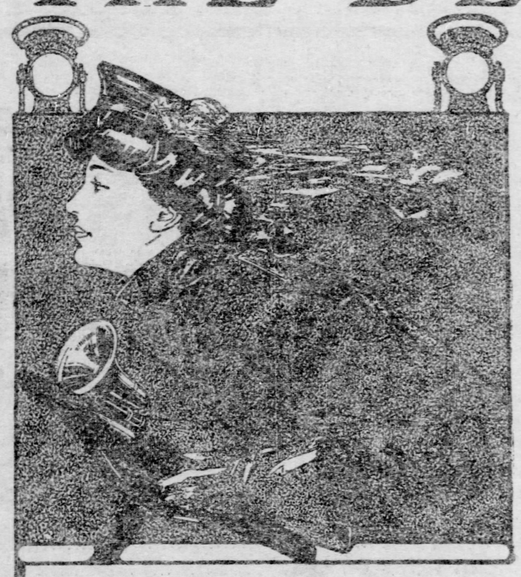
The curfew bell rang in Homestead for the first time last evening. The ordinance compelling all children under 16 years of age to be off the streets of the borough at 8 o'clock each evening in the winter and 9 o'clock during the summer months, was passed several months ago, but no provision was made in the ordinance for the ringing of a bell, and it was not enforced. Arrangements were made yesterday to have the bells in St. Mary Magdalen's Catholic church ring each evening at 7:45 o'clock as a warning for the children to be off the streets.

THE OLD RELIABLE

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

THE DELINEATOR



Out To-day!

FOR FASHION'S LATEST FADS

"Just get The Delineator"

What is being made abroad is told in our letters from London and Paris, and what is to be worn here this Winter is fully pictured and described in detail. Many pages are devoted to illustrations of fashionable hats, creations of the best houses, and the newest dress fabrics, trimmings and accessories. The Dressmaking and Needlework departments are invaluable to the woman who would be well gowned.

FOR BRIGHTEST FICTION

"Just get The Delineator"

The cleverest story writers assist in making The Delineator's pages entertaining. In November Lillie Hamilton French tells of "An Interrupted Honeymoon"; Minna C. Smith of "The Little Mail Carrier"; William MacLeod Raine of "An Unpremeditated Engagement"; and then the serial story, "The Evolution of a Club Woman," about which everybody is talking, is continued.

FOR HOUSEHOLD HELPS

"Just get The Delineator"

"Household Helps" is a trite expression. Far from trite are the helps continually offered in The Delineator by able writers who suggest new thoughts in cooking, happy arrangements in furnishing and short cuts in all branches of housekeeping.

FOR WOMAN'S SOCIAL DOINGS

"Just get The Delineator"

Woman's clubs, her entertainments, her obligations to society, and her various occupations, are delightfully treated from various view points.

For Children's Stories and Pastimes

"Just get The Delineator"

The Delineator's juvenile stories can be really enjoyed by children who read or are read to. The many suggestions offered keep little hands amusingly occupied, and teach while they amuse.

FOR ATTRACTIVE ILLUSTRATIONS

"Just get The Delineator"

The world's best illustrators make the Delineator's pages attractive. The second of J. C. Hemment's remarkable photographic articles, an uncommon story of Mr. Hemment's uncommon doings, is in the November number, and the work of Guerin, Rosenmeyer, Keller, Ashe, Lowell, Aylward, Leyendecker and Eaton appears monthly.

PERSIAN BANDS—An assortment in light or dark grounds. All widths. Prices 12½c to $2 yard.

BLACK SPANGLE TRIMMINGS—This charming dress garniture in various widths and effects—15c to $1.50 yard.

DROP ORNAMENTS—Single ornaments in black, white and colors. All sizes—5c to 75c each.

LACE COLLARS—The large round collars, the cape effect and the stole effect so much in vogue this season. Prices 50c for children's sizes up to $8.98 for the finest Ladies' Lace Collars.

Silks and Velvets

Facts, not arguments, you want. Here are the Facts and details.

BLACK TAFFETAS—Is it a silk suitable for a coat and waist or a fine silk lining you are seeking? Is it black you want? Are you prepared to pay $1.25 for a soft lustrous 35-inch black Taffeta guaranteed to wear? We will fill your order at..... $1.00

PEAU DE SOIES—Do you want a silk in a nice medium weight for a coat, waist or suit? See the jet black Peau de Soies, 27 inches wide that look as though they were worth $1.25. We guarantee them all pure silk and sell them for..... 98c

LINING SILKS—36-inch Colored Silks which are very strong and durable for linings—white, navy, royal blue and tan. Worth $1 yard, for..... 75c

FINE WAIST SILKS—Cannele effects and polka dots in Taffetas and Louisenes for waists and shirt waist suits. Thirty styles of the most desirable silks of the $1.25 grade. These we mark..... 95c

CREAM WASH SILKS—For Waists and Children's dresses one of the most desirable fabrics on our silk counter is a line of cream wash silks in neat figures and dotted effects that are warranted to laundry perfectly. These 85c goods we make..... 59c

The November issue of the Peerless Fashion Sheet is replete with the needs of the woman whose aim is to be correctly and stylishly attired, and a glance at the varied styles shown in last the three quarter coat is holding its own. However, many modifications of this popular garment are pictured in the present sheet, the one illustrated on page 2 and and at first figure of cover, introducing bolero novelties in the Eton and girdle as well as the much worn shoulder cape which has been such a prominent feature of up-to-date modes.

Dress Goods

You'll skip the "Preface" anyway. So we make it short.

BLACK ZIBELINES — Everything that bears the name "Zibeline" is good form this season. These fabrics, however, would find favor without the aid of a name. They are 52 inches wide, soft and lustrous in finish, and very eligible materials for the fashionable coats. Regular $1.50 quality this time for..... $1.25

TWINE CLOTHS—Sheer in finish and jet black are the 46-inch Twine Cloths whose popularity as a material for costumes and dresses started in England. No wonder the idea was deemed worthy of importation. You would find it difficult to duplicate for less than $1.25 the Black Twine Cloths we are selling for..... $1.00

THESE HAVE THE CALL—Tailorings and Scotch Suitings lead the procession in the fashion dress parade this fall. The grays, browns, blues, tans and green mixtures, 52 and 56 inches wide, make up the bulk of our assortments at 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50 and upward to $3 a yard. Whatever price you fix upon as your limit we will save you money.

COLORED ZIBELINES—Browns, blues, grays and greens are the colorings most called for. These we keep in the largest assortments. 54 inches is the width. Nothing cheap or trashy about the line we have placed on the counter at..... $1.25

IMPORTED VOILES—American wool and Australian wool went to France to be woven into the fine imported Voiles that have crossed the ocean and come to our customers. Many are the colors, including a rich black. They are 44 inches wide, with a fine sheer finish and the stamp of a dollar valuation all over them. Our price, per yard..... 85c
